Your New Dress and your Corset

The curtain is drawn: The fashion lines for Autumn and Winter revealed.

Many a beautiful gown is robbed of its charm by the selection of a corset which is out of harmony with the dress designer's conception. There are ladies who spend considerable time and money on their gowns, hats, coats, &c., but who order a corset in much the same way as they would order a reel of thread at the counter. Your corset should be chosen with discriminating care for it can make or mar the success of your new dress or tailor-made costume. Take the time to be properly fitted.

ROYAL WORCESTER Kidfitting Corsets

are designed by the world's leading corsetier, a Frenchman who collaborates with the inner circle of Parisian dress designers. Thus these corsets effectively render the full beauty of the new modes and are responsible for numerous Style Successes.

You cannot be sure of getting the fashionable contour until you have seen the new Royal Worcester models now obtainable at :—

A Bumper Christmas

Gifts for Everyone.

Everything points to the fact that 1919 will witness a truly Bumper Christmas. Last year there was too much excitement and too little time left after the Armistice for the revival of all the time-honoured customs; furthermore, it would not have been in the fitness of things. This year, however, is very different. 1919 will be a real old-time Christmas, and many elaborate preparations are already well under way. By way of contributing to its complete success we advocate because it will relieve much of the uncomfortable rush at the last moment, and enable those who look ahead to select their gifts in complete comfort from the very best there is available, thus avoiding the usual Christmas rush and bustle. Consequently we advise our customers that the cream of all Departments at The Fashion Centre is at their disposal. This includes the latest and most up-to-date styles in Evening Gowns and Robes, Blouses, Furs, Children's Dresses, Jumpers, Umbrellas, Gloves, Hosiery, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Handbags, Scarves, Beads, Ear rings, Fancy Combs, Pin Cushions, Embroidered Tea Cloths, Cushions and Cushion Covers, and many other articles suitable for home or abroad.

PRELIMINARY CHRISTMAS SHOPPING AT THE FASHION CENTRE.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS OFFER.—We have made arrangements whereby those who purchase now may have their Gifts safely stored by us until required. In this way Ladies will have more time to enjoy themselves during the very busy weeks immediately preceding Christmas.

AMERICAN CHAMPION TO VISIT ENGLAND.

Several other American professionals are also expected over for the British Open Championship at Deal in June.

DARK BLUES WIN AT WIMBLEDON.

Oxford University visited Wimbledon on Saturday, and opposed the Royal Wimbledon Club in a match by singles over the private course. The home club was not strongly represented, and suffered defeat by two matches. Oxford won four games, lost two, and halved the other three. In the top match F. S. Bond (Royal Wimbledon) halved with R. H. Wethered (Oxford University.) The match was square at the fifth, and also at the seventh. Wethered was out of bounds at the eighth, and became one down. He also lost the ninth, and Bond turned two up. Wethered won the twelfth in a fine 3, and he squared at the fourteenth, where Bond was in the stream. Wethered ultimately became dormy one, but he lost the last hole, and the match ended all square. C. J. H. Tolley (Oxford) started badly against Major Worth, losing the first two holes. The Oxonian was one up at the turn, three up at the eleventh, and he finally won easily by five and four. R. R. Burton (Oxford) was two up on B. P. Dobson at the turn, but the local player took the match to the last green before being beaten. Both players holed putts from the edge of the last green for a half.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE SOCIETY v. STOKE POGES.

In a match by singles at Stoke Poges, Slough, on Saturday, the home club halved with the Oxford and Cambridge Society, each winning five matches.

WELSH PROFESSIONAL CHALLENGE MATCH.

The first half of the seventy-two holes challenge match, in which C. K. Faulkner (Pennard) and R. Walker (Southerndown) opposed R. S. Fernie (Glamorganshire) and J. Alliss (Porthcawl) for £50, took place at the Pennard Course, Swansea, on Saturday. Fernie is a son of the ex-Open Champion, Willie Fernie, of Troon. Play was under four-ball conditions, and over the thirty-six holes played on Saturday Fernie and Alliss gained a lead of three holes. The match will be concluded at Penarth next Saturday.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

LANSDOWNE (14) v. BECTIVE RANGERS (5).

With neither club having lost a match this season, there was a good attendance at Lansdowne road on Saturday, who witnessed a fine display by the home team, who won on their merits by 2 goals (1 penalty) and 2 tries to 1 goal off a try. Teams:—

Lansdowne—W. Crawford; Sibthorpe, S. de Villiers, F. Milligan, R. McFerran; W. Cunningham, G. McM. Kavanagh; Brennan, S. Campbell, R. Donnelly, D. Morton, N. Moore, V. M. Purcell, P. J. Whitty, W. Young.

Bective Rangers—G. O'Neill; A. Atkins, P. Roddy, M. Abraham, W. Abraham; R. Hammond, J. Clarke; W. Collopy, T. Heffernan, R. Collopy, J. Egan, C. O'Shea, J. Tallon, P. Dunne, L. Egan.

The game furnished a surprise, as, despite Lansdowne's excellent form and fine win over "North" the previous week in Belfast, Bective were expected to win, as their forwards were supposed to be the best pack in Dublin. As it turned out, it was in this department of the game that they were badly beaten, especially so in the first half, the lighter Lansdowne forwards beating them badly in the tight and loose, and even more so in the matter of getting possession. Whether it was over-confidence or lack of training, they seemed all at sixes and sevens in the opening period; while, on the other hand, the home side, who in their previous games had started slowly, went off in great style, fairly taking the Bective men off their feet. The visitors did better in the second period, but lacked finish, and, though they were in their opponents' 25 for the best part of the time, they only scored a rather lucky try.

Immediately after the start W. Collopy and Dunne headed a good rush to the Lansdowne 25, but Crawford sent them back with a clever kick, and from this till half-time Bective were defending. The first score came as the result of a high punt by De Villiers, which was missed by the Bective full-back, and De Villiers, following up hard, scored, for McFerran to convert. Soon after Kavanagh sent out to Cunningham, who put Milligan in possession, to let McFerran in at the corner, but the kick at goal failed. Lansdowne were next awarded a free kick, and Crawford dropped a fine goal from near the touch line beyond the 25 flag. The last score was the best of the lot, Cunningham making a very clever opening before giving to De Villiers, who dashed up to the line before sending McFerran over at the corner, and the scorer nearly brought off a great goal.

Commencing the second period Lansdowne were soon pressing, but a big kick by Roddy brought the visitors relief, and Bective were soon inside the Lansdowne 25. The forwards were now doing better, but their heeling was slow, while the backs were too much inclined to run across, with the result that the wing men were invariably crowded on to the touch line. Twice Atkins made good dashes for the left corner, but Crawford brought him down each time, while Cunningham saved his side several times with clever touch kicking. Bective were on the Lansdowne line when Crawford crossed over, but, losing possession, Heffernan scored, and Hammond easily converted. After this Clarke had a couple of nice runs; but the Lansdowne defence prevailed, and there was no further scoring.

Crawford gave another fine full-back display, and is playing better than he ever did, even when representing Ulster as a Malone player. De Villiers was clever in the centre, and Milligan played his best game so far; while McFerran made the most of his opportunities on the wing. Cunningham was at times brilliant at out-half, and easily the best back on the field; while he had quite a good partner in Kavanagh; and the pick of a hard-working, clever front line were Purcell, Morton, Moore, and Young. With the exception of one bad mistake, O'Neill did well at full for Bective; Roddy and Atkins were the better wing in the middle line, and Clarke worked hard behind the scrums; but Hammond was not at his best; and the best of a disappointing pack were W. Collopy, Heffernan, Dunne, and R. Collopy. Result:—Lansdowne, 2 goals (1 penalty), 2 tries (14 points); Bective Rangers, 1 goal (5 points).

CLONTARF (9) v. MONKSTOWN (3).

Clontarf had Monkstown as visitors to Castle avenue on Saturday, and, after having the better of a rather poor game, the home side won by three tries to one. Teams:—

Clontarf—Hopkins; Brown, Cormac, John Bell, Gilbert; Polden, Dallas; H. Bell, T. Bell, Denvir, Cooke, McHugh, Quail, Quinn, Watts.

Monkstown—Wills; Brett, Dillon, Crawford, Steele; Pickeman, Haynes, Mather, Ritchie, Thompson, Scott, Dale, Walmsley, West, Ramsay.

Referee—Mr. J. H. Miles.

Despite the fact that they were two men short, the visitors were the first to attack. Nothing resulted, and Dallas transferred play with a long kick. After having a futile attempt at goaling from a free, Dallas opened the scoring for Clontarf after a clever run, but missed the kick. Following a lot of scrummaging inside the visitors' 25, Polden and Dallas endeavoured to get their "threes" going. J. Bell spoiled one promising move by holding on, and Pickeman kicked to half-way. Monkstown were now reinforced by Crawford and Steele, but nevertheless Clontarf continued on the aggressive, and the Monkstown defence had a busy time. Occasional rushes by their forwards and kicking by Pickeman and Wills eased the pressure, but the greater part of this half was spent in the visitors' 25. With the exception, however, of Dallas and Polden, the Clontarf backs were often at fault in handling and passing. A cross-kick by Cormac should have resulted in a score, but the ball was knocked on, and then J. Bell finished a clever run by throwing out a bad pass to Gilbert, and there was no further scoring before the interval.

The second half began with Clontarf again attacking, but their "threes" failed to take advantage of the many opportunities afforded them by Dallas and Polden. Monkstown were now playing better, and their forwards, although getting the ball in the scrums, would not heel it. Pickeman was prominent for a good run, but his pass to Steele saw the latter well tackled. Haynes, by getting off-side, was often losing ground for his side. Play was at half-way when Polden sent out a pass to Dallas, and Cormac receiving, ran right through the defence, and scored the second try for Clontarf, which Dallas failed to convert. Cormac and Dallas were hereabouts often conspicuous for clever runs; nothing came of them, however, and on play being rushed to the other end, Haynes got over for Monkstown, and Pickeman just failed with the kick. Following this the visitors did much better, Thompson and Dale doing good work in the pack, but just before the final whistle a great bit of passing by Cormac, Dallas, McHugh, and H. Bell put Clontarf attacking again, and after Cormac had spoiled a likely movement by dropping his pass, McHugh dribbled the ball over the line and scored.

On the whole, it was a disappointing game, play in the first half being very scrappy, but things improved after the interval. Clontarf held the whip hand all through, and but for the faulty handling of the centres, the score must have been larger. Monkstown, who were not at full strength—Caldbeck, Belford, and Heenan all being absent through injuries—did well in the circumstances in keeping the score down. For the winners, Hopkins, while not highly tried, fielded and kicked well. Cormac and Bell were good individually in the centre, but the wing men were starved. Polden and Dallas both played capitally at half, and the forwards who caught the eye most were McHugh, H. Bell, Watts, and Cooke. Monkstown backs, being behind forwards who were beaten for possession, had a thankless job, but Pickeman and Dillon got through a great amount of defensive work, and the former's kicking was very useful. The best of a pack who stuck it out well were Thompson, Mather, Dale, and Scott. Result:—

Clontarf—3 tries (9 points).
Monkstown—1 try (3 points).

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY (40) v. CIVIL SERVICE (3).

The meeting of these clubs drew a fair-sized muster of spectators to the College Park, where, despite the recent rain, the pitch was found to be in quite good condition. The teams were:—

Dublin University—Marais; Vorster, Van de Merwe, De Bruyn, Dickson; Smith, Duplessis; Coetzee, Crichton, Owens, Russell, Thompson, Van Druten, Dowse, Pienaar.

Civil Service—M'Carthy; Byrne Burke, Bates, O'Donoghue; Morris, Foley; M'Mahon, Burke, M'Guinness, W. Smith, Cogan, R. Smith, M'Allister, Costello.

As was generally anticipated, Dublin University proved too strong a combination for their opponents, though possibly few would have been prepared to prophesy so overwhelming a score. But as events proved, the Students had quite a canter over the course, so to speak, for both fore and aft they were a class above Civil Service, whose sole recommendation on the day's play was their undoubted pluck. The latter it was which, to some extent, sustained interest in the proceedings to the close, and it met at least some measure of reward when in the closing stages they gained the solitary score which saved them from a pointless defeat. For the rest it can be said they were outweighted, outpaced, and outplayed, a back division containing such speedy and crafty players as Vorster, De Bruyn, and Dickson, carrying far too many guns for the moderate Civil Service backs, while the extra poundage in a pack best represented by Thompson, Coetzee, and Russell made the task of the visitors' forwards a gruelling one. Not that the visitors' eight did not stick courageously to their work, for this they certainly did, but M'Mahon, Burke, Smith, and their Confreres were both in tight and loose the under dogs all through. And in the rear divisions, as stated, the visitors had not the speed or combination of their opponents. M'Carthy, at full-back, played a good game, and so, too, did O'Donoghue and Morris up to a certain point, but the superiority which Trinity early established permitted of the latter taking risks, and indulging in all sorts of enterprises, which against a side of sterner metal would have been of doubtful wisdom.

As it was, most, if not all, of these excursions out of the orthodox came off, with the result that once the game had settled down scores came thick and fast, till the forwards, gaining possession, the halves plied the "threes" unceasingly with the ball, and De Bruyn, especially, showing a fine conception of the duties of a centre in attack, either wing was always testing the defence. To Dickson fell the first score, though this was in the nature of a soft one, the winger getting the ball in a throw in, and going over unopposed, but the succeeding try, scored by De Bruyn, followed on some smart handling, in which half a dozen or so took part. Vorster next beat the opposition, then Dickson again, the last-named soon afterwards repeating the performance, while sandwiched in between was a dropped goal by Van de Merwe. Four of the tries were converted, with the result that Dublin University led by 27 points at the interval, and, continuing in the same style after resuming, there were soon further additions to the total. Russell got over, and then De Bruyn, and though just here Civil Service rallied, and Byrne wound up a good run by scoring an unconverted try, the 'Varsity were soon hard at it again, and before the close Dickson registered his fourth try of the match. Result:—

Dublin University—7 goals (1 dropped) 2 tries (40 points).
Civil Service—1 try (3 points).

WANDERERS (7) v. OLD WESLEY (3).

Wanderers were not at full strength at Donnybrook on Saturday when playing Old Wesley, and they were rather lucky to gain victory by a dropped goal and a try (7 points) to a try (3 points). There was a small attendance present when the following teams lined out:—

Old Wesley—W. S. Christie; G. L. Dart, R. E. Croot, S. Evans, J. B. Russell; A. H. Matthews, H. Kapp; C. Adams, N. A. Clarke, A. J. Walkey, H. Trotter, W. H. Moore, E. G. Cullen, S. S. Evans, G. A. Sanders.

Wanderers—Barrett; Wilson, T. G. Wallis, P. Fennell, Hurst; F. Fennell, Haughton; W. H. Lowe (capt.), Larmour, Potterton, Buttanshaw, Purdon, England, Kirkland, Hughes.

Referee—Mr. H. Butler.

Wanderers started with great dash, and had much the better of the opening half, but, thanks to a splendid defence by the Wesleyans, they were only able to cross the home line once. This score came in the first ten minutes of play, when, following a round of passing, Wallis ran through the opposition to score a fine try, which Lowe failed to convert. A break-away by the Wesley forwards, with Adams, Clarke, and Moore in the van, gave the home side a footing in the Wanderers' half. It was only temporary, however, as the visitors were quickly back, and, being awarded a free, Lowe tried for goal, but sent wide. Wanderers continued the pressure, and Wilson had a strong run, and looked like getting over when Christie tackled soundly. Buttenshaw next led a rush of the visiting pack, but Croot pulled up, and then Matthews got in a neat kick to touch at the centre. Wanderers soon returned, and were attacking at the interval.

On resuming Wanderers were immediately put on the defensive. Splendid work by the Wesley pack brought play up to the visitors' line, and Wanderers for a time were kept busy defending. At length, a clever kick by Wallis and a short run by Wilson brought relief, but it was only momentary, as a burst by the Wesleyan eight carried play right up to the visitors' line, where Matthews, picking up, went round for a try, which was not improved upon. With the scores now equal, the play became fast and exciting. Wesley continued to have the better of matters, and a capital round of passing almost led to a score. From an opening by Kapp, Croot got possession, and after running some distance passed to Evans, who, in turn, transferred to Russell, and the latter, putting in a strong run, was only brought down inches from the line by Wallis. From the next scrum Lowe, England, and Larmour broke away, and with Wallis assisting with a good kick, play was changed to the Wesley end. Wanderers now fought desperately for a score, and Wilson and Haughton had dashes, but were held up. The Wesley defence held out against the onslaught, but just before the finish Wallis, coming into possession, steadied himself and dropped a capital goal.

It was decidedly hard luck on Old Wesley to be beaten after putting up such a fine fight. The losers gave a much improved display from the form they showed in previous matches this season, and on the run of the play a draw would have been a more fitting result. While possessing nothing in the way of outstanding football, the game was a capital one, being well contested and interesting to watch throughout. The Wesley forwards all played splendidly, and none were more prominent than the old stagers, Clarke, Adams, and Moore. The backs defended in great style, and Croot, in the three-quarter, was quite in old-time form, kicking and tackling finely. Russell, on the wing, was also good, while Matthews was the better half. At full back Christie made no mistake, and saved his line time and again. On the Wanderers' side, Wallis performed splendidly, and was the best of the backs. Wilson also did many clever things, and, next to Wallis, was the best in the three-quarter line. Haughton worked pluckily at half-back, while forward the most conspicuous were Lowe, Larmour, and Potterton. Result—

Wanderers .. 1 dropped goal 1 try (7 points).
Old Wesley .. 1 try (3 points).

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY (29) v. N.I.F.C. (0).

These teams met for the first time this season, and the event was the opening of the Ulster Senior League competition. The game was played at Ormeau, before a large number of spectators, and as the students had carried all before them in previous engagements, great interest was centred in the match. The game opened by Queen's backs running in a couple of smart tries, A. R. Wheeler being the scorer on each occasion, but he did not improve on his efforts. From this to the interval North held the mastery, and although nearly scoring several times, the defence was too keen to be penetrated, so that Queen's led at half-time by 1 goal 1 try (3 points) to nil. Five minutes after resumption Hoey scored for the students, and A. R. Wheeler goaled. North again had the best of play for twenty minutes, but do what they would, they failed to go over. In the last ten minutes M'Clelland, O'Neill, Coulter, and A. R. Wheeler scored tries. A. R. Wheeler added the major points from two of the scores. North fell away badly in the last stages of the game, although in the earlier part they had more of the play than the students. Result:—Queen's University, 4 goals 3 tries (29 points); N.I.F.C., nil.

THE IRISH LEAGUE.

SHELBOURNE DEFEAT GLENTORAN.

In accordance with popular anticipation, the match between Belfast Celtic and Distillery provided a keen and closely-contested struggle at Celtic Park, Belfast, on Saturday. The honours of the game went to the respective defences, and a scoreless draw and the acquisition of one point places Celtic at the head of the table with 16 points to Distillery's 15. Linfield, for the second Saturday in succession, dropped a point, their match with Cliftonville ending in a scoreless draw, but, if anything, the home team had the better of the play, and Linfield were fortunate in not losing the game. The match between Bohemians and Glenavon at Lurgan was a one-sided affair, the Northerners prevailing to the tune of 5 goals to 1, so that, although they have now played ten games in the League, Bohemians have yet to secure a victory, a solitary point for a draw being the extent of their success so far. They opened the scoring on Saturday inside five minutes of the start, but at the interval they were three goals down. From that point the visitors were well outplayed.

A big surprise was sprung on Glentoran at Shelbourne Park, where the home team won their third match in the competition by the margin of two goals to nil, Fulham scoring the first from a free kick in the opening half, and Grainger kicking through his own goal ten minutes from time. It was not a good match, the football played by each side being rather scrappy, but there could be no mistaking Shelbourne's superiority in all departments. The Glentoran forwards were seldom in the picture, Gowdy being a source of weakness in the centre, and the inside men slow and erratic. Mehaffy kept goal finely for Glentoran, and but for his exertions Shelbourne must have scored oftener. The home side had almost two-thirds of the play, the display of the forwards being in strong contrast to the happy-go-easy methods of the Glentoran five. The Glentoran defence, however, played soundly, but all round the winners were the better side.

BOXING.

TYNCKE KNOCKS OUT GOLDSWAIN.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

BRUSSELS, Saturday.

In a boxing contest held at Ghent this evening Tyncke (Belgium) knocked Goldswain out in the third round.

JOE STARMER DEFEATS JOE BROOKS.

At the Ring, Blackfriars, on Saturday night Joe Starmer (Kettering) beat Joe Brooks (Aldgate). It was a determined contest, Starmer possessing the more dangerous punch, and Brooks being clever on his feet and in ducking to avoid punishment. It looked like being a longish bout, until the sixth round, when Starmer, having failed to stop his man with heavy blows to the head, drove the right to the mark. Brooks fell and claimed foul, but the referee ruled against him, and, as he failed to rise, he was counted out.

ATHLETICS AND CYCLING.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING.

DONORE HARRIERS.

The venue on Saturday was the "Dublin" Boat House. T. Howley and H. B. Gunn went out with the paper. They laid a fine trail along the banks of the Liffey, thence through Chapelizod by the bridge, up the big hill, and across the fields towards Clondalkin; then doubled back through Palmerston Village, over the Liffey via Guinness's Bridge, up Knockmaroon Hill, through the Park, and home via Chapelizod Gate. Twenty-two runners were out. Distance, eight miles.

NATIONAL CROSS-COUNTRY ASSOCIATION.

At the annual meeting of the National Cross-Country Association, held at the Royal Hotel, Derby, on Saturday, the rules were altered to admit the Navy, Royal Air Force, and Army Associations to affiliation, and to representation on the Executive Committee. Mr. H. Newbold (Hallamshire Harriers and President of the Yorkshire and North Associations) was elected President of the National Association, with Messrs. A. Faltorial and J. Knight (North), J. Cottrill and C. S. Spilby (South), W. W. Alexander and A. C. Machin (Midlands), Vice-Presidents. Mr. T. H. Clarke (North) was elected Hon. Treasurer, and Mr. C. Otway (South) Hon. Secretary. To meet the requirements of the laws, as lately made, some alterations were made in the N.C.C.A. rules, and it was decided to allow individual runners to compete in national cross-country championships, provided they be members of bona fide clubs, and that the period of the war would not be considered in the qualifying period for championships.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

LEINSTER SENIOR LEAGUE.

MONKSTOWN (3) v. ROYAL HIBERNIANS (3).

Great interest was aroused in the meeting of these teams at Park avenue, and a fair crowd watched the play. The teams were evenly matched, and it was not until well into the first period that Rowlands scored and gave Monkstown a lead they held till the interval. On re-starting off a penalty corner, Cork equalised. Rowlands put Monkstown ahead again, only for Kirkwood to equalise. Parslow put Hibernians in front with a nice shot. In the closing minute Rowlands got through to equalise. Jermyn, Orr, and Murdock, with Rowlands, were the outstanding players for Monkstown, whilst McDonnell and the Hibernians forwards did best of the School team. Teams:—

Monkstown:—W. Jermyn; G. M. Orr, A. B. Evans; I. Varian, J. Murdock, G. Darcus, L. Morrison, A. Pearson, D. Rowlands, E. Cook, E. McCormack.

Royal Hibernians—T. Pike; E. Owen, H. Long; A. Le Grys, W. McDonnell, E. Eccleston, J. Redmond, T. Parslow, H. Kirkwood, M. J. Cork, R. J. Carter.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY (4) v. NAAS (2).

Played at Naas before a large crowd. Naas had most of the game at the start, and soon Cox opened the score for them with an unsaveable shot. Later B. Semmence worked through to score a second. Coming to the interval Taylor reduced the lead from a scrimmage in the circle. Naas were not able to stand the fast pace on resuming, and Mahony equalised from a penalty corner. Varian put 'Varsity ahead from a centre by Strong. Taylor scored again before the finish, and 'Varsity ran out well-deserved winners of a fast game, the play all through reaching a high level.

Teams:—

Naas—W. McCormack; J. Purcell, W. Hickey; R. E. Walker, R. Semmence, F. Kerry; J. Walsh, M. Manegan, J. Robinson, B. Semmence, J. F. Cox.

Dublin University—G. Robinson, R. M. Corbet, A. Phillips; D. S. Boyd, R. E. Murphy, H. W. Strong; J. C. Gillespie, J. F. Mahony, R. W. Varian, W. Taylor, H. W. Eyre.

RAILWAY UNION (5) v. THREE ROCK ROVERS (3).

At Park avenue, Rovers were not seen to much advantage, the loss of Brown, Pilkington, and Dagg being severely felt. Dillon, however, rose to the occasion, and prevented an overwhelming defeat, saving in splendid fashion on numerous occasions. Rovers were the first to score per O'Reilly. Malone soon equalised whilst C. Sully and Clarke added scores before the interval. Rovers did better for a time on resuming, O'Reilly scoring a second and Gregg equalising. Railway came away at the finish, goals from H. Sully and Clarke making victory secure. Teams:—

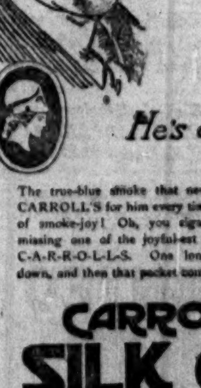

Railway Union—E. O'Farrell, J. Holmes, D. Ryan, T. Ryan, R. Williams, J. Malcolm, W. Chiddick, C. Sully, H. Sully, J. Malone, W. Clarke.

Three Rock Rovers—E. M. Dillon, Major Taylor, D. M. Fraser, H. T. Hanbury, Lt.-Col. Hill, R. S. Wix, L. A. Meldon, E. F. O'Connor, C. O'Reilly, Lt.-Col. Gregg, E. Eyre.

MOTOR SHOW WEEK AT OLYMPIA.

HUGE ATTENDANCE ON SATURDAY.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

All roads led to Olympia on Saturday, and so great was the throng in the building during the afternoon that the entrance doors had to be closed, since movement in the hall had become difficult. The crowd was an amazing one, for, while there were plenty of would-be purchasers, there were also thousands of people, including many family parties, who had simply attended the show in order to see all that there was to be seen. The broad gangways of the hall were filled with masses of people, who moved along at the slowest possible pace, and it was almost impossible to approach any of the great novelties of the show, except after a long wait. Some idea of the extent of the show may be gathered from the number of stands set out in the official catalogue—358.

Indications are not lacking that great business is being done in every class of car, though be it noted that the question of delivery to the purchaser is one that enters into nearly every bargain. Labour troubles form the most serious obstacle to prompt delivery, for, apart from ordinary delay, the effects of the coal strike and the iron moulders' strike have yet to be really experienced in the motor industry.

In the centre of the hall are staged the four high-priced British cars, the Napier, the Rolls Royce, the Lanchester, and the Daimler, and these are the centre of attraction. There is little material change in the Rolls Royce or the Daimler, except for many interesting detail improvements. The Napier, however, has been completely and newly re-designed, and greatly lightened with regard to engine and chassis. The Lanchester car appears for the first time at Olympia with the engine in front and a bonnet. This model was really designed for the 1914 Show, which was abandoned.

The use of aircraft has left a mark on many of the cars shown, and the Armstrong-Siddeley and the Straker-Squire are cars that include much of the aeroplane experience gained by their exhibitors during the war in their design. The former car particularly is a production of the highest importance. A post-war model, the Hispano Suiza, a 37 h.p. six-cylinder, is one of the prominent features of the Show. The firm has adopted its famous successful flying engine for their 1920 model. Some 50,000 of these engines were built for use by the Allies by no fewer than twenty firms during the war, a test that speaks for its reliability. The magneto has been abandoned, and a special brake system has been fitted to each of the wheels.

The Talbot Darracq is another car that is very popular with those attending the Show. This is an eight-cylinder. The Italian Lancia, a twelve-cylinder, is a special feature. The Fiat models are as popular as ever, the result of the biggest factory in Europe with continuous output throughout the war. The Vauxhall, which supplied the bulk of the staff cars for the British Army and the Crossley "R.F.C." model which was specially chosen for the work of the Flying Corps are likewise most attractive exhibits.

Another stand which is drawing motorists of all classes is the Wolseley, with its three models, which are to be turned out in quantity by the Vickers Company, which has trebled its factory space since the war with a view to mass production. Of the new-comers both producing, which is a big point at the moment, the 14 h.p. Angus-Sanderson and the 10 h.p. Citroën, both very sound ventures on mass production lines, are proving very good draws.

A specially noticeable feature of the American car is the body work. The mechanical features of the Show reveal, as in Paris, that the four-cylinder engine is easily the most popular form of power unit, numbering 180. Then 75 are six-cylinder, 17 eight-cylinder, with at least one twelve-cylinder, one five-cylinder, one three-cylinder, and one two-cylinder. 140 models have four-speed gear boxes, and 128 three-speed gear. Cone clutches predominate with 124, with disc clutches second with 76. Although it is obvious that the spiral levers drive for the rear axle is growing in popularity. Straight bevels easily top the list with 170 against 56 spiral and helical bevels. Out of the 271 cars, 228 have separate magnetos, the most notable instances of those who have abandoned this important feature being the eight-cylinder Hispano Suiza. Electrical engine starters are fitted to 226 cars as standards, a remarkable increase when one recalls that it was only at the Olympia Show in 1912 that the eight-cylinder Cadillac was the one solitary model in the exhibition with what was then termed a self-starter.

SOME OF THE EXHIBITS.

ARMSTRONG-SIDDELEY.

The Armstrong-Siddeley is a big car of noble appearance. The six-cylinder engine is nominally rated at 29.5 h.p., but is capable of giving 60 h.p. when called upon to do so. So far as the engine is concerned, the novelty for a car of this type is the aluminium cylinders, with steel liners. The chassis is full of good points, including a new design in stub axles and adjustable cantilever springs. The model on show at Olympia is a large closed car of elegant design, which attracted a good deal of notice by reason of its bold outline.

ANGUS-SANDERSON.

The Angus-Sanderson stand is occupied by the car which practically represents the first attempt at mass production in this country, the various parts of which are produced by leading makers of the parts concerned. The engine is produced by Tylor and Sons, Ltd.; transmission by E. G. Wrigley and Co., Ltd.; electrical equipment by Jos. Lucas, Ltd.; frames, springs, wheels, and such parts by other specialists; and the coachwork by Sir Wm. Angus, Sanderson and Co., Ltd. The 14 h.p. model is already in use in many parts of the country, and it is proposed to continue to concentrate attention upon this type. The distinctive appearance of the car was the subject of general comment, and not a fault was found from the radiator, which is of particularly handsome shape and capacious size, to the back axle.

ARROL-JOHNSTON.

The new Arrol-Johnston car represents a model upon which weight reduction and automatic lubrication have been carried out upon an extensive scale. The engine has overhead camshaft and valves and detachable head. The four-speed gear-box takes the drive to helical bevels, and the rear springs are of the cantilever type. In addition to the 13-30 h.p. model, a new type of car is shown, to be known as the 15.9 model. The new car has cylinders cast in pairs, chain-driven camshaft, plate clutch, and full elliptic rear suspension. By the employment of aeroplane material wherever possible weight has been reduced. It is a newly-designed car, and it is proposed to place it on the market in quantities at an early date. It bears the mark of efficiency everywhere.

BUICK.

The Buick exhibit includes a chassis and a five-seater touring car of the 18-20 h.p. model, fitted with delco starter and ignition, monobloc engine, with the valves in the head, and a multiple disc type of clutch. The engine is a six-cylinder unit of clean-cut appearance and of sturdy design. It is proposed to fit a two-seater or a five-seater body to the 18-20 chassis, and both models convey a pleasing impression of symmetrical design.

BAYARD.

The 8 h.p. Bayard is exhibited as a two-seater and as a coupe. The four-cylinder engine is similar to the unit which has performed so well in previous models, while minor improvements have been carried out in other parts of the car. Another Bayard car exhibited is the 15 h.p. model, with a four-cylinder engine, delco starter, and four-speed gear-box. As an open four-seater this model looks well, while the polished chassis shown indicates that both models represent the best type of French workmanship.

BELSIZE.

The Belsize stand contains several different types of body on a 15 h.p. chassis, which is of lighter construction in the case of a two-seater, and is six inches longer in the case of a landaulette. The four-cylinder engine has side-by-side valves, and the power is taken by a metal cone clutch to a four-speed gear box, the feature of which is the arrangement whereby the inside can be taken out without disturbing other parts. The clutch also is removable without disturbing the engine or gear box. The Victory models of the Belsize are in every respect finished cars.

BRISCOE.

The 24 h.p. Briscoe car is an American four-cylinder five-seater. Leather cone clutch electric starter, Buick carburetter, and bevel drive are employed, and in mechanical details and in general construction the model closely resembles European practice in several respects.

CITROEN.

The Citroën car is an example of French methods of mass production, and the models exhibited attracted considerable notice. The engine is a four-cylinder 10 h.p. unit of sturdy design, which is capable of developing 18 h.p. An electric engine starter is fitted. Features of the chassis are double super-imposed quarter elliptic back springs, and a herring-bone pattern drive in the back axle. The whole car is of pleasing appearance, and is a production worthy of the reputation of André Citroën.

CHEVROLET.

The Chevrolet is a new American car which reaches this country with a good reputation from the other side. It is a medium-sized car, with a four-seater body, which it is proposed to place on the market here at a moderate price. The four-cylinder engine has side by side valves, and is rated at 20 h.p. The engine head containing all valves is detachable, and there is a general appearance of cleanness about the design of the chassis.

CUBITT.

The Cubitt car represents the first British attempt to produce in one centre a car on the quantity production principle, and as such it is attracting considerable attention. The four-cylinder engine is rated at 16-20 h.p., and the specification includes rotax starter, Smith carburetter, fabric cone clutch, four-speed gear box, worm final drive, and disc wheels. In general outline the Cubitt car presents a neat and well-balanced appearance, while the mechanical details are of sound design and good workmanship.

CLEMENT TALBOT.

The Clement Talbot six-cylinder car is fitted with the famous 36 h.p. engine, with side-by-side valves and a Brolt starter. A cone clutch takes the power to a four-speed gear box and a bevel-driven back axle. The 25 h.p. model, of which several examples are shown, has a four-cylinder engine, Brolt starter, and a four-speed gear box. This type of chassis is peculiarly adapted for a closed car, and as a coupé landaulette or saloon the result is equally pleasing, while as a touring car a model in grey with black wings and grey leather upholstery looked particularly well.

CALCOTT.

The Calcott car incorporates several distinct improvements upon previous models. It is a stronger looking car than heretofore, with a larger engine and a strengthened gear box and back axle, and a radiator of increased capacity. The four-cylinder engine, rated at 11.9, is fitted with a Lucas starter. It is proposed to produce a regular two-seater with dickey seat and a cabriolet body. The new chassis is excellently designed and well produced in every respect.

DODGE.

The Dodge Brothers' car for 1920 is a four-cylinder five-seater, with Ediswan starter, Dodge carburetter, multi-plate clutch, and Dodge rims. The outlines which distinguished the Dodge car previously have been retained, and the impression of shapliness is inevitably conveyed by the elegant curves of the two-seater and the delicate lines of the four-seater. The engine is rated at 17-24 h.p., and is a four-cylinder of the monobloc type. All the mechanical parts of the Dodge have an appearance of substantial design, with the number of outside parts reduced to the minimum. The 1920 Dodge is a noteworthy production.

DAIMLER.

The Daimler Company are producing three models, known as the "Standard Thirty," the "Light Thirty," and the "Special Forty-five." There is little difference in general design, but the "Light Thirty" is lengthened for use as a sporting car, while the universal joints are of a different type. Externally the sporting car may be recognised by its higher radiator and taper bonnet. All models have six-cylinder engines, four speed gear boxes, and worm drive. Daimler design, workmanship and beauty of outline are adequately maintained in the current models.

AUSTIN.

The Austin Motor Company are making a standardised chassis, on which are mounted touring, coupé, or landaulet bodies. The 20 h.p. engine, with clutch pit and four-speed gear box, constitutes one unit, three point suspended. Lubrication is forced, on the well-known and tried system, and cooling is by pump circulation. A single plate clutch is fitted. Central control has been adopted for the gears, and the handbrake, very direct in action, upon a drum behind the gear box has a central position. Final drive is by helical bevel gear to the semi-floating rear axle. Accessibility and ease of adjustment have been carefully studied. The driving seat is adjustable as to angle and position. Electric lighting and starting are standard.

DE DION.

What was previously known as the 14-16 h.p. eight-cylinder model has had the cylinder bore increased to 65 mm. It will now be called the 16-20 h.p. The late 20-24 h.p. is now termed the 25 h.p. The specification of the 12-14 model includes Victrix magneto dynamo for self-starter, and electric light, complete power unit (engine clutch and gear box in one unit), cantilever springs at back, semi-elliptic in front. Eighteen-twenty and 25 h.p. models threequarter elliptic at back, semi-elliptic in front. The 12-14 h.p. model has four-cylinder engine, while the 16-20 h.p. and the 25 h.p. have eight cylinders. The present models clearly indicate that the De Dion Company, one of the pioneers of mechanical transport, are abreast of the times, and their latest productions are worthy of their reputation.

FORD.

The new models of the Ford show many improvements in matters of details. An electric starter is fitted, and left-hand steering is adopted, owing to the space at the right of the engine being occupied by the self-starter. The Holley carburetter is retained, and the epicyclic two-speed gear is still employed. With its taper bonnet and modernised type of radiator, the Ford presents a distinctly more pleasing appearance than the model so much seen on all our roads previously.

G. W. K.

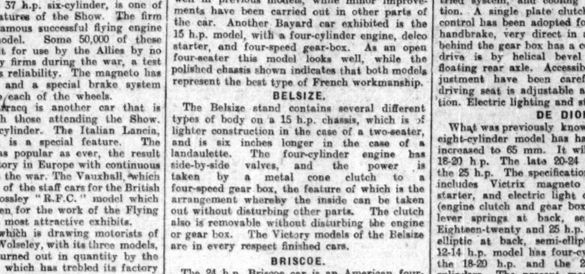

The G. W. K. car is a combination of the best points of the older model and the improvements demanded by the progress of mechanism. The two-cylinder engine has given way to the four-cylinder unit, rated at 10.8 h.p., with enclosed chain drive to camshaft and magneto. The engine is now placed in the conventional position, with a radiator in front. The friction drive principle is retained. The G. W. K. looks wonderfully well as a four-seater, while as a two-seater the newly-designed chassis enables a better outline to be obtained than the older model permitted. The G. W. K. stand was a centre of much attention.

MORRIS-OXFORD.

The Morris-Oxford car is equipped with a British-built engine rated at 11.9 h.p., the feature of which is that it is in one unit, with the upper part of the crank case. The final drive is by spiral bevel to the semi-floating rear axle. The gear lever is placed in a central position. A Lucas dynamotor is fitted, and Morris-Oxford outlines have been preserved in the general appearance of the car. A good deal of attention was paid to the current model of the car, which set the light car fashion when it was introduced.

SOME OF THE EXHIBITS.

HUMBER.

The new 15 h.p. Humber is fitted with C.A.V. starter, four speeds, and the engine has aluminium pistons of a new pattern. The 10 h.p. model is of similar design, with the exception that the larger model is fitted with a water circulation accelerator and a vacuum petrol feed. The 10 h.p. model is produced as a coupe, and as a touring car, while the 15.9 h.p. chassis is fitted with a five-seater touring body, and, with a handsome saloon of neat appearance, Humber workmanship shows itself throughout the chassis in every case, and Humber reputation is securely maintained by the current models.

HUPMOBILE.

The Hupmobile 1920 model has a four-cylinder engine, with detachable head. Petrol feed is by the vacuum principle from a tank at the rear of the car. The cylinders and the upper portion of the crank-case are cast in one. General outline follows typical Hupmobile practice, modernised in accordance with current fashion, and the present models are as well produced as those which have preceded it.

OVERLAND.

The Overland model tour has been tested for over three years, and it is proposed to adopt the type exhibited at the Show as the regular model without change for two years. It is fitted with an aerolite starter, single plate clutch and spiral final drive. The price of the new model is not yet fixed, but it is expected that an announcement on this subject will be made shortly. Many features which have distinguished the Overland have been retained in the "model tour," but the chassis is of new pattern. It comes to a point at both ends, which enables a simple and efficient form of suspension being employed.

SAXON.

The Saxon exhibit is a five-seater car, with a six-cylinder 30.35 h.p. engine. The cylinder is in one with the upper part of the crank chamber, and the engine has every appearance of solid construction to an efficient design. An unusual feature on a car of this size is the construction of the back axle, which is directly connected with the gear box. The chassis is extended at the rear, so that arms are formed for the purpose of supporting the spare rims. It is a car of distinctly pleasing pattern.

STAR.

New features of the 1920 Star are an improved type of radiator and a single plate clutch. There has been no need to alter the engine to any extent, and the back axle remains practically as heretofore. The Star Company adopted the 4-speed gear box gate change and honeycomb radiator many years ago, long before the features were generally employed in Europe or elsewhere, and the details of the 1920 cars show that the Star is still abreast of the times.

STANDARD.

The clean outlines of the Standard have been retained, and the new streamline effect has been obtained without disturbing the distinctive pattern of the radiator. The engine, which is rated at 9.5 h.p., takes the power to a single disc type of clutch, a metal driving plate engaging with the asbestos-covered surface of the flywheel. By an improved system of lubrication oil is circulated by means of a pump driven off the camshaft, and is returned to a capacious sump. As a two-seater the car looks very neat, while as a coupé it presents an appearance of compactness and comfort. A Brolt electric starter is fitted to the new models, which are worthy successors to the previous models which have performed so consistently well.

SCRIPPS BOOTH.

The Scripps Booth car for 1920 is a six-cylinder model, with overhead valves, operated by a push rod. The cylinders and upper portion of the crank case are in one casting, with detachable cylinder head above. A mechanical air pump for tyre inflation is taken from the gear box. Everything is well thought out on a Scripps Booth, there being even a light to illuminate the step to the door of the rear seats. The Scripps Booth has always been a car of beautiful outline, but the current car eclipses all previous models in shapeliness, the four-seater being especially worthy of mention as an example of beauty of outline.

STRAKER-SQUIRE.

The Straker-Squire attracted many visitors to its stand by reason of the unusual features of the engine. All six cylinders are cast separately, with open water jackets, over which aluminium plates are bolted. The valves are overhead, operated by a helical gear camshaft. The pistons are of aluminium, and the crankshaft is of generous dimensions, running in seven bearings. A special centrifugal device is fitted in the gear box, whereby oil entering the driving shaft is conveyed to the bushes of the front universal joint, the lubrication of which is thus entirely automatic. The Straker-Squire is a magnificently-finished engine, and is in keeping with the general excellence of the Straker-Squire.

WOLSELEY.

The 10 h.p. Wolseley is intended to supersede the car formerly known as the Stellite, upon which an enormous advance is made. The only complaint ever made regarding the Stellite was the fact that it had but two gears, but this fault has been rectified on the new model. The 10 h.p. car is in several respects a miniature replica of the larger Wolseleys, which have achieved such an enviable reputation for possessing so many good qualities, among which excellence of workmanship stands foremost. The same excellence of finish shows itself in the new model, which attracted much attention at the Show. The Wolseley Company are also making a 15 h.p. and a 20 h.p. car. The former follows generally the lines of the 10 h.p., while the 20 h.p. is a magnificently turned out six-cylinder car, representative of the most up-to-date design. The Wolseley stand is one of the most attractive in the Show, by reason of the fact that light, medium, and large cars are represented by models which are among the leaders of their class.

VAUXHALL.

Outstanding characteristics of the Vauxhall fast touring car is a combination of power and refinement, tractability and sweetness of running being combined with speed almost equal to racing machines. The 30-98 h.p. Vauxhall has climbed at an average speed of 42 m.p.h., with four up, Shelsley Walsh Hill, which has a double bend in its 1,133 yards length and an average gradient of 1 in 9.35. A standing start was made. The 25 h.p. model is similar in design, and has the same distinctive qualities to recommend it. Its back axle is full floating. Both models have spiral bevels and inclined steering pivots. The clutch is a multi-disc, running in dry graphite.

ROLLS-ROYCE, LTD.

Rolls-Royce, Ltd., are showing splendid cars at their stall, and the 40-50 six-cylinder make will, doubtless, attract considerable attention during the exhibition. These cars have engines 4¼ inch bore x 4¾ inch stroke, with centrifugal pump water circulation, forced lubrication, battery and magneto ignition, four forward speeds, gate change, cone clutch, bevel final drive, detachable wire wheels, and are fitted with Lucas dynamo lighting, and have electric starters. They are seen with cabriolet body by Barker, with Pullman limousine body by Barker, and with open touring body by Hooper, and seat up to seven persons. The upholstering of the cars is substantial as well as artistic.

TYRES.

DUNLOP RUBBER COMPANY.

Dunlop tyres are shown in the latest patterns, which include "Dunlop Magnum." The Dunlop Magnum tyres are an entirely new series of treads, which represent a distinct step forward in scientific tyre construction. The company is producing these new types in its new factories now under erection at Fort Dunlop, near Birmingham, where an area of 130 acres is being rapidly covered by new buildings. Pending the completion of the new works, orders can only be accepted for execution in the well-known grooved, steel-studded, and plain types. Public announcement will be made in due course as to when the new types will be available. The whole of the company's plant in its Para and Manor mills is concentrated on the production of the old types until the new factory is completely available.

MICHELIN.

Michelin tyres for 1920 will comprise the patterns which have given satisfaction heretofore, namely, the "square tread," "universal," and "non-skid." The tyres, so well introduced by "Bibendum," are likely to continue in public favour.

MOSELEY.

An excellent display is exhibited by David Moseley and Sons, including the Moseley grooved tyre, which is a cover with graduating curved grooves running round the tyre, with three central ribs which take up the grip of the road when the central ones are worn. The Moseley steel-studded tyre is also shown. This is a tyre in which the stands are fixed to a rubber and canvas band in a particularly secure manner.

MIDLAND.

The Midland Rubber Company have a good display of tyres, including the Midland "Hercules," a substantially made non-skid rubber cover, suitable for heavy cars. In appearance the tyre is not dissimilar to an exaggerated herring bone, with deep indentations. The Midland Oversize Hercules is also included in what is really an excellent display.

WOOD-MILNE.

Wood-Milne tyres are exhibited at a prominent stand. The various patterns which distinguish these tyres are shown, and among them the "Gruvrib," which has achieved such a well-deserved success.

AVON INDIA RUBBER COMPANY.

The Avon India Rubber Company will continue to produce the several patterns of tread which have raised Avon tyres to their present level of popularity. There is an Avon tyre for every purpose and for every type of car.

RUDGE WHITWORTH, LTD.

Messrs. Rudge-Whitworth, Ltd., Coventry and Birmingham, have a very interesting display at their stall, and have arranged for daily demonstrations of fixing their detachable wire wheels, which can be put on any make or type of car quickly and with ease. In the tyre section, Avon, Clincher, Dunlop, Firestone, Goodyear, and Michelin types are exhibited, and non-skid chains and various accessories form part of the show.

Further Notices of Exhibits at Olympia will appear in to-morrow's issue.

THE LEGAL PROFESSION.

DEBATE ON AMALGAMATION.

The opening meeting of the thirty-sixth session of the Solicitors' Apprentices' Debating Society was held on Friday night in the hall of the Solicitors' Buildings, Four Courts, Dublin, Mr. Robert C. Warren (President of the Incorporated Law Society) in the chair.

The Chairman distributed medals and prizes as follows:—

Oratory.—Law Society's Gold Medal and Certificate—James B. Stack. Society's Silver Medal and Special Certificate—W. F. McMenamin. Special Certificate—J. V. S. Mills.

Legal Debate.—Robert G. Warren. Gold Medal and Certificate—W. Devoy. Silver Medal (presented by the Society)—F. A. Gallagher, LL.B.

Impromptu Speeches.—Cussen Gold Medal—James B. Stack. Sir George Roche Prize—James B. Stack. Cussen Silver Medal—T. G. O'Sullivan.

Mr. J. B. Stack (Auditor) delivered his inaugural address on "The Amalgamation of the Legal Professions." He said that this was the first occasion on which this important question had formed the subject of the inaugural address of the Society. The legal profession in England and Ireland was divided into two branches, and no one could be a barrister and solicitor at the same time—notwithstanding that the business of both barrister and solicitor was substantially the same. Reconstruction was a shibboleth in everyone's mouth nowadays. In legal matters it meant at any rate drastic reform. In Ireland they had an antiquated and unsuitable system of judicature, utterly out of touch with the people for whom it was ostensibly provided. As to the question of vested interests, he said that the amalgamation of the two professions would not involve any serious disturbance for any existing practitioner who did not himself desire to be disturbed.

Mr. E. F. McHugh, moving a vote of thanks to the auditor, said that this question was becoming a burning one in England and Ireland.

Mr. Dudley White, K.C., seconding, said that the real difference between solicitor and barrister was not a question of better or worse, but an absolute difference in kind. The two kinds of work of solicitors and barristers were absolutely distinct.

Professor A. E. Clery, proposing that the Debating Society was worthy of support, said that the people who would suffer most if the new system were adopted would be the young solicitors themselves, who would be up against all the developments of capitalism.

Mr. C. Gamble, in seconding, referred to the good relations which always existed between the two professions.

The Chairman (Mr. R. G. Warren) said that this matter had been considered by the Council of the Incorporated Law Society on more than one occasion, but they had never been able to find out what the general feeling of the profession was on the subject, or whether in the profession, as a whole, there was any desire for amalgamation.

RESTRICTIONS ON IRISH LIVE STOCK EXPORTS.

Mr. William H. Wells, Chief Live Stock Commissioner, writing from the Ministry of Food, London, to Mr. William Field, regarding the import of Irish fat stock into Great Britain, states:—"In order to facilitate the marketing of fat stock, live stock commissioners throughout Great Britain are prepared to meet butchers' permits to the extent of 100 per cent. in live stock or home killed meat. The farmer is not, as you feared, being penalised by the issue of imported meat. A very small quantity of this meat is being issued owing to the demand in some places for the cheaper form of meat. I would point out that a few weeks back there were disturbances in one part of the country owing to imported meat not being obtainable, although home-killed meat was available. As I informed you, the present restrictions will be released at the very earliest opportunity, but so long as it is necessary to impose restrictions on the British farmer you will, I am sure, quite appreciate that the same restrictions must be imposed on the Irish exporter."

THE SICK AND INDIGENT ROOMKEEPERS' SOCIETY (INCORPORATED).

The monthly meeting of the Executive Body of the Sick and Indigent Roomkeepers' Society was held on Thursday evening at the offices, 2 Palace street, Dublin, Mr. J. M. Flood presided. Also present:—Messrs. Thomas Woods, Thomas F. Burke, Martin Mortell, John J. Gilfoyle, A. Staveley, P. J. Cahill, T.C.; Rev. John Flanagan, B.A., C.C., Hon. Sec.; and John D Brennan, Secretary.

The report and financial statement for the month of October was read and adopted. It showed that 468 applications from poor families, duly vouched in accordance with the rules, had been admitted, the amount expended in relief being £333 16s. 6d.

"KING SOLOMON'S MINES."
By SIR H. RIDER HAGGARD.
In presenting this film version of a novel, the name of which is a household word throughout the universe, and which is written by one of our greatest living authors, the producers—the African Film Productions, Ltd.—have spared no trouble or expense to follow the story in detail.
The locations in which the different scenes have been taken are as near as possible those described in the novel; the elephant hunt being photographed in the Maputo Forest, north-west of Delagoa Bay, where the animals still roam wild; the camel scenes in the middle of the South-West Protectorate; the finding of Curtis' brother near the Victoria Falls; the cave scenes in the Northern Transvaal; and the trekking at Rustenburg and Pietersburg.
The scene of King Solomon's throne room, which is introduced during the telling of the Legend of the Mines, was entirely designed and constructed at the South African Studios.
The film will be screened daily at 3, 5, 7, and 9 p.m.
Patrons are advised to attend the earlier performances, and avoid possible disappointment.

APPEALS.

URGENT APPEAL.
"Whence shall we buy bread that these may eat? This He said to prove him."—St. John, vi.
THE Master's question to His disciples centuries ago, when in a "desert place" surrounded by many who needed to be fed, voices the problem faced just now by those who are responsible for the care and upkeep of "THE CONNEMARA ORPHAN NURSERIES," and, while their faith is being tested, they look around for some, who, like the boy who gave all that his basket contained for the Master's use, are willing to co-operate.
The prohibitive prices of food, clothing, fuel, footwear, etc., now that winter has come, emphasises the necessity for this urgent appeal.
Contributions gratefully received, and particulars given by
Mrs. O'CONNELL,
Clifden Rectory, Co. Galway.

STRIKE AT WILLIAMS & WOODS, LTD.
As a difference of opinion appears to exist as to the cause and terms of settlement of above, we think it only right that the Public should hear the actual facts.
We should like to point out that a Trade Board was set up some years ago, composed of equal representation of Employers and Workers, with two Government appointed Members and Chairman, who arrange the minimum wage to be paid in the trade, and at the last sitting the figures fixed were:—
5½d. per hour for girls of 18 years of age and upwards;
10d. per hour for men of 22 years of age and upwards, which are the rates we have paid, with exceptions in the cases of Charge Hands and most of our Male Workers, who received higher wages.
Some months ago, at the request of our Workers, though at a loss to ourselves, we adopted a 44-hour week, notwithstanding that our competitors, both across the water and in Ireland, work 48 hours. When the Workers' Union approached us with reference to an increase of wages, we pointed out that the last Trades Board award was made as recently as May 22nd, '19, about which time we had the request for shorter working hours, but if the hands were desirous of earning more money, we would pay them more, provided they returned to the 48-hour week, and also promised them a bonus of two weeks' wages. This would mean that each girl would have received a sum of 46/- in addition to her ordinary week's wages at Christmas, and the men about 90/-. So that there should be no misunderstanding in the matter, we called our hands together and explained all this to them, but they refused our offer, and their Union gave us notice that they would cease work on Saturday, 4th October. After being out for nearly five weeks a settlement was effected through the intervention of the following Reverend Gentlemen:—
Fr. Bowden, Fr. Flanagan, Fr. Lawrence, Fr. Finbar Ryan, Fr. Nolan, upon the following terms:—

	s.	d.
That our girls return to a 48-hour week, receiving extra pay accordingly, which would represent about	2	0
and instead of the bonus promised	1	0
Per week	3	0
The increased earnings to the men concerned, on the basis of a 48-hour week	4	0
and against the bonus	1	0
Per week	5	0

It will be seen from above that our hands have returned to work, after five weeks, on practically the same terms as offered them before they went out. In fact, the girls have lost in bonus alone this year 39/-, and the men about 83/- each.

The Irish Times.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1919.

Telegrams from North-West Russia show that General Yudenitch is still retreating. He is hopeful, however, and states that, with help from outside, a new offensive will take place against Petrograd. The Lettish Foreign Minister reports that the Lettish troops have gradually surrounded the German forces on the Riga front. The Allied Fleet assisted the Letts in these operations. All the German counter-attacks have been beaten off, but the battle continues with great obstinacy. A Serbian official telegram reports a sanguinary encounter between Italian Government troops and the troops of d'Annunzio in which the Government troops suffered considerable losses. It is reported from Hamburg that the Hamburg and Bremen shipowners have protested vigorously against the Entente's fresh demands for the surrender of German floating docks. They state that the surrender would paralyse the restoration of German shipping for years. Herr Noske, the German Minister of Defence, speaking of the National Debt, says that Germany will have to pay ten milliard marks in interest annually, or double the entire pre-war debt. The Prince of Wales has concluded his visit to Canada, and to-day he will cross the Canadian-American border and travel to Washington, where he will be the guest of the Vice-President, Mr. Marshall. The hearing of the American Government's petition for an injunction against the miners who are on strike was commenced on Saturday, and the case was allowed to stand until Tuesday to permit the leaders to call off the strike. It is generally hoped that the strike will have ended before Tuesday.

Mr. Lloyd George, at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London on Saturday evening, said that he was confident a settlement of the Adriatic question would be found. The Allies were agreed that Turkish misgovernment must cease, and that the gates of the Black Sea must be free to all nations. As to Russia, to-day the indications pointed to a prolonged and sanguinary struggle. There would be no peace until peace was established in Russia. He was hopeful that during the winter an opportunity would offer itself for the Great Powers to promote peace and concord in that country. Apart from Russia, the outlook was good. One could not expect to revert to the normal in the course of a single year. Two things were needful—work and confidence.

Sir Auckland Geddes, speaking at Liverpool on Saturday, said that the great task was to increase production. Many manufacturers said that they were doing well enough, and were not bothering about exports. They would never get the workers to put their backs into the work until they saw the management so keen that the whole pressure of organisation should be directed towards production.

The libel action brought by Sir Alfred Mond against a Swansea newspaper and its editor, who was a rival candidate at the last election, was settled at the Cardiff Assizes on Saturday. The defendants apologised, withdrew unreservedly all suggestions against Sir Alfred Mond's character as a loyal citizen, and undertook to pay a sum towards costs.

The Olympia Motor Show in London was continued on Saturday, when an immense throng inspected the exhibits. So great was the demand for admission that the doors had to be closed to prevent overcrowding.

The Crown Prince of Arabia and his suite have arrived in Dublin on a week's visit to Ireland. The Prince will remain in Dublin until Wednesday, after which he will go to Belfast, returning to Dublin on Saturday evening.

One of the most serious outbreaks of rioting which has occurred in Cork for a couple of years took place last night. Police and soldiers were brutally attacked, and revolvers were freely used. Several civilians received hospital treatment. No one appears to have been injured by the revolver firing.

We publish in this issue details of the Coats bonus scheme, which deals with the three classes of shares, together with an analysis of the proposals, showing their effect on each.

Problems of Policy.

At the Lord Mayor's Guildhall banquet on Saturday night Mr. Lloyd George made an important statement. Foreign politics provided his main theme, and his remarks on the Adriatic and Russian problems are worthy of careful study. In regard to the former he did not commit himself. He recognised the difficulties which stand in the way of a settlement by general consent, but expressed his confident belief that a satisfactory agreement can, and will, be reached. Two conditions must be fulfilled. The settlement must be compatible with the interests and national honour of Italy, and must do justice to "the nationalities emancipated from the Austrian yoke"—in other words, to the Jugo-Slavs. Clearly, it must be a compromise; but Mr. Lloyd George gave no hint of the basis upon which such a compromise is likely to be formed. Fiume is the touchstone of the whole problem. The action of Signor d'Annunzio has enkindled all the passionate patriotism of the Italian race. Rightly or wrongly, Italian public opinion is strong in its demand for the disputed port. Officially, of course, Signor Nitti's Government is opposed to the coup de théâtre which has seriously compromised its position and challenged its authority; but there is no doubt that the secret sympathies of almost every Italian are with the romantic soldier-poet. As Mr. Lloyd George freely admitted, Italy played a noble part in the war. Her contribution to the Allied victory has, perhaps, never been appreciated fully by the British people. Caporetto is remembered where, too often, Vittorio Veneto is forgotten. On the other hand, however, the Jugo-Slavs cannot be ignored. Their State was sponsored by the Allies, and President Wilson virtually promised them possession of Fiume. A conference between Italians and Jugo-Slavs, of course, would provide the best way out of a very nasty difficulty; but, unfortunately, the two peoples stand to each other in the relation of enemies, with the result that direct negotiation is out of the question.

Mr. Lloyd George was more communicative about the situation in Russia; but here, again, he was anything but explicit. He does not like the outlook in Russia. Nobody likes it. We cannot have peace while Russia is at war; evidence of this unfortunate fact is forthcoming on every hand. Mr. Lloyd George, however, leaves us in the dark in regard to the Allies' Russian policy. He hints at another Prinkipo. We cannot believe that he intends to treat with Bolshevism. Colonel Ward's recent speech, to which the Prime Minister referred with so much admiration, establishes beyond a shade of doubt the folly of such a course. The anti-Bolshevist forces have met with very serious reverses. General Yudenitch, in particular, has been forced virtually to abandon his attack on Petrograd. General Denikin's army has been checked in its advance on Moscow, while, in the words of Mr. Lloyd George, "the latest news from Omsk is certainly not reassuring." It is not unreasonable, therefore, to predict that the Bolshevists will not be forced to capitulate before the spring. Winter will put an end to all military operations in Russia. Mr. Lloyd George, however, suggests that Bolshevism cannot be suppressed by force of arms at all. If such be the case, the £100,000,000 which, he states, has been expended by Great Britain in support of the anti-Bolshevist expedition might just as well have been thrown into the sea. Clearly, unless there is some hope of success, further material support cannot be contemplated. As Mr. Lloyd George very truly says, "we cannot afford to continue so costly an intervention in an interminable civil war." He might have added, with equal truth, that we cannot afford to have any truck with Lenin and Trotsky. Negotiation with the Bolshevists would be tantamount to recognition.

We are handicapped, in regard to Russia as well as to the Adriatic, by lack of a constructive policy. In the one case we have been content to wait for the victory of Koltchak, Denikin, and Yudenitch, and in the other we seem to have trusted to luck. In both we have been disappointed. Lenin and Trotsky are still in Moscow, and all attempts to dislodge d'Annunzio have failed. It is not yet too late to formulate a policy. With courage and imagination much can be done; but opportunism is of no avail. So far as Italy is concerned, confidence in our goodwill must be restored. Italians at present are suspicious and distrustful. Nothing but a full and frank declaration of policy can create that atmosphere of sympathy and trust, which is the first essential of a friendly settlement of the Adriatic problem. In regard to Russia we have a similar duty. A rapprochement between the Bolshevists and their Russian opponents is impossible. Therefore, we must either choose between them or leave them severely alone. Our immediate concern should be to secure the independence of the Baltic States. We cannot afford to ignore the possibility of a German sphere of influence, and must protect posterity against a recurrence of the events of 1914. Surely the Supreme Council still commands sufficient authority to put a stop to the dangerous intrigues of Bermont and von der Goltz! Sooner or later, however, we shall be forced to make a decision on the greater issue. One day even the Russians will become tired of fighting, and one or other of the conflicting parties will triumph. What will happen in the event of a Bolshevist victory? Mr. Lloyd George does not consider such a victory possible; but the alternative is defeat, for there can be no compromise. If Bolshevism cannot be conquered by the sword, as Mr. Lloyd George predicted, how can it be conquered? Its ultimate defeat is the only hope of civilisation. Therefore, the Allies should make up their minds without further delay, and formulate their plans for the vindication of democracy.

America's Coal Strike.

There are signs that the collapse of the general strike of coal miners in the United States is at hand. On Saturday the Supreme Court of Indianapolis heard the Government's application to make permanent the temporary and ex-parte injunction which forbade the Labour leaders to take any part in the dispute. Counsel for the miner workers resisted the motion strenuously. The Court, however, decided against him. The Act in question gives the Government power "during war conditions" to suppress any strike that might restrict, or destroy, the supply of food and fuel. Technically the United States are still at war, for the Senate has not yet ratified the Peace Treaty. The trade union leaders were given until Tuesday evening to cancel the strike order. If they fail to do so the injunction will be made permanent, and they will be liable to heavy punishment. Accordingly they have called a meeting of the Executive and the branch officials for to-night. The result of their deliberations will be awaited with keen anxiety throughout the world. Europe looks to America's energy and wealth to supply many of the commodities of which the war has caused a scarcity, and the effects of the strike have been felt already in a variety of ways. If the dispute is prolonged in defiance of the Government the results will be disastrous. We have a foretaste of what may come in the Government's latest steps to conserve the limited output from the mines. It has been decided that none but American ships shall receive supplies of coal in American ports, and that, before even American ships are "bunkered," the authorities must be satisfied that there is sufficient fuel to keep the railways at work. As a result of this embargo over two hundred vessels, many of them British, are lying idle. Furthermore, all the arrangements for sending coal to Europe have been suspended. No one can grumble at the Government's decision; in similar circumstances Great Britain would have taken precisely the same precautions. The proceedings at the Supreme Court in Indianapolis represent only one of the many measures taken by the United States Government to restore industrial peace. A notable feature of the coal strike and the dispute in the steel trade is the number of men of alien blood involved in them. These malcontents aim not at benefiting the orthodox trade unionist, but at creating a revolution. In many cases they are members of the notorious Industrial Workers of the World. They have resided in the United States for years without acquiring even the rudiments of the English language, and thus, cut off from all feeling of sympathy with the nation they have adopted, have fallen an easy prey to unscrupulous demagogues of their own nationality. The Government has taken strong measures to place all alien agitators under control. During the past two days some hundreds of arrests have been made, and it is stated that the instigators of "a nation-wide plot" have been apprehended. The Government's firm and uncompromising attitude encourages the hope that America will be able to maintain her rôle of universal provider, and that industrial peace will soon be restored to her shores.

Mistress and Maid.

A practical step towards the solution of the servant problem has been taken in Birmingham. Bodies representing the employers and the servants have agreed upon the conditions of service. Besides including such tactful provisions as "maids to be allowed to choose by what names they shall be called," and laying down reasonable conditions governing comfortable bedroom accommodation, diet, visitors, and dress, the agreement fixes definite scales of working hours and remuneration. The ordinary working day is fixed from 6.30 a.m. to 10 p.m., with four and a half hours off, and one half-day per week is granted in addition to a half-day on alternate Sundays. The scale of minimum wages divides servants into two classes. From the ages of 14 to 17 years they are regarded as being under definite training, and during these three years the wages are fixed at £13, £14, and £16 respectively, with an annual allowance of £2 12s. for uniform. At 17 a girl is considered to have received a good training, and at that age her wage, including uniform allowance, is fixed at £21 12s. Thence by annual increments of £1, and an additional advance of £2 every third year, it reaches £32 12s. at the age of 24; and afterwards, it is recommended, increases should be made by mutual arrangement. The difficulty which we foresee in the way of the scheme's success lies in the standardisation of wages. The smart energetic girl, apparently, is to receive exactly the same wage as the slothful servant who is more of a hindrance than a help in the house.

The River Clyde.

It is reported that the famous "River Clyde" is to be handed over to the shipbreakers. The battered hulk has been salved from the bleak shores of Cape Hellas, and at present lies at Malta. The Government intends to sell her by auction as scrap metal. We hope sincerely that this intention will not be carried into effect. The decks of the "River Clyde" are saturated with the blood of hundreds of Ireland's heroic sons. She formed the "bridge" over which they marched ashore in face of deadly fire from the Turkish guns. Her name is revered throughout the length and breadth of the land, and her scarred sides are symbolic of what was, perhaps, the most brilliant feat of arms in the war. Surely she deserves a better fate than to be discarded and thrown on the scrap heap. Her presence in any of the sheltered waterways of the United Kingdom would serve as a greater memorial to those who fell in the Gallipoli campaign than any monument of stone or brass, for she represents the spirit of that glorious, but ill-fated, venture. We trust that the Government will take immediate action to stop the proposed auction, and that the Admiralty will instruct the authorities at Malta to preserve intact what is undoubtedly one of the most inspiring and hallowed relics of the war.

The Paris Journal writes that M. François Laura, mining engineer and former Deputy for the Loire Department, has made an appeal to the miners, asking them to agree to work for an additional hour a day up to next June at payment of time and a half.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

The Prime Minister's speech at the Guildhall last night seems to have been delivered under a keen sense of responsibility. It was given in nothing like the usual form, and it cannot be said that the allusions to a possible peace with the Bolshevists were at all warmly received. In fact, they had a rather chilly reception. The later passages of his speech, dealing with financial scares and the position of labour, were much more warmly received, and when he sat down the Prime Minister had quite an ovation. It is rather curious that very few London Sunday newspapers remark upon the speech. It may be, of course, that it reached them too late for comment, but the omission is rather unusual, since the Prime Minister is always expected to make an important speech on these occasions.

The Lord Mayor's procession yesterday was a very pretty spectacle owing to the number of ladies taking part. There was nothing of the circus element, though many of the ladies were riding horses. They took part in the pageant of the League of Nations, which was opened by a waggon carrying representatives of the five Continents, attired in gorgeous robes. Following came a number of girls on foot wearing white dresses and veils, and carrying great sheaves of blossoms. They brought forth the first roar of applause, for they made a charming spectacle. St. George, the City of London, and other representations of traditional figures came next; and then followed the representatives of all the nations to be embodied in the League. The four home Kingdoms were well represented, Ireland being depicted by a handsome woman in a white robe with a green mantle. The only drawback about the pageant was that the representatives were too massed, and, being on horseback, passed before the people could recognise, or in many cases even see, them. If they had been arranged in pairs the pageant would have been far more effective.

It will be a most impressive two minutes in London on Tuesday morning, and it is probable that the Cenotaph in Whitehall will be the centre of attraction. The police are making arrangements to control the traffic in Whitehall, and the street will be closed to vehicles if necessary. A procession of patriotic bodies is to be formed up in Birdcage Walk, arranged by the Comrades of the Great War, and this will proceed to the Cenotaph and form three sides of a square, when a great wreath of palms and laurels, nine feet high, will be laid at the foot of the erection. Many members of the procession will also carry wreaths forwarded for the purpose by people unable to be present. A wreath from the President of the French Republic will be placed in position at eleven o'clock, when the great silence begins.

The Weekly Dispatch says that it was the King himself who originated the idea of the two minutes great silence in honour of our glorious dead on Armistice Day. When His Majesty was approached by a member of the Cabinet with the suggestion that he might propose to his people a form of celebration of the anniversary of the armistice, he at once decided that it should take the form of this voluntary tribute to the men who had given their lives for their country. His proclamation, which has since been sent by wireless telegraphy to everyone of his Dominions overseas was drawn up at his own instance. The King has again correctly interpreted the wishes of his subjects, and everywhere there is grateful appreciation of his proposal for the national celebration of the end of hostilities in the great war.

The United States have set an example which, sooner or later, must be followed by all civilised countries. The Government has rounded up the people who are working hard to involve the United States in a network of anarchy. Hundreds of arrests have been made, and it is said that Jim Larkin has been taken in New York. It is announced by the United States Department of Justice that it is beginning a nation-wide campaign to suppress the Union of Russian Workers, which has some sixty branches in the country. The membership books of this body state that "the struggle between the classes will only end when the toiling masses are organised as a class, understand their true interests, and make themselves masters of all the world's riches by means of a violent social revolution." It is not surprising that the United States refuse to accept such a dogma, enunciated by many thousands of Russians who cannot even speak the tongue of their adopted country, while a great number of them are not even naturalised.

Mr. Walter Long's Committee of Ministers, which has been dealing with a scheme of Home Rule for Ireland, has, I understand, completed its labours. The report is in the hands of the Cabinet, which will consider it in the course of the next few days, for, as Mr. Bonar Law promised, a new Irish Home Rule Bill has to be introduced into the House of Commons before the Christmas recess, and this promise will be kept. The scheme recommends, it is understood, the setting up of two Parliaments in Ireland—one for Ulster and the other for the rest of the country. And it is so framed that it will, if necessary, form part of a Federal scheme for the whole of the United Kingdom. It is recommended further that there shall be only one Legislative Council for the whole of Ireland. To this, in course of time, Customs and Excise will be entrusted. But as to this there must be an expressed desire on the part of both Parliaments before such a transfer is effected. As to the Army and Navy the recommendation is that they shall be outside the purview of both Parliaments. A good deal of consideration has been given to the scheme, and it is likely to be followed pretty closely in the Bill, which will emerge from the Cabinet deliberations to take place within the next few days.

The Chief Secretary will to-morrow present to the House of Commons his Bill to facilitate the provision of land in Ireland for men who have served in the naval, military, or air forces of the Crown in the present war, and for other purposes incidental thereto. It is expected that proceedings in the House during the coming week will be rather quiet, since so many members expect to be away speaking on the League of Nations, while the visit of the President of the French Republic will add to the social life of the week. At the same time, the business to be finished before the House adjourns is very heavy. There are quite a dozen measures to be passed into law before Christmas, and it is whispered that it is possible that the House may sit well into January.

The success of the Motor Show at Olympia is extraordinary. Yesterday the throng was so great that the doors had to be closed to keep out the people, while it was impossible to move inside the building except at a snail's pace. A queue of hundreds of people lined up in the evening for the 12s. 6d. dinner, while cars for 1921 are selling freely. The motor trade is evidently in for a magnificent boom, if only Labour will play its part in the "speeding-up" of production.

It is long since London saw anything in the way of a great political reception such as the late Marchioness of Londonderry used to have for the Unionist Party. The present Marchioness, however, is reviving the custom, and is inviting a large number of guests to meet the Prime Minister and Mr Bonar Law at Londonderry House on Tuesday, November 18th. Londonderry House is admirably adapted for such functions, and it is expected that the occasion will be a brilliant one. Mr Bonar Law is to speak on the same evening at a banquet of the National Unionist Association at the Connaught Rooms.

The Geological Survey of Great Britain and Museum of Practical Geology, Jermyn street, London, S.W., have been transferred for administrative purposes from the Board of Education to the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research as from November 1st.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

PEACE IN RUSSIA.

Commenting on the Prime Minister's speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet, The Times says that, in his reference to Russia, the Prime Minister, though apparently doing lip-service to Colonel Ward's recent speech, foreshadowed a revival of the Prinkipo policy, and, in so doing, raised, in an acute and urgent form, the whole question of our policy towards the Russian people. After showing that the Prinkipo policy originated in the conceptions of prominent Jewish financiers in New York, The Times points out that an appeal is now being made to the Allied financiers to use their influence to secure recognition for Trotsky and his gang. In effect, the workers of Allied countries are now being asked to rally to the support of international finance. Another aspect of the Prinkipo policy, however, is that, while with one hand nearly £100,000,000 are spent in support of the Koltchak-Denikin Government and friends of the Allies in Russia, with the other moral encouragement is bestowed upon the Bolshevist enemies of these friends—a virtual slap in the face for Denikin and Koltchak. Can the practice, asks The Times, of blowing hot and cold, not merely alternately, but simultaneously, have any other effect than to cause the British name to stink in the nostrils of all patriotic Russians, and to neutralise in advance the sacrifices in money and material which the Government on behalf of the country have made. The Prime Minister foreshadows, indeed, not a policy but a negation of policy. He speaks as though he were seeking a pretext for the complete abandonment of our Russian friends to their fate in the probable event of their refusal to treat with the Bolshevists. He declines to face the situation on its merits, and takes refuge in expressions of horror at the havoc wrought in Russia. The nation, continues The Times, needs a policy in regard to Russia. It cannot be a policy of armed intervention. It cannot be a policy of thoughtless financial outlay. It can, and should be, a policy of steady, moral, material, political, and diplomatic encouragement to those who are fighting the battle of the Allies in Russia and in Asia. The Russians must, indeed, work out their own salvation, but they should not be left to work it out in moral and political isolation. If we reckon upon their eventual gratitude, instead of following the clear call of duty and interest, how can we hope that the memory of our £100,000,000 will weigh them against the memory of the vastly greater expenditure of treasure and blood which they gallantly incurred to save the French and ourselves during the first German rush towards Paris. They need at least the fullest political recognition which it is in the power of the Allies to give. They need material support in the shape of supplies that are a drug on the hands of the Allies, but are priceless in Russia. They need the assurance that behind this revival of the Prinkipo policy there lurks no scheme similar to the suggestions for the abandonment of Russia and of the Near East to German and pro-German influences with which in conjunction with Lord Lansdowne and others, the Prime Minister coquetted in the dark weeks of May and June last year, and for which he vainly sought to secure the support of men influential with the Labour Party. In a word, they need to know that England is true to herself and to her friends, to her principles, and that no consideration of international finance or advantage can deflect her by a hair's breadth from the path of honour, which is also the path of her true interest. Then, in time, which may be short or long—for chaos as dire as the chaos in Russia will not readily resolve itself into perfect order—there will, indeed, be "peace in Russia," and with it the peace of final victory for the Allied cause, and for ordered liberty throughout the world.

IRISH PEACE.

The Times Parliamentary Correspondent, writing to-day, says:—The Cabinet Committee on the Irish question have completed their task. They have agreed upon definite Home Rule proposals, and have submitted them in detailed form to the Cabinet. The Prime Minister and his colleagues will probably begin their consideration of the scheme this week, and there is a confident feeling in official circles that the hope expressed by Mr. Bonar Law last week that the Irish Bill would be introduced before Christmas will be justified. This is a considerable achievement, on which Mr. Walter Long and the other members of the Cabinet Committee may be cordially congratulated. They have cleared the road for action, and it only remains for the Cabinet to sanction their scheme with such modification as may appear desirable. This should not take long, as the Cabinet Committee was one of the strongest and most representative ever appointed. It included seven of the 21 members of the Cabinet—Mr. Long, the Lord Chancellor, Mr. Shortt, Mr. Fisher, Sir A. Geddes, Lord French, and Mr. Macpherson. Two of these Ministers are former Chief Secretaries, a third is at present serving that office, and a fourth is the Lord Lieutenant. Unionist, Liberal, and Labour Ministers maintained the balance of the Coalition on the Committee, and the Cabinet, as a whole, could only refuse to accept their recommendations if they had a better scheme to put in their place. There is reason to believe that the scheme submitted to the Cabinet is substantially the same as that which was outlined in The Times of November 5th. It is a generous measure of Home Rule on semi-Federal lines. It is proposed that there should be two Irish Legislatures, one for the whole of Ulster and the other for the rest of Ireland, with a Council of Ireland, consisting of delegations of equal strength from the two Legislatures, as a unifying link.

NEW PROFESSOR OF CIVIL LAW AT OXFORD.

The Times understands that the appointment will shortly be announced of Mr. Francis de Zulueta, Fellow and Tutor of New College, Oxford, and All Souls Reader in Roman Law since 1912, as Regius Professor of Civil Law in succession to Professor Goudy. A Fellowship in All Souls College is attached to the Chair, which for the first time since Dr. John Story, Principal of Broadgates Hall, died in 1553, is held by a Roman Catholic. Dr. Story, who received his patent as Professor in 1546, figured greatly as a persecutor of the Protestants. He was Queen Mary's Proctor for the trial of Cranmer in 1555. Mr. de Zulueta was born in 1878, and is the son of Senor Don Pedro Juan de Zulueta and Laura Mary, daughter of Sir Justin Sheil, K.C.B. He was educated at Beaumont College, the Oratory School, and New College, where he was a Scholar. He took First Classes in Classical Moderations, "Greats," and Jurisprudence. From 1903 to 1907 he was Fellow of Merton, and Vinerian Scholar in 1903. He was called to the Bar by Lincoln's Inn in 1904, and became a Fellow of his College in 1907. During the war he joined the Worcestershire Regiment, becoming Captain in 1916.

DEATH OF LADY SARAH SPENCER.

The Times announces the death of Lady Sarah Spencer, aged 85. She was the second daughter of Frederick, the fourth Earl Spencer, by his first marriage, sister of the fifth Earl, Mr. Gladstone's colleague, and half-sister of the present Lord Spencer. Her death severs an interesting link with Mr. Gladstone, who, writing of her in July, 1891, four and a half months after he retired from public life, said:—"Many kind friends have read to me. I must place Lady Sarah Spencer at the head of the proficients in that difficult art."

COMPENSATION CLAIMS IN CLARE.

A claim has been lodged with the Secretary to the Clare County Council by Mr. William J. Corbett, J.P., for £700 for the knocking down of the walls of his farm at Carrowhill, Crusheen. Mr. P. Roughan, Ennis, claims £50 for the smashing of the plate glass window of his shop in Ennis. Mrs. Nora Whelan claims £500 for personal injuries from unknown persons in a night raid at her house in West Clare.

Sir Thomas Whittaker, M.P. for Spen Valley, died on Saturday at Eastbourne.

A partial eclipse of the moon was visible at Paris on Friday night, between one-fifth and one-sixth of the moon's southern edge being hidden.

A Reuter's telegram from Ottawa on Friday says that the Senate passed the third reading of the Grand Trunk Acquisition Bill. On Saturday the Dominion House of Commons concurred, and the bill has now passed both Houses.

NORTHERN RUSSIA.

YUDENITCH STILL RETREATING.

POSITION GROWING WORSE.

FIGHTING IN THE BALTIC STATES.

A Helsingfors telegram, dated Sunday, says—The report of the Russian North-West Army, issued yesterday morning, states that General Yudenitch has retreated to the station of Weimarn.

The Exchange Company's Helsingfors Correspondent on Saturday telegraphed:—General Yudenitch finds his position steadily growing worse. No longer can he offer a defence, but is trying to retreat with the smallest loss possible. Fighting has taken place in two districts along the Yamburg-Galstrina-Narva-Gdov railway. In the former the retreat has become precipitated. The fortifications of Sjeltaja have been surrendered.

According to the representative of the Berlingske Tidende at Narva, General Yudenitch, in an interview, appeared to be comparatively optimistic regarding the situation in New Russia. He declared that operations had not been abandoned, and that a new offensive against Petrograd would take place as soon as possible, but that help from outside was necessary.

THE BALTIC STATES.

GERMANS REPULSED.

REPORT FROM LETT FOREIGN MINISTER.

The Press Association's Copenhagen Correspondent, in a message dated Saturday, says that the Lettish Foreign Minister, in a telegram dated the 6th inst. from Riga to the London Press Bureau, writes:—Our troops have gradually surrounded the German troops on the Riga front, and bombarded with artillery the German line of retreat on the highway from Riga to Mitau, and the railway from the Riga suburb of Therensberg to Mitau. The Allied Fleet assisted the Letts in these operations. All the German counter-attacks have been beaten off, but the battle is going on with the greatest obstinacy.

On the front section at Dendseras, about 100 kilometres from Riga, our troops from Riga attacked the Germans in the rear, scattered the enemy, and took much booty. Several Russian Trotsky sections, with officers, have deserted to the Letts, and the disagreement between the German and the Russian troops of Colonel Bermont's army is growing. The Lett troops at the same time are operating successfully against the Bolsheviks, to help General Yudenitch's army. During the last week 1,200 Red Guards were taken prisoners, and heavy losses were inflicted on the Bolsheviks.

On the Libau front heavy German attacks were bloodily repulsed.

KOLTCHAK AND BERMONT.

According to a Berlin telegram to the Russian paper, Renaissance, which is published at Copenhagen, Colonel Bermont has received a telegram, signed by Admiral Koltchak's Chief of Staff, saying that he orders him, in the name of the Supreme Regent, to subordinate himself absolutely to General Yudenitch, otherwise he cannot remain a Russian citizen and an officer of the Russian Army.

A SOVIET PEACE PROPOSAL.

Under the heading: "Lenin's New Peace Offer," Saturday's London Daily Herald prints the terms of a provisional Peace Treaty, which, it alleges, the Russian Soviet Government would sign, provided that such terms were offered by the Allied Governments before Saturday next. The document is said to have been brought back from Russia by Colonel Malone, M.P., who made a reference to it during the debate on Russia in the House of Commons on Wednesday last. It stipulates for a fortnight's armistice, the period to be further extended if necessary, and it proposes that the Conference should discuss peace on the basis of some eight principles or clauses, "which shall not be subject to revision by the Conference." These clauses provide, among other matters, that all existing de facto Governments which have been set up in Russia shall remain in full control of the territories which they occupy at the moment when the armistice becomes effective, except in so far as the Conference may agree upon the transfer of territories. Clause 2 provides that the economic blockade should be raised, and that trade relations between the Soviet Government and the Allies should be renewed. Another clause provides that citizens of Soviet Russia should have the right of free entry into Allied and associated countries. Yet another clause deals with the recognition of Russia's foreign debts. Finally, "the Soviet Government is most anxious to have a semi-official guarantee from the American and British Governments that they will do their utmost to see to it that France lives up to the conditions of the armistice. The Soviet Government hopes that it will not be necessary to transfer this offer (with the necessary modifications) to the Central Powers." The conditions of this proposed peace are formulated by the Soviet Government, but the onus of proposing them is placed upon the Allies

AMMUNITION DUMP EXPLODES.

TEN BRITISH SOLDIERS BELIEVED KILLED.

A Reuter's Namur telegram of yesterday says: At about one o'clock this morning a large ammunition dump established in a wood near the Deave Fort blew up. Of the fourteen British sentries on duty only four have answered the roll call, and it is feared that the others have been killed. The cause of the accident has not been established. Explosions are still occurring.

AMERICA AND THE PEACE TREATY.

SENATE AND THE QUESTION OF WITHDRAWALS.

A Reuter's telegram from Washington on Saturday says:—A motion by Senator Gore to amend the Foreign Relations Committee's first reservation covering withdrawals from the League of Nations, failed, only obtaining 18 votes against 68. Senator Gore sought to modify the provision empowering Congress to give notice of withdrawal by a concurrent resolution.

The Senate then rejected by 45 votes to 39 a motion by Senator Nelson to permit notice of withdrawal by a joint motion of a concurrent resolution, the signature of the President being required for a joint resolution.

Later two Republicans of the "mild reservation" group, after a stubborn fight to alter the reservation, voted with the majority. The pairs announced showed that the entire Senate divided, 55 to 41, all the Republicans and six Democrats favouring the reservation. The reservation adopted interprets Article I. of the Treaty as meaning that America is sole judge whether its international obligations under the Covenant have been fulfilled, and that notice of withdrawal shall be by concurrent resolution of Congress.

POSITION AT FIUME.

It is reported from Belgrade, under Saturday's date, that the Serbia Official Press Agency states that in a sanguinary skirmish between Italian Government troops and the troops of d'Annunzio, the Government troops suffered considerable losses, including one Captain. D'Annunzio's troops lost one killed and several wounded.

A telegram from Zagreb (Agram) states that there is much dissatisfaction in the ranks of d'Annunzio's soldiers on account of the scanty food supplies, and there is little military discipline among them.

PRINCE OF WALES'S VISIT TO AMERICA.

The Prince of Wales, having concluded his visit to Canada, will, according to present arrangements, cross the Canadian-American border at Rouse's Point on Monday evening. Mr. Lansing will meet the Prince at the frontier, and will accompany him to Washington, which will be reached on Tuesday, about noon. The Vice-President, Mr. Marshall, will receive the Prince at Washington.

Birmingham on Saturday presented to South Africa an aeroplane as a contribution to the Imperial Air Fleet and a token of good-will.

THE PREMIER'S REVIEW.

OPTIMISTIC SPEECH.

RUSSIAN PROBLEM.

DIFFICULTIES OF THE SITUATION.

CONFIDENCE REGARDING THE ADRIATIC.

The new Lord Mayor of London, Sir Edward Cooper, gave his inaugural banquet at the Guildhall, London, on Saturday evening.

The brilliant company included the Prime Minister and other members of the Government; the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chief Justice, and the Ambassadors and Ministers of the Allied countries.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, proposed the toast of the Foreign Ministers, and remarked that in these days of much questioning, even diplomacy and diplomats had not escaped criticism. This was, perhaps, inevitable, for their best triumphs were the ones of which they knew least, and when their labours were most successful they heard the least about them; it was only when they had failed, or when they had been pushed aside by brute force, that they got some measure of the trouble that they had surmounted.

M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, in reply, said that diplomatists were reproached for carrying on secret diplomacy. Could one imagine in any business either political or private negotiations being carried on in the full light of day? Could they see a financier, manufacturer, or merchant giving his schemes and conversations to publicity? In the case of discussions between Governments discretion was still more necessary, because their controversies might arouse national susceptibilities, and a question easy of settlement between diplomatists became insoluble if amour propre came into play. With publicity for negotiations they should should have a war every morning.

PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH.

The Premier, responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," said—We have signed a peace with two of our greatest foes, and I hope soon we shall have signed a peace with all our enemies.

There are three difficult questions awaiting settlement. I will only glance at them. First is the question of the Adriatic, small in itself—infinitesimally small compared with the tremendous issues which we have so satisfactorily settled—but gathered round and raised in connection with it, deep passions have created an atmosphere which makes it more difficult to arrive at a calm settlement by common consent. I am, however, confident that a settlement can be found, and will be found. (Cheers.) A settlement that will be compatible with the interests and with the honour of a gallant Ally who came to our help—let us never forget it—at a critical moment in the war—(cheers)—and between whom and the people of this country there have always existed feelings of the deepest attachment, strengthened now by a common sacrifice for a common cause. (Cheers.) On the other hand, I feel certain that justice will be done to the nationalities emancipated from the Austrian yoke—emancipated through the efforts and sufferings of the Allied nations, foremost among whom in the field was Italy. (Cheers.) Then there is Turkey—always troublesome in peace and war—(laughter)—and more troublesome in peace than in war. (Renewed laughter.) I think I can venture to say that there is complete agreement among the Allies on the fundamental principles of a settlement with Turkey. First of all, we are all agreed that the Turkish misgovernment in lands populated by Greeks, by Arabs, and by Armenians shall come to an end. (Cheers.) We are all agreed that the gates of the Black Sea must be free to all nations—(cheers)—and that their guardianship can no longer be entrusted to the Power that betrayed its trust, and closed those gates in the face of the Allies at the behest of the Prussian military power. (Cheers.)

THE PROBLEM OF RUSSIA.

I come to a third topic, and here I cannot speak with the same hope and confidence—I mean Russia. I would feel much happier if I knew that the Russian tangle were in course of being cleared up. You cannot have peace until you have peace in Russia, and the outlook is not pleasant. Although I am generally charged with being an optimist—and I plead guilty—I have always declined to give false estimates of a situation in order to beguile the nation into a false hope. And I say, quite frankly, I do not like the outlook in Russia. A few weeks ago there was a prospect of an early issue. It was distinctly promising. To-day the indications point to a more prolonged and sanguinary struggle. The daring raid on Petrograd has not come off. For the moment, General Denikin's brilliant advance towards Moscow has been temporarily checked, and the latest news from Omsk is certainly not reassuring. I have seen the Russian sky look just as dark before. Russia is the land of surprises. I have seen our friends advancing in Samura, on to Novgorod. I have seen them driven back. I have seen them go forward again. I have seen Omsk menaced once before. I have seen General Denikin driven right to the shores of the Black Sea, and I have seen him now advancing hundreds of miles inland, sweeping all before him; and, therefore, you must not imagine that I am reading from the present situation any sort of prediction that the Bolshevik Armies are going to conquer the whole of Russia. I do not believe it. (Cheers.) The free peasantry of the South have in their hearts a detestation of Bolshevism, and I do not believe that the Bolsheviks will ever conquer that aversion. That is not what I mean.

INTERMINABLE CAMPAIGNS.

What I mean is this—that I dread an interminable series of swaying campaigns, laying waste some of the most fertile lands in the world, devastating a country which is essential to the prosperity of the world. That is what I fear. You must have read, and some of us had the privilege of listening to the very fine and statesmanlike address of Colonel Ward in the House of Commons. (Cheers.) It impressed us, not merely by its eloquence, but by its great wisdom, and by its restraint, especially when one recollects what he saw with his own eyes. There was nothing which struck me more than his account of the desolation caused by this civil war in Russia. The cruelties, the reprisals, and the counter-reprisals which are unseparable from such wars. That is what I am afraid of, and I am afraid of its continuing. The world cannot afford it. It is not merely that there will be no peace until peace is established in Russia. It means that you have got war in half Europe, and very nearly half Asia as well. I dared to predict—it is not a pleasant prediction, it is not a popular prediction, but my business is to give honest advise to the nation—and I dared to predict early this year that Bolshevism, with its dangerous doctrines, could not be suppressed by the sword. Other methods must finally be resorted to for restoring peace and good government in that distressed land. I wish the prediction I made then had been falsified. Civilisation cannot afford a distracted and desolate Russia. The Supreme Council of the Allies early this year made an effort to organise peace among the warring sections, and afford the Russian people an opportunity of deciding for themselves by peaceable means in what way they desired to be governed. Unfortunately, no section in Russia was ready. All were bent on conquest. I hope the time is not distant when the powers will be able to renew that attempt with a better prospect of success.

A HELPING HAND TO RUSSIA.

I am not unmindful, and certainly Britain is not unmindful, of our obligations to the gallant men in Russia who helped us to fight the Germans when the Bolshevik leaders were betraying the Allies on that front. We have already given a real proof of our sympathy. We have sent one hundred millions worth of material and of support in every form, and not a penny of it do I regret, in spite of the heavy burdens which are cast upon us. It was a debt of honour, and we had to discharge it. We had given them an opportunity, if Russia wished to be liberated, for equipping her sons in order to free themselves. If the Russian people wish for freedom we can always say that we have given them the chance, and many of them have used it gallantly and wisely. We have held positions of danger in that country until the Russians were prepared to hold them themselves.

We cannot, of course, afford to continue so costly an intervention in an interminable civil war. Our troops are out of Russia. Frankly, I am glad. Russia is a quicksand. Victories are easily won in Russia, but you sink in victories, and great Armies and great Empires in the position have been overwhelmed in the sands of barren victories. Russia is a dangerous land to intervene in. We discovered it in the Crimea. But true to the instinct which has always saved us we never went far from the sea. (Laughter.) We were able to extricate ourselves from there. But I am hopeful that when the winter gives time for all sections

ARMISTICE DAY ANNIVERSARY.

TO-MORROW'S TWO-MINUTE SILENCE.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR DUBLIN.

To-morrow will be the first anniversary of the signing of the Armistice and the consequent cessation of hostilities that ended so gloriously and triumphantly for our arms and those of our Allies. It should be a memorable occasion, the commemoration of which will be a recognition of the great and many sacrifices made during over four years in the cause of freedom, and a tribute not only to the memory and deeds of the gallant dead, but to those who also fought and, happily, survived the horrors and dangers of the greatest war in history. The form of celebration of the anniversary is a solemn one. It follows the suggestion of His Majesty the King, whose desire and hope is that at the hour when the Armistice came into force—the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month—there may be for the brief space of two minutes a complete suspension of all our normal activities, "so that in perfect stillness," as His Majesty has so finely expressed it, "the thoughts of everyone may be concentrated on reverent remembrance of the glorious dead." The anniversary vividly recalls the rejoicings that prevailed throughout the whole country when the enemy was forced to acknowledge defeat. The year that has elapsed since then has been an eventful one, pregnant with difficulties for all concerned in good government. When eleven o'clock arrives to-morrow, however, our thoughts will be turned away from affairs of a worldly character, and the silence that will ensue, when sound and locomotion will be still, should offer a grand opportunity to make the occasion a real token of respect and thankful appreciation for all that has been done and accomplished.

Throughout Great Britain—and, no doubt, in all parts of the Empire—the anniversary will be observed with a solemnity befitting the occasion. And in Ireland, too, we are quite certain that the King's desire will be fulfilled by all loyal subjects. Who of us can forget the courage and devotion shown by thousands and thousands of young Irish lads who went forth willingly to "do their bit," never counting the cost? Who of us can forget the many who have fallen, and now lie sleeping the last sleep in foreign soil? We owe a mighty debt to them. In what more fitting way could we honour the dead, and recognise their heroism than ceasing work of all kinds for the brief period of two minutes, and uniting "in this simple service of silence and remembrance?"

DUBLIN ARRANGEMENTS.

So far as Dublin is concerned, arrangements have already been made by Government Departments, centres of industry, and institutions, as well as many others, to give effect to His Majesty's request. There seems a general desire, in fact, to participate in the observance of the anniversary. No step has apparently been taken to arrange for a given signal announcing the solemn hour when the two minutes' silence begins, but it may be accepted that each factory, industrial concern, banks, and other places of trade and commerce will signalise the hour either by sirens, bells, or other means. The occasion is likely to be marked also by a display of flags and bunting, but hardly so lavish as that which was seen on the last Armistice Day, when the city presented such a gay and effective appearance, and when the thoroughfares were crowded with a joyous, thankful, and enthusiastic throng of people. To-morrow's celebration will be of a different character. It will give effect to the reverent feelings of the people in a brief period of silence, and the result should be one of great impressiveness and solemnity.

Inquiries made by an Irish Times representative on Saturday elicited the information that all traffic is to cease on the systems of the various railway companies having termini in Dublin. There will be a general cessation of work for the interval of two minutes, and all trains, except where it is utterly impracticable, will halt. At the electric power station of the Dublin United Tramways Company the current will be cut off at 11 o'clock, and all trams running at the time will automatically stop. When the current is again resumed after the two minutes the tramcars will proceed on their respective journeys. It is understood also that all traffic on the public thoroughfares at the hour named will be held up for the interval by the police. The Secretary of the Bank of Ireland informed our representative that the doors of the building in College Green will be closed exactly at 11 o'clock. Bells will be rung at that hour to indicate to the officials that work must cease for the two minutes, and all customers in the bank at the time will be compelled to remain inactive until work is resumed. It may be taken for certain that this course will also be followed by the other banking institutions in the city, as well as by insurance offices, commercial houses, and other places of business.

So far as factories and workshops are concerned, the Home Secretary, in his note issued in connection with the King's message, stated that it must be left to the good-will of employers and employed to make such arrangements as will best carry out the spirit of the scheme. Our representative was informed that most of these concerns will participate in an observance of the anniversary, and the blowing of sirens will announce the hour, when there will be a temporary cessation of work. People traversing the streets are requested to cooperate by simply standing during the two minutes. The General Officer Commanding the Forces in Ireland has made arrangements to signalise the hour wherever military camps are stationed. At all the soldiers' barracks in Dublin the guards will turn out at 11 o'clock and present arms, and all troops will stand at attention for two minutes. In regard to the Post Office it is announced that there will be a cessation of all telephonic exchanges for the period mentioned.

THE CHURCHES.

In accordance with the suggestion of the Archbishop of Dublin short Services will be held in a number of churches connected with the Church of Ireland. These Services will begin in some cases at 10.30 o'clock, and in others at 10.45 o'clock, and after the silence at 11, a simple thanksgiving will be offered. Services are announced to be held in, amongst other places of worship, St. Patrick's Cathedral and Christ Church Cathedral. In St. Patrick's the Service will begin at 10.30 a.m., and the interval of silence will be observed; while at 4 p.m. there will be a Service, which will take the form of a memorial and thanksgiving. The Service in Christ Church Cathedral will begin at 10.45 a.m., and a pause will be made at 11 a.m. These Services, which will not last more than twenty minutes, will, as His Grace the Archbishop said in his letter in Saturday's Irish Times, enable those who have more leisure than others enjoyed in occupations, "to most fittingly commemorate the Divine gift of peace and the great sacrifices which won it, with due solemnity in the House of God."

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL.

To-morrow (Tuesday) Mattins will be sung at 10.30 a.m. The interval of silence will be observed, and will be followed by a Celebration of Holy Communion.

Evensong will be sung at 4 p.m., when the anthem, "Blest are the departed" (Spohr), will be sung. The Service will take the form of a memorial and thanksgiving.

ST. STEPHEN'S GREEN METHODIST CHURCH.

A Service of remembrance for those who died in the war will be held to-morrow (Tuesday) morning in St. Stephen's Green Methodist Church, Dublin. The Service, which will commence at 10.30 a.m., and conclude at 11 a.m., will be conducted by the minister of the church, Rev. James Grubb. The general public, and visitors to the city, are invited to attend.

CORRESPONDENTS' SUGGESTIONS.

A Correspondent writes to us to say that it would be an impressive and fitting tribute to the dead if the "Last Post" could be sounded from as many public places as possible, both in Dublin and in large towns throughout the country at 11 o'clock. In Dublin he suggests such places as the Nelson Pillar, the Wellington Monument, and St. Patrick's and Christ Church Cathedrals.

Another Correspondent asks if, at a given signal, the flags on public buildings and other establishments could not be lowered slowly and raised again at the end of the two minutes.

ARMY OBSERVANCE.

The War Office has issued instructions to the forces in Great Britain, Ireland, France, and Flanders for all guards to turn out and present arms, and for all troops to stand at attention for two minutes at 11 o'clock (local time) on Tuesday next. The King's message, accompanied by similar instructions, has been sent to the Army of the Rhine and all commands abroad. It is officially stated that work in all telephone exchanges throughout the country will also cease work for two minutes.

COATS' BONUS.

ALL CLASSES OF SHARES TO BENEFIT.

CAPITAL DOUBLED.

BONUS SHARES AND NEW SHARES AT PAR.

CASH PAYMENT ON PREFS.

ANALYSIS OF THE PROPOSALS.

The directors of J. and P. Coats, Ltd., in an official statement detailing their proposals for the Capitalisation of Reserves, explain that one of their objects is that the amount shown in the balance sheet as capital may be brought nearer to the actual capital employed in the business, thus reducing the apparently high rate of dividend which has hitherto given rise to misconception.

The scheme of readjustment provides—

CASH FOR PREFERENCE SHARES.

(a) That the existing Six per Cent. Cumulative Preference Shares receive their capital back in a liquidation with any arrears of dividend to date of winding up, and interest at 6 per cent. to actual date of payment, their position also being strengthened by the large increase in the amount ranking after them, both for dividend and capital.

CONVERSION OF PREFERRED-ORDINARY.

(b) That the existing Three Million Sterling Preferred-Ordinary Stock, which is non-preferential as to capital, but carries 20 per cent. preferential non-cumulative dividend, be converted into Three Million Cumulative B Preference Shares of £1 each, carrying a dividend of 6 per cent., and to rank after the existing Preference Shares.

(c) That £1,400,000 be taken from reserves, and 1,400,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each in respect thereof be issued to holders of Preferred-Ordinary Stock.

SHARE FOR SHARE TO ORDINARY.

(d) That a further amount of £5,900,000 be taken from reserves and a corresponding number of Ordinary Shares issued, divided as to 1,400,000 to Preferred-Ordinary stockholders in respect of their holding of an equal number of Ordinary Shares, and 4,500,000 to Ordinary shareholders, in both cases share for share,

NEW SHARES AT PAR.

(e) That the capital of the company be increased by issuing 2,950,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each, to be offered for cash at par in the proportion of 2,250,000 to the Ordinary shareholders and 700,000 to the Preferred-Ordinary stockholders, in respect to the 1,400,000 Ordinary Shares issued to them under paragraph C, being in both cases one new share for each two shares held.

On such proposals being carried out the company's share capital will stand at 20¼ millions.

The new capital to be issued for cash is required for the extension of mills and installations of new machinery and other purposes.

The doubling of the existing capital will reduce the 30 per cent. dividend by half, but the directors hope to maintain the 15 per cent. dividend.

The shareholders meet on the 20th inst.

ANALYSIS OF THE SCHEME.

The scheme just issued by the Coats Company is one of the most extraordinary proposals ever placed before shareholders, and at first sight appears most complicated, but on analysis the proposals fit in with the explanations given above.

The existing capital is as follows:—

6 per cent. £10 Pref. Shares	£2,500,000
20 per cent. £10 Preferred-Ord. Shares	3,000,000
Ordinary £1 Shares	4,500,000
Total Capital	£10,000,000

The new capital of the company, after the proposals take effect, will stand as under:—

"A" Pref. Shares	£2,500,000
"B" Pref. Shares	3,000,000
Ordinary Capital	14,750,000
	£20,250,000

The existing Pref. capital of £2,500,000, according to paragraph "A," is to be paid off in cash, with interest to date, while they are to be reconstituted as "A" Pref. Shares, and stand at their old level of capitalisation. In other words, the existing Pref. get a bonus of a sum equal to the entire amount of £2,500,000.

The existing, 20 per cent. Non-Cumulative Preferred-Ordinary for £3,000,000 are to be cancelled, and get instead £3,000,000 in 6 per cent. Cumulative "B" Pref. Shares (paragraph B), and, in addition, are to get first, 1,400,000 new Ordinary Shares; second, a further 1,400,000 new Ordinary Shares (paragraph D), both these issues free, and, third, to be allowed to apply for 700,000 further new Ordinary Shares at par, or £1 each (paragraph E).

The existing Ordinary Shares of £4,500,000 are to get a bonus of share for share, or £4,500,000, and will be entitled to apply for a further £2,250,000 at par, or £1 each.

These fresh capitalisations work out as follows:—

For Old 6 p.c. Pref. shares	£2,500,000
6 p.c. Pref. "A" Shares	2,500,000
For Old 20 p.c. Preferred Ord.	3,000,000
6 p.c. Pref. "B" Shares	3,000,000
New Ord. Shares, par. C, free	1,400,000
New Ord. Shares, par. D, free	1,400,000
New Ord. Shares, par. E, at par	700,000
For Old Ord. shares of	£4,500,000
New Ordinary Shares	4,500,000
New Ordinary Bonus	4,500,000
New Ordinary at £1 each	2,250,000

On this showing the existing 6 per cent. Pref. Shares ought to be worth £21—i.e., £10 in cash, and the existing market price of £11, which should be maintained for the "A" Preference Shares.

Taking the new Ordinary Shares as being worth £3 on the basis of the 15 per cent. dividend outlined in the scheme, together with the probable value of the 6 per cent. "B" Preference, and deducting the £700,000 cash payment, the present market value of the existing 20 per cent. Preferred-Ordinary is justified. The existing Ordinary Shares, on the basis of the scheme, will have 11,250,000 new Ordinary £1 Shares, for which they will have to pay £2,250,000, and, taking these new shares as value for £3 each, on the basis of a 5 per cent. return, the new Ordinary Shares would stand at £31,500,000, as against £45,000,000, the present market capitalisation at £10 of the old shares, which worked out, including the bonus, at a return of 4 per cent. I

If shareholders are content in the future with this 4 per cent. yield, our calculations as to the value of the new capital would be correspondingly altered, as we have assumed the return at 5 per cent. for the purposes of this analysis.

The amount of cash to be paid for the new Ordinary Shares, £2,950,000, will be almost absorbed in the payment of £2,500,000 in cash to the old Preference shareholders. £450,000 will be left for the purposes mentioned by the directors.

The total of the old reserves, etc., including the balance carried forward, was £14,396,428. By the scheme, £7,300,000 is to be capitalised, leaving a balance to credit of the reserves, etc., of £7,096,428.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

JIM LARKIN ARRESTED IN AMERICA.

A Reuter New York message of Sunday says:—Raids on the Radicals continued in Greater New York yesterday and this morning. More than 1,000 arrests have been made. Jim Larkin, the well-known Irish Labour leader, has been arrested on a charge of criminal anarchy. During the raids five tons of Radical literature were seized.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH.

The tone of Mr. Lloyd George's speech, observes the Daily Telegraph, is that of unshaken confidence and courage, and in this it answers to the temper of the whole people. Referring to the Russian situation, the journal says:—Mr. Lloyd George was wise in not pretending to a hopefulness which no man can feel.

The Daily Chronicle says:—The Prime Minister's concluding passage on the Russian situations is not free from obscurity, and some may see in it a suggestion for returning to the Prinkipo policy. We do not, however, read it quite in that sense.

Discussing Mr. Lloyd George's speech on Russia, the Daily News says:—In every approach to the Russian question, the one thing consistent about the Prime Minister has been his inconsistency. Mr. Lloyd George has put into operation no single policy except the attempted suppression of Bolshevism by the sword. The terms the Soviet Government professes itself willing to accept are essentially reasonable terms. To a Government destitute of a Russian policy, unless it is the policy of starvation, the chance ought to be a God-send. There is not much in the Prime Minister's record on Russia that does him credit. Much might be forgiven him if now he would go further, and take it.

AMERICA AND THE IRISH PROBLEM.

The Times Washington Correspondent writes: The news about the impending efforts of the Government to settle the Irish question is beginning to be keenly scrutinised here. It is being watched with interest by the practical, as opposed to the academic, politician. All that is hoped for is a workable scheme, or at least a scheme as immune as possible from any charge of partiality to this side or that, and still more from any charge of being an effort on the part of the British Government to shift the onus for failure on to Irish shoulders. The demand for a speedy settlement represents the feelings of all Americans, save anti-British agitators, whose best capital is the continuance of the Irish problem, not that the extremists are as powerless as their voices indicate. There are few indications that Mr. de Valera has been able to get very many convinced recruits to Republicanism. His vision is applauded by the average Irish-American as a symbol of the Irish grievance, rather than from the conviction that it presents a feasible solution.

Intense excitement prevailed, and some soldiers were injured, but not seriously. Earlier in the night, it is stated, soldiers broke the window of one of the houses, and this caused a disturbance.

AMERICAN COAL STRIKE.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST THE MINERS.

BIG ROUND-UP OF AGITATORS.

SUSPECTED RUSSIAN PLOT.

A Reuter's telegram from Indianapolis on Saturday says:—The hearing of the Government's motion to make permanent the temporary and ex-parte injunction granted on the petition of the Government against the coal-miners was held to-day. The United Mineworkers, through their counsel, asked that the proceedings should be postponed for a week or ten days in the hope that the strike might meanwhile be settled. Counsel for the Government objected to the delay, and the Court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction.

The unions were given until Tuesday evening to issue a cancellation of their strike order upon the representations made by the defence, that many Labour officials must be summoned long distances by telegraph.

HOPES OF SETTLEMENT.

An Exchange Company's message from Washington on Saturday says:—The United Press Correspondent telegraphs—Two conferences between Labour leader Gompers and Attorney-General Mitchell Palmer, and the announcement of a third conference to-night, have aroused the hope that the end of the coal strike is near. Mr. Gompers again conferred with Mr. Palmer after the Cabinet meeting, the latter declaring that the injunction would be withdrawn when the strike order had been rescinded. The situation has caused many officials to predict that the strike will end to-morrow.

Mr. Thomas T. Brewster, Chairman of the Coal Operators' Scale Committee, has charged the Bolsheviks with the responsibility for the present coal strike.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN CORK.

SOLDIERS AND POLICE ATTACKED.

Serious rioting took place in Cork last night arising out of an attack on a soldier by a civilian, who knocked him down and brutally maltreated him. A number of soldiers went to their comrade's aid, but as they were greatly outnumbered they would have been seriously injured but for the arrival of a force of police, who formed cordons, and pressed back the mob, which assumed threatening dimensions. The Constabulary were stoned in King street by a crowd, which freely discharged revolvers. The police later dispersed their assailants by baton charges. Several policemen received minor injuries. A number of soldiers were also injured by the mob. The disturbance went on for an hour, and a heavy armed picket arrived on the streets, and also an armoured car. A safe passage was then made for the soldiers, who returned to barracks.

Several civilians received treatment for injuries, including one man, treated at the South Infirmary, for a wound in the head caused by the butt end of a rifle. The disturbance was the worst which has occurred in Cork for a couple of years. No one appears to have been injured by the revolver firing.

ARAB PRINCE'S VISIT TO IRELAND.

The Prince Royal of Arabia, with his retinue, arrived in Ireland yesterday morning, and proposes to remain here for a week. The Royal visitors, who were received at Buckingham Palace last week, crossed by the Fishguard and Rosslare route on Saturday night, arriving at Rosslare at 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning. They travelled to Wexford, where accommodation was reserved for them at White's Hotel. The party are accompanied by Mr. H. St. J. B. Philby, C.I.E., I.C.S., who acts as interpreter. They were entertained by Mr. M. J. O'Connor, Crown Solicitor, and visited various places of interest in Wexford during the forenoon, afterwards lunching at Westlands with Mr. O'Connor. In the afternoon they drove in motors to the shooting lodge at the North Slob, where they were greatly interested in the shooting that took place. Before leaving the North Slob the Prince went for a drive in a donkey car, and expressed himself very pleased with his experience. In the evening the party left in a special saloon carriage for Dublin, and reached the Shelbourne Hotel shortly after 10 o'clock at night. The visitors include Faisal ibn Saud, son of the ruler of Central Arabia; Ahmad ibn Thunauyan, his cousin; Abdulla al Qusaibi, and three gentlemen-in-waiting. They will remain in Dublin until Wednesday morning, and during their stay they will interest themselves in the city and its famous and historical buildings before leaving for Belfast.

To-day the Prince will be received by the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge, and, after lunch, a visit will be paid to Dublin Castle and the Museum in Kildare street. Following lunch at the Shelbourne Hotel on Tuesday, the party will be received by the Provost of Trinity College, and will subsequently visit the University. On Wednesday morning they will leave Dublin for Belfast, where they are to be received and entertained by the Lord Mayor. Their programme in Belfast includes visits to Messrs. Harland and Wolff's shipyard, the York street Mills, and Messrs. Gallaher's tobacco factory.

DUBLIN HOSPITAL FUND.

The annual collection on behalf of the Dublin Hospital Sunday Fund was made yesterday in three hundred and fifteen places of worship in the Archdiocese of Dublin. In some churches the appeal on behalf of the Fund was made by special preachers. The morning was fine, and the Services generally were well attended. In their sermons the preachers emphasised the important character of the services rendered by the hospitals, especially to the sick and suffering poor, urged the necessity for their continued maintenance unhampered through lack of the funds necessary for their proper upkeep; directed attention to the heavy debt with which the hospitals are at present burdened; and called for increased liberality with a view to a substantial reduction of the large amount—estimated at between seventy and one hundred thousand pounds—standing to their debit.

Dr. J. Herzog, Chief Rabbi of the Jews resident in Dublin, joined in the general appeal, and in his address to the congregation assembled in the Synagogue he pressed the claims of the hospitals, and urged that a liberal and generous response should be given.

It is impossible at present to form any estimate of the amount realised by the collection. The exact amount can only be ascertained when the collections taken in the various places of worship have been brought to some central office and added together. Some time must elapse before that can be done, as in a number of cases the collecting boxes will have to be conveyed a considerable distance from outlying districts.

APPEAL BY PRIMATE OF IRELAND.

In upwards of three hundred places of worship in and near Dublin yesterday appeals were made on behalf of the Dublin Hospital Sunday Fund.

The Primate preached in Christ Church Cathedral at the morning Service from the words, "Luke, the beloved physician" (Colossians), iv., 14; and "Only Luke is with me" (2 Timothy, iv., 11). In the course of his sermon, the Primate reviewed the writings of St. Luke, pointing out how eminently qualified that Disciple was to describe the miracles of Christ, and contrasting his phraseology with that of St. Mark in his narratives of the cures recorded in the New Testament. He said that if to-day men sometimes spoke of the miracles of Jesus Christ as being a burden rather than a bulwark of the faith, how much greater would the burden be in the days of Christ in the flesh. He had answered those who said, "Lord, if Thou wilt," in the words, "Would to God that I could, but I cannot." Having spoken of the relationship between the cure of the body and the care of the soul, His Grace said that sixteen hospitals would share in the gifts of Hospital Sunday. On arriving in Dublin on Saturday night he asked a doctor who was in charge of one of the chief hospitals in the city how many patients had been taken care of in that hospital during the year, and the figures that the doctor gave him showed that 1,700 patients had slept in the beds of the hospital during the year, and that 17,000 persons had been treated as extern patients during the same year. These figures referred to only one hospital in Dublin. How many poor bread-winners would have joined the army of beggars, perhaps, had it not been for the Dublin hospitals? The very best skill and kindness was given to poor sufferers without fee or reward in these hospitals by the greatest of Irish physicians, and it was a remarkable fact that these poor people received in the Dublin hospitals the very same skilful treatment that those who were able to pay for it received. But they all reaped a very rich benefit, because it was in these hospitals that the skilled physicians had learned to become the surgeons that had made the Dublin hospitals renowned all the world over. It was in these hospitals, also, that the nurses, whose loving help could be obtained, had learned their business. It was not, however, on their behalf that he spoke, but it was for the sick poor that he asked for generous contributions. The Dublin hospitals were in sore need at present, and there was a great danger that some of the best of them would have to be closed, or, at any rate, that there would be a large number of beds in them in which no one would be allowed to lie. He asked for the generous help of the congregation that morning, and he knew that he would not ask in vain for their help to save their Dublin hospitals from poverty or extinction.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant was present at the Service, and there was a large congregation.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

DEMONSTRATION IN DUBLIN.

The Dublin Branch of the Irish Federation of Discharged and Demobilised Soldiers and Sailors held a demonstration on Saturday, in which a large number of members, including women, took part. Having assembled on Eden quay, the members marched via Sackville street to Phœnix Park, where a meeting was held near the Wellington column. The procession was headed by the Federation band, while bannerettes were carried displaying inscriptions demanding "the right to work and live," and declaring that work, not charity, was wanted. Mr. Sherwin presided, and amongst the speakers was Alderman Dr. McWalter, who said that he was informed that there were 30,000 demobilised men in Ireland, and out of that number about 12,000 were idle in Dublin. Mr. Michael Hannon, secretary, declared that it was not fair for the Government to give the man who had gone through hell £25, while £50 was given to a soldier in the Rhine Army. Resolutions were adopted demanding for ex-Servicemen a substantial increase in war gratuities, training facilities, preference for employment in Government departments, and the enforcement in Ireland of the national employment scheme; urging on the Government the necessity of extending the out-of-work donation to ex-Servicemen and of giving a gratuity to women discharged as physically unfit; calling on the Government to carry out its promises in connection with the Land Bill for soldiers; and declaring that the funds collected by the Irish War Memorial Committee should be devoted to the erection of a building which would be of benefit to the living and would be conducted on the lines of Iveagh House.

PROTEST MEETING IN CORK.

Members of the Cork Branch of the Discharged and Demobilised Soldiers' and Sailors' Federation yesterday took part in a procession, headed by their brass band. They entered the City Hall, where a crowded public meeting was held. Resolutions were adopted of protest against the Government's inaction regarding their grievances, including the small gratuity received on demobilisation as compared with the Colonial troops, and the retention in the Government and War Departments of civilians, while men who fought in the war were without employment.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

CORK RECTORY RAIDED.—A daring robbery was perpetrated on Saturday morning at Carrigrohane Rectory (situate four miles from City of Cork), the residence of Rev. Canon Gibbings, M.A., when silver plate to the value of about £60 was carried off. The robbers entered one of the diningroom windows, having first broken the upper pane of glass, and removed the fastener.

THE KNOCKLONG MURDERS.—The four men, Shanahan, Foley, Murphy, and Maher, charged with the murder of Sergeant Peter Wallace, R.I.C., and Constable Ml. Enright, R.I.C., at Knocklong Railway Station on the 13th May last, were brought before Mr. George McElroy, R.M., on Saturday at Limerick Prison, and again remanded.

WILFUL DAMAGE IN PROTESTANT CEMETERY.—An outrage, which has been strongly denounced by all creeds and classes in Boyle, took place on Friday at Assylinn Cemetery, near Boyle, when a large number of headstones in the Protestant portion of the cemetery were thrown down, and some completely broken. Wreaths and protection railings were also shattered.

FATAL HALLOW EVE PRANK.—At Dromore West (Co. Sligo) on Saturday, Michael Linnegan, farmer, was sent for trial on the charge of murdering Anthony Melton by shooting him on the night of the 31st October. Evidence showed that deceased, with a number of companions, was engaged in the ancient custom of pelting doors of neighbours with cabbages on Hallow Eve. When they arrived near the accused's house, he fired, and the charge entered Melton's head. The defence was that the accused was unpopular owing to local differences, and, mistaking the purport of the approaching party, fired in the air to scare them.

SNOW IN COUNTY TIPPERARY.—Snow and hail fell in Nenagh, Bansha, and Glen of Aherlow on Saturday morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE IRISH HORSE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Following up the very sensible letter from Mr. Ryan in your issue of the 7th inst. on the Irish horse, permit me to endorse his suggestions, and add a few of my own on the breeding of half-bred horses in Ireland. I shall be brief.

Do away with all nominations to mares in every county, and men will use their own judgment in selecting sires when they have to pay for the service. The result will be greater wealth to themselves and to the country, as the intelligent farmer will know the proper sire to select for his mare. The farmer is well able to pay a sire's fee, and he will see that it is to his advantage to breed for profit and pay for the best horse. Let every sire-owner buy and own his horse, charge his own fee, and make his own terms. Let no sire serve in the country without a sound certificate and pedigree, true to his kind. Let him be inspected by the Department of Agriculture, or a committee appointed for the purpose, and licensed. Let no nondescript sires be allowed to serve.—Yours, etc.,

MATHEMATICS AND POLITICS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—To repeat a remark of one's own indicates some degree of self-complacency. Sir Horace Plunkett, in the course of his speech delivered last week at the National Liberal Club, seems to have shown this self-complacency. He is reported to have told his audience that, after the Convention, he objected to half a Parliament for three-quarters of Ireland—"'the gift,' I said, 'of half a Parliament for three-quarters of my country.'" He wants, instead, a whole Parliament for three-quarters of his country. If the formula $\frac{1}{2} = \frac{3}{4}$ is wrong, is the formula $1 = \frac{3}{4}$, mathematically or politically, right? Indeed, to one, like myself, who has enjoyed no ascendancy and feels no oppression under the Legislative Union, Sir Horace Plunkett's demand is for something even more disproportionate. According to the last Census the population of England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland is about forty-six millions. He is, therefore, claiming a whole Parliament for two twenty-thirds of my country.

Mathematics is an exact science; but some things there are which even mathematics cannot do—for example, the squaring of the circle. Mathematicians, therefore—very sensibly—seldom or never become angry over such fancy problems. Politics, on the other hand, according to Aristotle and Edmund Burke, is not an exact science. In the invention of schemes of government anything like the consistency, adequacy, and precision of geometry and arithmetic is beyond the wit of man. Why, then, instead of making reckless haste to solve difficult or insoluble political problems, do not the votaries of politics imitate the good temper of the mathematicians? Constitution-mongers should at least refrain from language that may prompt or encourage wickedness to find a tragic equation. Even if a fondly-imagined polity could be realised, of what avail to chase its realisation by means so unfavourable to happiness, virtue, and charity?

The mathematical question proposed in the Gospels runs:—"What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" And what shall it profit a country either? Given that such everlasting damnation—of a country and its cause—were not inevitable, given that to execute a theoretically superior plan of government were as innocent and easy as child's play, nevertheless the total result—experience of mortals being part of the data—would certainly be disappointing.—Yours, etc.,

THE IRISH PACKING COMPANY, LIMITED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Having learned from the Press and otherwise that certain views are held as to the aims and objects of the above company, we, as resident Irish members of the directorate, think it right to remove any impressions that may prevail by reason of some wholly erroneous statements that are being made.

It is said (1) that the company intends to create a monopoly, so that after a time the company would be the only buyers of fat cattle in Ireland; (2) that the company is only an offshoot of the American Meat Trust. As regards monopoly, it must be apparent to any thinking person that it would be utterly impossible for the company, even if it was desired, to bring about such a state of things, as it would not be within the power of the company to handle anything like the number of fat cattle that are now being produced in Ireland, which number is likely to increase considerably in the future. The policy of the company as to buying will be to purchase through their own buyers from farmers and dealers all over the country, either alive or dead-weight.

Further, farmers or dealers may, if they like, send their cattle to the factory where they will be slaughtered, shipped, and marketed through the company's organisation, on a commission basis, the full amount realised for the beef and hide being returned to the owners and market value paid for the offal. The owners could see their cattle weighed at the factory and at any other part of the procedure. There is no wish or intention to interfere with any existing interest in connection with the cattle trade.

It is wholly untrue that the Irish Packing Company is in any way connected with the American Meat Trust, nor is there the remotest intention that anything of this kind should take place. The company was established solely with the object of starting an industry in Ireland that we are absolutely confident must be beneficial for farmers, breeders, and dealers of cattle, etc. The necessary premises are being erected with all expedition in Drogheda. They would have been completed this month but for delay due to strikes, the difficulty of getting the necessary steel work, and other causes.—Yours, etc.,

BRAY MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I was present in the Town Hall, Bray, last night, when Mr. E. A. Aston exemplified the working of a model election under proportional representation. He made his subject quite interesting, and that his audience—largely composed of workingmen—understood it was evident by the fact that only two mistakes were made in filling up the voting papers. Under proportional representation the responsible section of ratepayers in Bray have an opportunity of securing representation on the Council that has not been afforded them for years; but, so far as I can ascertain, no steps are being taken to utilise it, notwithstanding that the rates are over 13s. in the £, with every prospect of being considerably increased in the near future. No local organisation exists to further their interests, and one is forced to the opinion that, as a body, they are too superior to bother over the composition of the Council.

The ward in which I reside will return seven members—some years ago all its representatives were Unionist—and, if it were properly organised, there is every reason to believe that candidates who would have the real interests of the ratepayers and township at heart would be returned, and the same applies to the other two wards. Certainly, the responsible body of ratepayers should be in a position to exercise a controlling influence in the affairs of the township; otherwise we may look forward to an unrestrained Labour Council.

The Earl of Meath has always taken a deep interest in Bray, and, if he could see his way to call a meeting to discuss the matter, it would, I am sure, do much to dispel the present fatal apathy displayed by such a large section of ratepayers, and might result in their contesting the elections in January next.—Yours, etc.,

GIRL WORKERS IN CITIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—We beg to draw the attention of your readers to a case which exemplifies one of the evils of the industrial system for women in Ireland. One evening this week one of our members came to Denmark House and reported that she had been dismissed from her employment, on twelve hours' notice, for an act of carelessness. She has been working in a city restaurant for the past few months, and "lived in." The wage paid during the learning period is only a few shillings per month; consequently the girl had no money. Her home is in Sligo, and she is seventeen years of age. But for the fact that she was a member of the Irish Women Workers' Union, and that we were able to insist upon fairer treatment from her employer, it is difficult to imagine what the girl could have done, especially in view of the present difficulty as to lodgings.

There are many people in Dublin anxious to save girls from the perils of city life. We contend that this can best be achieved by preventing girls from being driven on the streets through economic necessity. In many workshops and factories the practice of dismissing women employés at an hour's or a day's notice (often for quite trifling offences) prevails. It is a practice which we are doing all we can to abolish, and we feel it to be one of the matters in which trade unions should, for both moral and humanitarian reasons, be strongly backed by public opinion.—Yours, etc.,

LOUIE BENNETT,
Hon. Sec., Irish Women Workers' Union.

THE COST OF FOOD PRODUCTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The letter which you publish to-day on the cost of food production is at once very interesting and very tantalising. Nothing is more important than an exact knowledge of what food actually costs to the producer. The figures given in the letter would seem to prove that farmers and Food Controller alike have been extravagant in their statements and estimates. But then we want to know how the writer gets his figures. Are they merely what he thinks he has to pay, or are they based on a careful system of accounts, such as a chartered accountant would approve? Does he farm in some peculiarly favoured locality or under specially favourable conditions as to supplies and labour?

If he can write another letter showing that his accounts would bear audit, and that there is nothing abnormal in the conditions which govern his farming, he will place the whole community under a debt of gratitude. May I further suggest that, for the benefit of the uninitiated, he should place the Controller's price in contrast with his own.—Yours, etc.,

LECTURE AT THE ABBEY THEATRE.—An illustrated lecture on "Honolulu, Japan, Korea, and China" was delivered last night at the Abbey Theatre by Mr. James T. McCarthy, before an appreciative audience. The lecturer brought his hearers over vast territories in an address remarkable for its simplicity and clearness. His lecture was illustrated by some really beautiful examples of colour photography, which did full justice to the lovely scenery depicted.

THE PREMIER'S REVIEW.

there to reflect and to reconsider the situation an opportunity may offer itself for the Great Powers of the world to promote peace and concord in that great country.

REASONS FOR OPTIMISM.

Apart from Russia, the outlook is good. Two things are needed now—work and confidence. (Cheers.) The last few months I and others have been doing our best to urge the importance of greater production. I was glad to read in that magnificent oration delivered by M. Clemenceau at Strasbourg that he laid stress on the importance of work. That is the salvation of all our countries. I must point out one other symptom which is common to all countries, and that is in every land you find men who devote themselves and their energies and their talents to undermining public confidence, and to rattling the public nerve. You find them everywhere. They are not indigenous to this country. Your will find in every land what I call the daily scare type of journalist. Every variety of hideousness is worked up to terrify His Majesty's subjects. (Laughter.) Grinning Jack-o-Lanterns placed on the national high road to frighten the wayfarer. It is a sign of improved nerve in this country that people are treating these expedients more and more with contemptuous good humour. (Laughter and cheers.) It is sometimes done for mischief, sometimes for profit, and sometimes because the perpetrators cannot bear to see any concern prosper in which they themselves have not the chief direction. The grounds of hope are increasing on all hands. We are certainly not free from labour troubles, but they are less menacing than they were at the beginning of the year. There is a better feeling between capital and labour. (Hear, hear.) If we are heavily in debt we owe nine-tenths of it to each other. Nine-tenths of the public debt is held by men and women in this country. It is all in the family—(laughter)—and we are not going to sell the old home to anybody. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Walter Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, replying to the toast of the Imperial Forces of the Crown, remarked that some of their advisory suggested that they should mark the great victory, in which the Navy had played so fine a part, by getting rid of their Navy altogether. That was not the view of the Board of the Admiralty, who were determined that their Navy should be efficient and sufficient for the work it had to do, that it should be kept abreast of the times, that they should avail themselves of discovery and invention, and that it should be, whatever its size, the very best Navy that they could possibly have. (Cheers.) They believed, and he believed the country shared their view, that a strong and efficient British Navy was the best security for their own homes, and the best security for the peace of the world (cheers).

Mr. Winston Churchill, War Minister, replying for the Army and the Air Force, implored them not to be too hard on the Army now that the war was over. They might want it again some day, in spite of the League of Nations, of which they all hoped so much. They must preserve in that island the comprehension and the study of the art and science of war.

DR. HALLINAN AND WOMEN'S FASHIONS.

Dr. Hallinan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Limerick, in a letter to the Press on the subject of the fashion in women's dress, says that the fashion evil is widespread and general, affecting every grade and class of society, and he adds that it is painful to observe that Irish Irelander women, who profess their abhorrence of the Anglicisation which is going on in their midst, fall victims to it themselves. Dr. Hallinan adds that he had seen it stated, on what he considered to be reliable authority, that the principal designers of the modern fashions in women's dress are men, and they are generally Jews or Freemasons, who seek, amongst other means, to uproot Christianity by the introduction into Christian society of their indecent dresses.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE.

An interesting function took place on Saturday afternoon at the Trinity College Officers' Training Corps Headquarters, when the newly-formed pipe and drum band of the St. John Ambulance Corps was formally inspected and taken over by the Commissioner, Sir John Lumsden, K.B.E. Some of the pipes and drums, which belonged to the Royal Dublin Fusiliers Band, were recently placed at the disposal of the Brigade. Corps Officer A. J. M'William, with the assistance of Pipe-Major Andrews, of the Dublin University Officers' Training Corps Band, has formed and trained a band of eight pipes and six drums, and the performance given by them on this occasion reflects much credit on both these gentlemen.

Mr. M'William has made a very successful design of a kilt uniform combining the Brigade colours, black and white, with a dark green plaid and skirt. After the inspection the band marched with military precision as they played some half dozen airs from their repertoire. The band consists of the following members:—Pipe-Major Andrews, Drum-Major M'Vey, Pipers Steel, Ruth, Roberts, Smith, Kavanagh, Roe, Sweetenham, Wynne; Drummers Tugwell, Kennedy, Ruth, Barry, Murphy.

DUBLIN RESIDENCE SEARCHED.

A force of armed military and police arrived shortly after 8 o'clock on Saturday morning at the residence of Mrs. Whelan, 16 Lower Mount street, Dublin, and searched the premises. The garden at the rear at the house was dug by the military while the police were making investigations inside, but it is stated that only an antique revolver was found. As the party left, in the two motor lorries in which they arrived, there was some booing by members of a crowd, and cries of "Up, the Republic" were heard.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT SOWING FLAXSEED.

We publish elsewhere an announcement by the Flax Supplies Committee, whose offices are at Whitehall Buildings, Ann street, Belfast. Full particulars are given of the qualities available, with the prices per bag, ex store, Belfast, of a large quantity of sowing flaxseed which the Committee expect to have for sale in Ireland throughout the coming season. Orders addressed to the Administrator, Flax Supplies Committee, Ann street, Belfast, should be sent in, either for immediate delivery or for forward delivery, not later than 31st March. Orders will be treated in the order in which they are received. The supply is stated to be limited.

NEW ISSUES.

To-day we publish the prospectuses of five industrial companies appealing for subscriptions to Debentures, Preference, Preferred Ordinary, and Ordinary shares, totalling a value of £2,000,000. Three of these are connected with the manufacture of motor cars, one is a London picture house, and the other a company for the manufacture of briquettes. The choice is not so wide as that offered on Monday last, but very little fault can be found with the candour of the prospectuses. These may not appeal to the widest circle of investors, but there are large numbers who favour the motor industry, picture theatres, and fuel production who will give the appeals the careful perusal and consideration which they deserve.

WOLSELEY MOTORS, LIMITED.

This is an offer of £1,100,000 6½ p.c. 1st Mortgage Debenture Stock at the price of 99½ p.c. in Wolseley Motors, Ltd., by B.S.T. (Birmingham). £419,000 of the issue will be given in exchange for £442,000 p.c. 1st Mortgage Debenture Stock outstanding at the rate of £95 of the new Stock for £100 of the old. The balance of the new Stock £1,280,100 was purchased by B.S.T. at 95. £180,100 has been sold, and the balance is now offered by B.S.T. through Barclay's Bank and branches. The new Stock is repayable by annual drawings out of a Cumulative Sinking Fund at 105 p.c. over 25 years, and for this purpose a sum of £140,250 will be set aside each year. The Stock will be transferable in multiples of £1. The Ordinary shares of the company are 1,500,000 of £1 each, and of these 1,000,000 have been issued to Vickers, Ltd., and the remainder are held in reserve for future issue. The Chairman of Wolseley's states that since the armistice the demand for Wolseley motor cars has been unprecedented, and so great is the volume of orders which customers at home and abroad desire to place with the company that it will be necessary for some considerable time to adopt a system of apportionment in order to secure equitable distribution of the company's productions. The directors feel, therefore, that the right policy to pursue is to meet the demand as quickly as possible, and at the same time to assist generally in the re-establishment of the country's trade by a carefully considered and comprehensive policy. The company has purchased an auxiliary company at Ward End, Birmingham, and the value of this firm, together with the Wolseley Works at Adderley Park and elsewhere are given in the balance sheet at £2,886,241. The proceeds of the new issue will add another million to the assets. With regard to profits, the auditors certify that, during the last eight years, after providing for depreciation of buildings, machinery, and plant and excess profit duty, the amount of profit shown in 1911 was £90,940, and this has steadily risen to £316,814 for the year ending September 30th, 1918. In arriving at these figures no account is taken of the profits made by Electric and Ordnance Accessories Company (just purchased) in respect of the departments taken over from them, which have been quite satisfactory, nor has any allowance been made for the profit which it is expected will be earned by the addition to the company's manufacturing capacity resulting from the new issue. It will thus be seen that the Debentures now offered are well secured as to assets, and the profits are amply sufficient to cover the interest and sinking fund more than twice over. The issue may, therefore, be classed as a good second-class industrial investment. The list of applications will close on Thursday next. (Prospectus, page 9.)

STOLL'S PICTURE THEATRE (KINGSWAY), LIMITED.

The National Provincial and Union Bank of England and branches will receive applications at par for £100,000 7 per cent. First Mortgage Debenture Stock, 150,000 Cumulative 8½ per cent. Preference shares, and 200,000 Ordinary shares of 10s. each, being part of the capital of the Stoll Picture Theatre (Kingsway), London, formerly known as the London Opera House. The Debenture Stock will be redeemable on or before 31st December, 1940, at 105 per cent. by means of an annual sinking fund of £5,000 (to be increased if, and when, the remainder of the Debenture Stock (£50,000) is issued, commencing in the year 1921. The Stoll Picture Theatre in Kingsway is one of the finest places of this class of entertainment in London, and has a holding capacity of about 2,500. During the twelve months from 1st July, 1918, to 30th June, 1919, nearly one-and-a-half millions of visitors witnessed the pictures. The purchase price for the Picture Theatre is £300,000, payable as to £48,250 in Ordinary shares, and as to the balance in cash or fully-paid Preference shares, at the discretion of the company. No part of the Debenture Stock will be applied in payment of the purchase price. The ground rent of the property is £4,975 per annum. It is proposed to instal a restaurant and tea rooms in a portion of the premises not used for other purposes, and a licence has been applied for to the London County Council. On the basis of the profits to the end of June, 1919, there would be a balance of £33,841 available (subject to payment of Excess Profits Duty, if any) for dividend on the Ordinary shares and for reserves, without taking into account any profit to be derived from the restaurant and tea rooms if the restaurant proposal is proceeded with. The value of the property to be acquired is certified by the surveyors and valuers at £308,000. The net profits for the year ending 30th June last are certified at £58,591, and since then there has been an increase over the corresponding weeks in 1918. The service of the Debenture Stock and Preference shares will absorb annually £24,750, leaving the balance, as stated above, for the Ordinary. Sir Oswald Stoll will act as Chairman and Managing Director for a period of seven years. The vendors will pay all the preliminary expenses, excluding the underwriting commission. The yields on the Debenture Stock and Preference shares are high, and will appeal to those who favour an investment in the capital of places of entertainment of this description. The subscription list will close on or before Friday next. (Prospectus, Page 10.)

THE PULLINGER ENGINEERING CO., LTD.

The company has been formed for the purpose of acquiring the business of Pullinger and Company, and the leasehold premises of the concern at Latona road, Peckham, London, S.E., with all its plant, machinery, stock, and contracts; also the registered designs, name and goodwill of the "Speedy" motor car, and the business of the Inwood Motor and Engineering Co., Ltd., together with the leasehold premises of that company at Upper Richmond road, Putney, London, S.W. The capital is £250,000 in shares of £1 each, and of these 200,000 are now offered through Barclays Bank and branches, and the British Linen Bank, Scotland. The object of the company is to assemble and turn out in mass formation the "Speedy" two-seater light car at the popular price of £110. The trade has already placed orders for 10,000 of these cars to retail at this price, and within the past six weeks orders have been received for a further thousand from the general public. The Speedy car is said to be one of the finest on the market to-day at the price, and thousands of pounds have been spent in bringing it to its present state of perfection. Mr. Pullinger, the managing director, is one of the leaders in the motor manufacturing world, and he is confident that within two months of going to allotment he can turn out 100 cars weekly, and within a further two months from that time he can increase the output to 200 cars a week. With an output of 5,000 cars per annum he is confident of showing a net profit of £50,000, and those who believe in Mr. Pullinger's ability to realise his estimate will support him by assisting to provide the modest capital now asked for by the company. The list will close on or before Friday next.—(Prospectus Page 10.)

PREMIER BRIQUETTE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Subscriptions are invited at par through Barclay's Bank and branches for 100,000 Preferred Ordinary Shares (part of a total of 120,000) of £1 each in the Premier Briquette Company, Ltd., Royal Forest of Dean, Gloucestershire. The capital also includes 100,000 Ordinary Shares of 1s. each. The Pref. Ordinaries (the whole of the issue of which has been underwritten) will receive 7½ per cent. per annum, and one-half of the remaining profits available for dividend. The company is formed to acquire the Crown leases of certain partly worked and partly virgin coal lands in the Royal Forest of Dean. The company will immediately proceed to develop the properties by re-opening and extending an old level, and, simultaneously, will erect a thoroughly up-to-date briquette factory. After providing for the cost of the erection of the works and buildings and of the plant, the payment of the purchase price and the promotion expenses, the proceeds of this issue will leave for working capital the sum of over £30,000. The property and works' site are well situated as regards road, rail, and ocean transport, and there are ample supplies of water and labour. The material for making the briquettes has been tested, and has been found to be of high calorific value, and the estimate of quantity available is over three and a half million tons. The cost of putting the project in full working order is put at £39,500, and with a plant capable of producing 110,000 tons per annum it is estimated that there would be a clear profit, after paying all charges, of £55,000 per annum. The vendor gets the one hundred thousand Ordinary Shares and £10,500 in cash. In view of the present price of fuel the company, if well managed, should prove a profitable venture; but the shares are a speculative industrial issue. The list will close on or before Monday next, November 17. (Prospectus Page 11.)

G. W. K. (1919), LTD., MAIDENHEAD, BERKS.

The share capital of this company is £300,000 in 275,000 6 p.c. (tax free up to 6s. in the pound) Cumulative Participating Preference Shares of £1 each, and 200,000 Ordinary Shares of 2s. 6d. each. The participating prefs., of which 250,000 are now offered for subscription, will, after getting their own dividend, receive one-fifth of the surplus profits. The company has been formed to take over the patent rights, motor works, land, plant, machinery, and other assets of G.W.K. at Cordwalles, Maidenhead, Berks. This light car was first produced in 1911, and has stood the test of over six years' usage as a commercial vehicle. The new model has a 4-cylinder engine of 10.8 h.p., R.A.C. rating, which develops over 22 h.p. at 2,300 r.p.m., and can be produced and sold either as a 2 or 4-seater for £275. The promoters aim at producing 200 cars per week for the home and colonial markets, and orders are already in hand for supplying 5,000 cars in the United Kingdom alone, representing a retail value of more than £1,375,000. Deliveries are now being made of the new 1919 model. On the basis of an output of 200 cars per week, the annual profits are estimated at £200,000, and the sum required to pay the interest on the present issue of preference shares inclusive of income tax is £23,600. The purchase price is £50,000, payable: half in preference shares and half in ordinary shares, so that the directors will have at their command all the proceeds of the issue, except the promotion expenses, for developing the business on the lines set forth in the prospectus. The subscription list will open to-day, and close on Friday with the London County, Westminster, and Parr's Bank, Limited.—(Prospectus Page 11.)

SOCIAL JOTTINGS AT THE PHŒNIX PARK RACES.

Sandwiched in between a wet Friday and a dark damp Sunday, Saturday provided one of those pleasant surprises for which the Irish climate is renowned, and which, indeed, the racing community more or less expects, especially when the sporting venue is Phœnix Park, where many times the "winter of our discontent" has been lightened by radiant sunshine. So it was on Saturday, when, though the wind was cold and the ground very damp, the sun shone brightly from a blue sky, and cast a gay spell over the large company that filled the stands and the enclosures, and showed from the first minute to the last that they enjoyed the sport. The earlier hour at which racing began was greatly appreciated, especially by those coming long distances—and they were many—as they were able to see the last event and still get home before nightfall. The racing was extremely interesting, claiming the closest attention of the spectators, the majority of whom backed their fancies freely, while the scrutiny that the horses underwent in the paddock before each race was amusingly critical, as were many of the comments of those unlearned in the jargon of the turf. But it is just these quaint confabulations, the hurried consultations, the pleasant strolling backwards and forwards between the paddock and the enclosure, which imbue the Park meetings with that feeling of intimacy and camaraderie which constitutes their greatest attraction for the general public.

The Lord Lieutenant was present, and occupied the Viceregal Stand, where many friends were invited to join His Excellency during the afternoon. His Excellency showed his keen interest in the racing, and made various journeys to the paddock to see certain horses before the events in which they were engaged.

Sir John and Lady Arnott dispensed hospitality to many friends at tea time on their private stand, where there was much coming and going during the afternoon.

Though a great many ladies were present, the display of fashions was, perhaps, less striking than usual, possibly owing to the vogue of the long coats, which were almost universal wear, and whether of fur, velour, or cloth, invariably concealed the wearer's gown. Nevertheless, they constituted a distinctive feature, and were much admired, as were the bright hued felt and velour hats, which lent such a welcome touch of colour amongst the sombre coloured toilettes. Lady Eva Wyndham Quin, wearing a long coat of handsome sealskin, with a dark fur collar and muff, and small black hat, viewed several of the races from the Viceregal Stand, as did Lady Milbanke, whose beautiful sealskin coat was worn with a hat of vivid amethyst velvet. Lady Margaret Forbes was in dark blue cloth, with a handsome fur stole and dark hat. The Hon. Georgina O'Brien wore a cloth coat and skirt, trimmed with lines of black silk braid and a large fur collar, and the Hon. Ellie O'Brien had one of the new wrap cloaks of pastel blue tweed, with white fox furs. The Hon. Lady McCalmont wore a black suit, with a small black hat, and the Hon. Mrs. Dewhurst had a seal coat trimmed with fur, and a very smart hat. Lady Goulding, who came with Sir William Goulding, was in black and a sealskin coat, with a bright red hat. Mrs. Dames-Longworth wore a long sealskin coat and a hat with outspread creamy white wings, and Miss Dames-Longworth was attired in navy blue cloth, with dark grey furs. Mrs. Synnott was accompanied by Miss Lily Synnott, wearing a long coat and skirt of the fashionable shade of rust brown, and a small fur-trimmed toque. Mrs. Batten had a fawn costume and fur coat, with a brown hat; and Mrs. Frank Brook wore a dark costume with furs. Mrs. Waldron, who came up from Newbridge with General Waldron, was dressed in brown tweed, with beaver fur. Captain and Mrs. Keith were accompanied by Miss Pim. Mrs. Keily, in dark brown cloth with furs, brought Miss Keily, in a bright red-brown tweed suit. Mrs. Hugh Holmes had a dark olive green coat, with smoked fox stole and a small black hat; and Miss Sutton was wearing a handsome fur coat over a tabac tweed gown. Miss Kathleen Lloyd had a dark blue coat, trimmed with fur, and a light mushroom-coloured cloth hat with fringed edge, and Miss F. Cheevers wore a pale blue blanket cloth coat, with deep hem and draped collar of sealskin, and a blue and silver toque. Miss Radley's coat and skirt were of red frieze. Lady Gardner was in dark brown, with a long coat with dark fur trimming. Miss Musgrove had a brown check tweed costume, with stone marten stole and muff. Miss Jameson's tailor-made suit was worn with becoming furs, and Miss Jervis had a brown cloth wrap, with an ermine stole.

Owing to the dampness underfoot people kept more on the stand than usual, rendering identification more difficult, but amongst those noticed in the various groups were:—General Sir Bryan Mahon, Sir Plunket Barton, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McNeile, Colonel and Mrs. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Miss Stewart, Mrs. Bolton, Mr. Percy La Touche, Mr Edward Saunderson, Captain Arnott, Mr. Arnott, Miss Moriarty, Sir Walter Nugent, Mr. Laidlaw, Captain and Mrs. Dennis, Miss Hughes, Sir Robert Gardner, Mr. Musgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Peard, Miss E. Russell, Mr. W. W. West, Miss Mease, Miss L. Thompson, Mr. and Miss Martin, Mr. H. Pack-Beresford, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Hugh Holmes, Mr. R. Slade, Captain Moore, Mr Fitzgerald, etc. A number of the officers of the Dublin Garrison were present, but, as many came in mufti, the khaki tinge was less obvious amongst the crowd as on former occasions.

THE STRIKE AT MESSRS. WILLIAMS AND WOODS, LTD.

Messrs. Williams and Woods explain in our advertising columns the nature and cause of the recent strike of their employés, and set out the terms of settlement, stating that the workers had returned, after five weeks, on virtually the same terms as those offered to them when they went out.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED WEAK.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, SATURDAY.

Stocks opened strong, but general reversals occurred on the announcement that the Government would continue their injunction proceedings against the bituminous steel strikers. Steels, Equipments, and Motors were freely offered, losing 2 to 7 points, some reaching the lowest point of the week. Oils, Shippings, and Rails also reflected the pressure, the early gains being cancelled, the market closing weak and near the lowest point.

Portrait of Mrs. E. GOFF, of Deeside Cottage, Saltney Ferry, near Chester, who writes:—
"For five years I suffered greatly from an ulcerated leg, which at one time was covered with open wounds from knee to foot, there being as many as 21 wounds in it at once. I tried all sorts of preparations and attended the Infirmary, but nothing seemed to do me any good, and I was sent away from the Infirmary as Incurable. One day my daughter saw Clarke's Blood Mixture advertised in a newspaper, and read it to me, and I decided to give it a trial. Finding the first lot was doing me good I persevered with it, and after taking four bottles my leg was completely healed. All this happened some eight years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble ever since."
Clarke's Blood Mixture by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in all cases of Eczema, Scrofula, Scurvy, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Boils, Pimples, Sores and Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Gout, etc. Pleasant to take, and free from anything injurious. THE IRISH LIFE-SAVING CHAMPIONSHIP.

PEMBROKE (DUBLIN) v. VICTORIA (BELFAST).

The final competition for the Irish Life-Saving Shield took place in the Royal Hibernian Military School Swimming Bath on Saturday last before a large attendance of spectators. Pembroke, by their defeat of two Leinster teams, established their claim to the Leinster Championship, whilst the Victoria Club, Belfast, in addition to being the Ulster champions, were the holders of the shield for some years. The competition consists of theoretical and practical tests of life-saving and resuscitation of the apparently drowned, and the competitors are required to undergo the water tests fully clothed. Mr. H. Leitch, Hon. Secretary, I.A.S.A., Belfast, and Mr. A. J. Cullen, Clontarf, acted as judges, and Captain R. A. Dench, Dublin University, controlled the contest. After a very keenly contested competition, lasting upwards of an hour, Pembroke were declared the winners by four points, the scores being:—Pembroke, 171½ points; Victoria, 167½ points. It is close on twenty years since the shield was held by a Dublin club, and Pembroke well deserved their victory. The following comprised the winning team:—H. F. Case (capt.), [...], E. T. J. Archer, D. J. Williams.

PHŒNIX PARK MEETING—SATURDAY.

THE LORD LIEUTENANT PRESENT.
INTERESTING RACING.

Despite the bitterly cold weather, there was a splendid attendance at Phœnix Park on Saturday, and in every respect the wind-up of the Club's season was most successful. There were plenty of runners and exciting racing, whilst backers fared right well, and the company, which included His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, cannot but have been pleased with their experience.

On the strength of his second to Tut Tut at Leopardstown, Recruiter was staunchly supported for the Quickstep Plate, and he ran well, accounting for everything except Knight of Greenane, who always had the foot of the opposition, and landed a nice stake for Maddenstown Lodge. Cylla's 10lb. penalty stopped her, and she never flattered. Half-way through the race All Serene unfortunately burst a blood vessel and dropped dead, a stroke of bad luck for Lord Savile, for whom the horse had scored a week earlier at Leopardstown, previous to which he carried off two other events this season. T. Burns, who rode him on Saturday, luckily escaped serious injury, but was unable to ride again during the afternoon.

In the Five Furlong Handicap, Rocklow made amends for his narrow defeat by Cylla at Leopardstown, though he had to be hard driven to dispose of the attention of Little Doon. Tinode failed to reproduce his Foxrock running, but Granard, who was conceding weight to most of the others, acquitted himself creditably. Poots proved the good thing the betting indicated for the Selling Nursery Plate, at the start of which Look Aside swerved badly and interfered with Playactor and Chicago May, whose prospects were thus destroyed, and when put up to auction the winner was purchased for 400 sovs. by Mr. R. J. Duggan, the owner of Star of Amen, which finished second. Poots is trained by Captain Bewicke, who, after a stay of five years at the Curragh, during which period he enjoyed a fair share of success, returned to England on Saturday night, the majority of his horses in training having preceded him to Belsay, his place in Northumberland.

Donati's Comet, who created such a favourable impression at the October meeting here, put up a good performance in the chief event of the day, the Somerton Plate, her success being achieved in the style of a very useful two-year-old. A furlong from the end the Curragh winner, Athasi, threw out a determined challenge, and got to her quarters, but without any appreciable effort she drew right away and won in a common canter from her thirteen opponents. Her stable companion, Wizard of the North, who was expected to supplement the winnings in the Mile Plate, only partially succeeded in doing so. Running none too generously in the early stages of the race, his chance seemed hopeless a quarter of a mile from home, and Wild Pam, having taken the measure of Brickeen Bridge a furlong out, the Northern representative looked all over the winner, but then the favourite began to put in some strong work, and catching Wild Pam on the post, made a dead-heat. A division was agreed to, and a fine day's sport concluded with the Welter Plate, in which Cuilcha scored a runaway victory in the Kilbroney colours. Details:—

Llangussie began slowly, and Ambitieux made the running from Little Orby, Cylla, Recruiter, Mist, and Knight of Greenane, with Waterford Glass next. Half way down All Serene ruptured a blood vessel and dropped dead, while Recruiter drew into the lead, followed by Ambitieux and Knight of Greenane. The latter assumed command a furlong from home, and won easily by a length and a half; half a length divided second and third. Waterford Glass was fourth, Little Orby fifth, Cylla sixth, and Mist next.

Sir Bryan was fourth, Marriage Gift fifth, Tinode sixth, and Brown Label next.

Look Aside swerved at the start, and going across Chicago May and Play Actor, all three lost ground Prudent Girl, striking off the quickest, led from Poots, Tillage, Alien Daisy, and Star of Amen, and so they ran for half a mile, when Poots drew out, followed by Star of Amen and Alien Daisy, and won by a length and a half; a length separated second and third. Tillage was fourth, Sandy Row fifth, Wee Dote sixth, and Prudent Girl next.

Irish Glass whipped round at the start, and Parachute showed the way to Athasi, Donati's Comet, She She, Bessie Belle, and Perceptive. There was no change till a furlong from home, when Donati's Comet drew out, followed by Athasi, and making the remainder of the running, the favourite won in a canter by four lengths; three lengths divided second and third. Two furlongs from home Brickeen Bridge lost her place, and Wild Pam showed in front, followed by Late Edition, Metallic, and Wizard of the North. B.S.T. (BIRMINGHAM) LIMITED,
OF 3 LOMBARD STREET, LONDON, E.C.3,

to receive as Bankers on their behalf Acceptances of the Offer for Sale at 99½ per cent. of £1,100,000 6½ per cent. FIRST MORTGAGE DEBENTURE STOCK of WOLSELEY MOTORS, LIMITED, payable as follows:—

On application	£9½ per cent.

On the 1st day of March, 1920	40 per cent.

The Debenture Stock which is limited to £1,700,000 was authorised by the Resolutions set out below and will be secured by a Trust Deed made between the Company of the one part and B.S.T. (Birmingham), Limited, of the other part. By such Trust Deed a specific first charge is created on the Company's freehold and leasehold land and buildings, as set out in the Schedule thereto, together with the fixed plant in connection therewith, and in addition a floating charge on the Company's other property, assets and undertaking. Such charge does not prevent the Company (until the security becomes enforceable) from selling, alienating, mortgaging, charging, or otherwise disposing of the general assets in the ordinary course, and for the purpose of carrying on its business. A sum of £140,250 is to be provided by the Company annually, commencing to accrue from the 1st October, 1919, which, subject to the discharge of interest on the outstanding Debenture Stock, is to be applied in the redemption (by annual drawings) of Stock at 105 per cent. The whole of the Stock will be redeemed by the 1st day of October, 1944, the date prescribed by the Trust Deed.

Power is also reserved to the Company to repay the whole or part (ascertained by drawings) of the Stock at 105 per cent. at any time after 1st April, 1920, upon giving six calendar months' previous notice, and to purchase Stock on the market up to that price plus accrued interest. No such redemption or purchase shall, so long as any Stock is outstanding, affect the Company's obligations to redeem the Stock by annual drawings.

The Stock now offered for sale will rank for interest on the amounts paid on application and acceptance from date of acceptance and on the further instalments from the due dates respectively. The first payment of interest will be made on the 1st April, 1920.

The Stock will be transferable in multiples of £1.

Delay in payment of any Instalment will involve risk of forfeiture and a liability to interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum.

The following is taken from a letter from the Chairman of Wolseley Motors, Limited, addressed to Messrs. B.S.T. (Birmingham), Limited, dated 21st October, 1919.

The Company, which was formed in 1901, are the Manufacturers of the well-known "Wolseley" Motor Cars.

The Directors of the Company consider that in view of the rapid development which has taken place in the Company's manufacturing capacity during the past five years, the time has arrived when a complete re-arrangement of the finances of the Company is necessary. During the War very extensive additions to the Works took place. These extensions had of necessity to be specially considered from the point of view of the manufacture of Munitions, although the requirements of the Company's normal business were kept in view as far as possible. In order to enable the Company to make the best possible use of the extensive additions which have been carried out during the War, it is necessary that further additions to the land, buildings, and plant should be made so as to balance the equipment of the shops with that effected during the War to bring them up to their maximum capacity.

Since the signature of the Armistice the demand for "Wolseley" Motor Cars has been truly unprecedented, and so great is the volume of orders which customers at home and abroad desire to place with the Company that it will be necessary for some considerable time to come to adopt a system of apportionment in order to secure equitable distribution of the Company's productions.

In order to consolidate the motor car interests of Vickers, Ltd., arrangements were made whereby Wolseley Motors, Limited, acquired from the Electric and Ordnance Accessories Co., Limited, as from the 1st June, 1919, the motor car (i.e., Stellite Car) Ordnance and Timken Bearing Departments of the Electric and Ordnance Accessories Co., Limited, and purchased on 30th September, 1919, the land, buildings, plant, and stock at Ward End, Birmingham. The factory, which is freehold, comprising over 65 acres, is within a short distance of the Company's Works at Adderley Park.

The above works will, in addition to the following properties, be specifically mortgaged, viz.:—

BIRMINGHAM.—Works at Adderley Park—Freehold, 29 acres; Leasehold, 12 acres. Land in Common lane—Freehold 12 acres.

LONDON.—(a) The Freehold of the Showroom and Garage at York street, Westminster; (b) the Leasehold of the Repair Works at Gatliff road, Pimlico; and (c) the benefit of a Building Agreement recently entered into with the Cadogan Estate.

INDIA.—Freehold of the Depot at Sandhurst Bridge road, Bombay.

CANADA.—Freehold of the Depot at Avenue road, Toronto.

In order to cope with the programme which the Directors contemplate, the proposed further additions to the land, buildings, and plant already referred to should be completed as soon as possible, and the proceeds of the sale of the Debenture Stock will be used for this purpose, and also for the provision of working capital.

The value of the Company's assets is shown by the following statement:—

PROSPECTUS.

The Company has been formed with the principal object of acquiring from the Opera House Syndicate, Limited, the Stoll Picture Theatre, Kingsway (originally known as the London Opera House).

The building as a place of entertainment is one of the finest in the metropolis, and is too well known to need detailed description. It was erected at considerable cost in 1911, and was acquired by the Opera House Syndicate, Limited, in 1916, but has only been used as a Picture Theatre for a portion of that period. It has a holding capacity of about 2,800.

During the twelve months from 1st July, 1918, to 30th June, 1919, nearly one and a-half millions of people visited the theatre.

The building is admirably suited for the presentation of moving pictures; its central position, and its proximity to leading railway and 'bus routes, enable it easily to be reached from all parts of London. The appreciation of the public of the accommodation provided for its comfort, and the popularity of the high-class entertainment that is given are proved by the thousands of people who attend the daily performances, and the financial results that are being obtained.

The price payable to the Vendors, The Opera House Syndicate, Limited (who are selling at a profit), for the property, including the leasehold, equipment and goodwill, is £300,000, payable as to £48,250 in Ordinary Shares, and as to the balance in cash and/or fully paid Preference and/or Ordinary Shares, at the discretion of the Company.

No part of the Debenture Stock or the proceeds of the issue thereof will be applied in payment of the purchase price, so that the present issue will provide a net sum of about £95,000 available for developments and working capital.

The property is held on lease till the year 2009 at ground rents not exceeding £4,975 per annum, the ground landlords being the London County Council.

The Directors propose to instal a Restaurant and Tea Rooms in a portion of the premises not at present used for other purposes. The consent of the London County Council is required before any such alteration can take place, and its consent has been applied for.

A valuation has been made by Messrs. Douglas Young and Co., Chartered Surveyors and Valuers, 51 Coleman street, London, E.C., in which it is stated that the total value of the property to be acquired by the new Company (including furniture, seating, carpets and floor coverings, electric light and gas fittings, and a large quantity of other effects) is £306,000.

The following is a copy of the certificate of the Auditors (Messrs. Harris, Allan and Co., of 20, Copthall avenue, London, E.C.), as to the profits of the Opera House Syndicate, Ltd., during the financial year to the 30th June last:—

THE OPERA HOUSE SYNDICATE, LIMITED. 16th October, 1919.

"We have examined the accounts of the Opera House Syndicate Limited for the year ended 30th June, 1919, and certify that the net profit for the year of the Stoll Picture Theatre, Kingsway, after charging all expenses including the ground rents, actual expenditure on repairs and maintenance, Directors' fees and remuneration of the Managing Director, but before providing for Interest, Depreciation of Leaseholds, Furnishings and Equipment, or Excess Profits Duty, if any, was £68,591 3s. 8d.

(Signed) "HARRIS, ALLAN AND CO.,
"Chartered Accountants."

It may be added that since the end of June last the profits have shown an increase on the corresponding weeks in 1918.

As the building of the proposed Restaurant and Tea Rooms depends upon the grant of the license by the London County Council as landlords, no estimate is made of any profits to be derived therefrom, but a considerable business is expected in this connection if the Restaurant is proceeded with.

Interest and Sinking Fund on the £100,000 of Debenture Stock now issued will require	£12,000
Dividend on the Preference Shares will require	12,750
or a total of	£24,750

Even if there be no increase in the profits it will thus be seen that, on the basis of the profits for the year ended 30th June, 1919, there would be a balance of £33,841 available (subject to payment of Excess Profits Duty, if any) for dividend on the Ordinary Shares and for reserves. The Directors consider that the allocation of £5,000 per annum for redemption of Debenture Stock will provide for depreciation and redemption of the leasehold.

Sir Oswald Stoll has agreed to act as Chairman and Managing Director of the Company for a period of seven years on the terms specified in the Articles of Association as set out below.

The Company will take over the property as from the date of incorporation of the Company. All liabilities as at that date will be borne by the Vendors, who will be entitled to the profits up to that date. From and after such date the Company will be entitled to the profits and will pay the expenses.

The following contracts have been entered into:—

A Contract, dated the 4th day of November, 1919, between the Opera House Syndicate, Limited, of the Stoll Offices, Coliseum Buildings, London, W.C. (hereinafter called the vendor) of the one part and the Company of the other part whereby the vendor agrees to sell to the Company the leasehold premises known as the Stoll Picture Theatre (formerly the "London Opera House"), Kingsway, London, including all equipment and furniture and the goodwill of the business for the sum of £300,000 (three hundred thousand pounds), payable as to £48,250 in Ordinary Shares, and the balance of £251,750 in cash, and/or Preference and Ordinary Shares at the option of the Company. No part of the purchase price has been specifically allocated to Goodwill, but the Goodwill is included in the Sale.

A Contract dated 4th November, 1919, between the Company and Henry J. Thomas and Co., 130 Bute street, Cardiff, for the underwriting of the £100,000 of Debenture Stock now offered for a commission of 4 per cent. thereon, and an overriding commission of 1 per cent. Various sub-underwriting contracts have been entered into.

A Contract dated 4th November, 1919, between the Company and Sir Oswald Stoll, whereby he agrees to act as Chairman and Managing Director of the Company for seven years.

The Vendors, the Opera House Syndicate, Limited, will pay all preliminary expenses of and incident to the formation and floating of the Company down to the time when it becomes entitled to commence business, excluding the underwriting commission but including the brokerages below mentioned, the cost of preparing and registering the Memorandum and Articles of Association, the fees payable on registration, the stamp duty payable on the conveyance to the Company, the costs relating to the creation of Debenture Stock, and the Trust Deed to secure the same and the stamp duty thereon. These preliminary expenses are estimated at £20,000.

The following information is given in accordance with the provisions of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908:—

The rights of voting at General Meetings of the Company conferred by the Articles of Association are:—On a show of hands every member holding any Ordinary Shares present in person shall have one vote, and upon a poll every member holding any Ordinary Shares present in person or by proxy, shall have one vote for every Ordinary Share held by him. The said Preference Shares shall confer on the holders thereof the right to attend and vote, either in person or by proxy, at any General Meeting of the Company, and to receive notice of such meeting, but only if the said fixed Cumulative Preferential dividend thereon shall be in arrear for more than six calendar months, and then so long only as the same shall thereafter remain unpaid, and accordingly if and when the holders of the said Preference Shares shall be entitled to vote at a General Meeting of the Company, each such holder present in person at such General Meeting shall, on a show of hands, have one vote, and upon a poll each such holder present in person or by proxy at such General Meeting shall have one vote, for every Preference Share held by him.

The qualification of a Director is fixed by the Articles of Association as the holding of shares in the Company of the nominal amount of £250 at least.

The Articles also provide as follows:—

Each of the Directors other than the Chairman shall be paid out of the funds of the Company by way of remuneration for his services such a sum to accrue de die in diem as shall (after deducting therefrom income-tax at the full rate then current) amount to the sum of £250 per annum. The Chairman shall be paid out of the funds of the Company by way of remuneration for his services such a sum to accrue de die in diem as shall (after deducting therefrom income-tax at the full rate then current) amount of £500 per annum. Sir Oswald Stoll shall as Managing Director be paid out of the funds of the Company such further sum as shall (after deducting therefrom income-tax at the full rate then current) amount to the sum of £25 for each sum of £440 over £4,400 in any year earned by the Company and available for dividend after charging (1) interest on the First Mortgage Debenture Stock of the Company for the time being outstanding, and (2) until redemption of the whole of the First Mortgage Debenture Stock the sum payable annually by the Company for redemption of the said Stock.

Sir Oswald Stoll shall be Chairman and Managing Director of the Company for a period of 7 years from its incorporation, and shall be entitled to hold the office of Chairman so long as he continues to be a director of the Company.

The Company may by resolution in general meeting from time to time authorise the payment to the Directors as and by way of additional remuneration for their services of (a) a fixed sum to be determined by such meeting and (b) a further sum equal to the income-tax at the full rate then current on such fixed sum and such additional remuneration shall be divided among the Directors in such proportion and manner as the Directors may determine and in default of such determination within the year equally. In addition to the remuneration above-mentioned the Directors shall be repaid such reasonable travelling hotel and other expenses as they may incur in going to and attending and returning from meetings of the Board or Committees of the Board or general meetings or of which they may otherwise incur in or about the business of the Company. The Directors may appoint from time to time one or more of their number or elect a new Director to be Managing Director or Managing Directors on such terms as to remuneration and with such powers and authorities and for such period as they deem fit and may revoke such appointment. The Directors may also grant to any Director required to go abroad or to perform or render any extra or special duties or service such special remuneration for the duties or service so performed or rendered as they think proper.

The Directors of the Vendor Company are Sir Oswald Stoll, Walter Battle, Henry John Thomas, Benjamin William Broad, John Davies Williams, and Sir James William McCraith. FINANCIAL NEWS

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed Nov. 6) .... 6 p.c.

LONDON, SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The Money market had a quiet half-day, the usual week-end conditions being accentuated by the Lord Mayor's Show, which rendered transit difficult. The demand for call money was moderate at 4 p.c. upwards, and balances were available at the close at rather under that figure. Weekly loans were in fairly good request at 4½ to 4¾ p.c., owing to expectations of a further advance in deposit rates in the near future, possibly next week. Movements in calls and dividend payments were unimportant. Business in the discount market has not yet got into stride after the week's readjustments, and the posted quotation for all drafts of two to six months' date was rather nominal at 5⅝ to 5¾ p.c. Spot silver rose ½d. to 67d., but forward metal at 65d. was ½d. better per oz.

The following foreign exchange rates were current to-day:—New York cables, 4.15 to 4.15⅜; Paris cables, 37.35 to 37.50; Amsterdam cables, 10.99½ to 11.01½; Italy cables, 46.65 to 46.90; Madrid cables, 21.10 to 21.20; Christiania cables, 18.35 to 18.40; Stockholm cables, 17.72 to 17.79; Finland cables, 101 to 103; Berne cables, 23.05 to 23.08; Germany cables, 145 to 146; Rio de Janerio 90 days' bills, 15⅞d.; Buenos Ayres transfers, 56 to 56½.

The Stock Exchange was closed to-day, as usual on Saturday.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Markets already look like recovering from the effects of the rise in the Bank rate. The decision came as a surprise, and led to a great deal of hurried selling, while the professionals did their best to help prices downwards with a view to getting cheap stock, but as the banks have not been financing the recent speculation to any great extent, the money pinch is not likely to have serious or far-reaching effects, and we (Sunday Times) quite expect a resumption of the recently prevailing confidence in the near future. The prospect of a Premium Bond Loan introduces a fresh complication. It reduces the attraction of Victory Bonds, but is not likely to prejudice War Loan Fives, which look the best gilt-edged investment. In the Foreign market, we believe Peruvian Corporation issues will see higher figures, the Ord. being talked to 10, and the Prefs. to 40. Otherwise Belgian Threes and Guatemala Arrear Certificates look about the best purchases. In Foreign Rails, Havanas are worth attention on dividend prospects. Grand Trunks seem to be getting cheap again. The Acquisition Bill will probably go through, and should give a value to the Guaranteed of about 75. As a speculative investment, the Second Prefs. look attractive. Among Industrials, we think the Textile group continue to show up well, and we look for a further advance in Courtaulds. According to market rumour, a bonus is imminent. Dunlops are probably bound for higher levels, and Nigers are still worth attention. A sharp recovery in the price of tin is expected as soon as the American labour troubles are over, and Nigerian Tin Shares, which have been reactionary of late, should resume their advance. The movement in Chartered should make further progress, 30s. being a possible limit.

The Secretary of the Bengal Iron and Steel Company, Limited, in a circular to the shareholders convening an extraordinary general meeting on 18th November, states that, in view of contemplated extensions of the company's works in India, and of the fact that the assets of the company largely exceed in value the figure at which they stand in the company's books, it is considered that it is in the best interests of the shareholders that the existing company be reconstructed, and for that purpose that its undertaking be sold to a new company to be called "The Bengal Iron Company, Limited," in which the authorised capital would be brought more into line with the value of the assets than is the case in the existing company. The authorised and paid-up capital of the existing company is £412,350, divided into 262,350 Ordinary Shares of £1 each (£262,350) and 15,000 6 per Cent. Cumulative Preference Shares of £10 each (£150,000). There is also 5 per Cent. Mortgage Debenture Stock outstanding for £200,000 (the total authorised), which it is proposed to pay off, so that there will be no charge on the new company's profits ranking ahead of the Preference Shares. It is proposed that the nominal capital of the new company shall be £2,500,000, divided into 750,000 7½ per Cent. Cumulative Preference Shares of £1 each (£750,000) and 1,750,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each (£1,750,000), and that these shares be allocated as follows:—150,000 7½ per Cent. Cumulative Preference Shares of £1 each to be offered for subscription at par to the holders of Preference Shares in the existing company, in the proportion of 10 new £1 shares for each £10 6 per Cent. Preference Share at present held. Any of such shares not so subscribed to be offered for subscription in the same manner as the 350,000 Preference Shares next mentioned. 350,000 7½ per Cent. Cumulative Preference Shares of £1 each to be offered for subscription at par, preference being given to existing shareholders, making 500,000 to be issued at once, and 250,000 to be held in reserve. To the extent that any existing Preference shareholder does not elect to subscribe for the Preference Shares in the new company to which he is to be entitled to subscribe, his capital will be paid out in cash. Of the Ordinary Shares it is proposed to issue to each holder of the 262,350 Ordinary Shares of £1 each in the existing company five fully-paid Ordinary Shares of £1 each in the new company, in respect of each Ordinary Share in the existing company held, together with the right to subscribe for one Ordinary Share of £1 in the new company at par. This will absorb 1,574,100 shares, leaving for future issue 175,900 shares.

The directors of Lloyd's Bank, Limited, announce that, in accordance with the terms of the agreement for the amalgamation of the West Yorkshire Bank, Limited, Mr. Joseph Henry Kaye, J.P., of Huddersfield, and Mr. Robert Whitworth, of Halifax, have been elected to seats on the board.

The London County Westminster and Parr's Bank, Limited, notify that the New South change for scrip. The Debentures will be desecond issue, are ready for delivery in exchange for scrip. The Debentures wil be delivered three days after the scrip is deposited, and the exchange should be effected through bankers or other agents in London, as the bank will not undertake to forward the Debentures through the post.

At a Court of Directors of the Royal Exchange Assurance held on 5th November, Sir Robert Walker, Bart., was appointed a local director, attached to the Hull branch.

The transfer books of the American Thread Company will be closed from 15th November to 30th November, 1919, both days inclusive.

ANOTHER BANK AFFILIATION.

PROVISIONAL AGREEMENTS CONCLUDED.

It is announced that provisional agreements have been concluded for a close affiliation of the British Linen Bank and the Union Bank of Manchester, Ltd., with Barclay's Bank, Ltd. Under the new arrangement the holders of Barclay's Bank "B" shares will receive three £1 fully-paid shares for every two of the present £2 shares, £1 paid, which they possess. Shareholders must not anticipate, it is pointed out, an increased income as a result of the rearrangement of capital. The last dividend paid was 20 per cent., and the corresponding rate on the increased paid-up capital should be 13⅓ per cent. The holders of Barclay's Bank "A" shares (£4 each, fully paid) will not be affected in any way. As far as Barclay's Bank is concerned, its paid-up capital will be increased from £8,820,356 to £14,210,356, and there will be no uncalled or reserve liability on any portion of it. The additional amount of £5,390,000 will as to £2,695,000 be used to increase by 50 per cent. the amount of the paid-up capital held by each shareholder, and the remaining sum of £2,695,000 will, in the first place, be utilised to purchase shares in the British Linen Bank and the Union Bank of Manchester, Ltd., in accordance with the agreement, while any balance of shares not required for this purpose will go to the staff of the bank on special terms. The three banks will possess between them over 1,680 branches, and there is to be a complete continuity of both policy and management. Barclay's customers will have the benefit of additional facilities in Lancashire and Scotland.

The scheme has been submitted to the Treasury Committee on Bank Amalgamations, who have given their consent in the usual form.

Under the British Linen Bank agreement the proprietors of the Stock of that bank will be offered for each £100 Stock 150 fully-paid £1 "B" shares of Barclay's Bank, Ltd., ranking pari passu with the other "B" shares, or, alternatively, £375 (nominal) 5 per cent. Registered National War Bonds, repayable September 1st, 1928, and such agreement is conditional on its acceptance by proprietors of more than 50 per cent. of the whole Stock of the British Linen Bank. Under the Union Bank of Manchester agreement assenting shareholders of that bank will be offered for each of their £5 shares, with £2 10s. paid up thereon, 4 13-20 £1 fully-paid "B" shares in Barclay's Bank, Ltd., and such agreement is conditional upon the acceptance by holders of at least 60 per cent. of the shares of the Union Bank of Manchester, Ltd. If proprietors of the British Linen Bank shall require in all less than 1,100,000 of such "B" shares, that bank will itself take transfer of a number of such shares, sufficient to make up such total. Similarly, if shareholders of the Union Bank of Manchester, Ltd., shall require in all less than 1,000,000 of such "B" shares, that bank will itself take transfer of a number of such shares, sufficient to make up such total, in the case of each bank at the price of £2 10s. per share. Any shares so taken by these banks are to be held for twelve months, during which period Barclay's Bank are to have the right to require their transfer to any person or persons they may direct

LATEST ASSURANCE FUSION.

THE GUARDIAN AND THE LEGAL AND GENERAL TO COMBINE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

As was foreshadowed in our columns on Saturday, it is now officially stated that a provisional agreement is being considered between the directors of the Guardian Assurance Company and the Legal and General Assurance Society whereby, subject to the approval of the shareholders, the interests of the two offices shall be combined. It is proposed to carry out in the fusion in such a manner as will preserve the indentity of each office, and details will be published later.

THE MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY, LTD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—With reference to the recent correspondence in your journal regarding the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company's circular, I have received the following reply to a letter written by me to the Secretary, which may prove of interest to some of your readers.—Yours, etc.,
"FAIR PLAY."

Dublin, November 8th, 1919.

(COPY.)

Marconi House, Strand, London,
7th November, 1919.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of the 5th inst. we do not follow what inconsistency you are able to discern between the proposed resolution and the directors' circular, in which they state that the issue will be made upon favourable terms to shareholders. You will bear in mind that not only persons, but firms and corporations, may be shareholders of the company, and they must, therefore, be included in the resolution.

We would add that, if the directors considered the interests of anybody other than the shareholders, they should not be directors, and would not carry the confidence of the shareholders, which they have hitherto enjoyed to a high degree.—Yours faithfully,

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH CO., LTD.
(Signed), W. H. CORBY, Secretary.

COTTON GROWING IN THE CONGO.

A Brussels telegram, dated Thursday, states: M. Franck, Minister of Colonies, in a statement to Press representatives to-day, said that in the opinion of the British Cotton Growing Association a great future lay before cotton growing in the Congo. The Minister had accordingly urged interested parties to form a cotton association, and a scheme for such a body was now in hand.

The State would hand over to private enterprise the cotton mills which had been commandeered during the war.

It was hoped during 1920 to cultivate 5,300 hectares, with a net yield of 1,060,000 kilogrammes.

PROSPECTUS.

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY.—The Company has been formed with the objects mentioned in the Memorandum of Association and more particularly:

1. To acquire the Business of Pullinger and Company, and the leasehold premises of that concern at Latona road, Peckham, London, S.E., with all plant, machinery, stock and contracts appertaining thereto.

2. To acquire the registered designs, name and goodwill of the "Speedy" Motor Car.

3. To acquire the business of the Inwood Motor and Engineering Co., Ltd., together with the leasehold premises of that Company at Upper Richmond road, Putney, London, S.W., the garages, workshops, plant and cars therein, including all contracts of the Company.

4. To complete negotiations already entered into to acquire certain leasehold premises situated in a central neighbourhood suitable for immediate use in the assembling of the "Speedy" Cars in mass formation.

THE SPEEDY CAR.—Pullinger and Company have for some time past, at a very considerable expenditure, experimented in producing a motor car that can be placed on the market at a popular price, so that the same, completely equipped and ready for immediate use, may be within the purchasing power of the masses. They realised that to do this it would be essential to adopt the most modern system of production, as followed in America, and produce on standardised lines and in mass production.

With the heavy additional cost of living and the increased taxation and the necessity for economy, a simple means of locomotion at a popular price, which can be controlled and managed by the individual owner has become essential. Therefore, in producing the "Speedy" Car to sell at the popular price of 110 guineas they feel that they are catering for the public's requirements.

SPECIFICATION of the TWO-SEATER "SPEEDY" LIGHT CAR.

8 h.p. Twin Cylinder V-shaped, air-cooled engine.	Tyres, 650 by 65 mm., or 26 by 2½ ins.
Magneto of the first grade.	Carburettor of the first grade.
Two-speed gear box and reverse.	One-joint wind screen.
9 inch leather-to-metal cone clutch.	Body stream-lined.
Chain drive from engine to gear-box, and Chain from gear-box to countershaft.	Dome wings.
	Steering, direct adjustable rake.
Two belts, one on either side, to back wheels.	Weight, under 6 cwt.
Chassis, frame 5 ft. 6 ins. by 4 ins. by 1½ ins.	Mileage, 60 per gallon.
Springing, four quarter elliptic springs.	Delivery, in rotation of orders received.
Wheels, four disc and wired.

ORDERS FOR THE "SPEEDY" CAR.—Orders from the trade have been secured for 10,000 of these cars to retail at 110 guineas each.

Furthermore, within the past six weeks orders for approximately a further 1,000 cars have been received from the General Public, accompanied by deposits of ten guineas per car.

MANAGING DIRECTOR'S REPORT. The Pullinger Engineering Co., Ltd.,
52 Holborn Viaduct, E.C.1.
22nd September, 1919.

To the Chairman and Directors of The Pullinger Engineering Co., Ltd.
Gentlemen,

Acting on your instructions, I have made a careful valuation of the ninety-nine years' leasehold premises, together with the fixtures, fittings, stock, and machinery, cars, oil, etc., of the firm of Pullinger and Company situated at Latona road, Peckham, London, S.E., together with the leasehold premises, stock fixtures, fittings and machinery of the Inwood Motor and Engineering Company, Ltd., of Upper Richmond road, Putney, London, S.W. Eliminating the item of goodwill completely I estimate the value of the above-mentioned at £33,116.

We have spent many thousands of pounds in bringing to perfection the Speedy Car, and in making it in the first place a commercial proposition to manufacture and sell, secondly to make it sufficiently attractive to the trade to buy and for the individual owner to purchase, and only after some two years of experiments and practical tests have we reached the position that we can place it on the market, showing a profit to ourselves and to the motor-car salesman, and also make it sufficiently attractive in price, quality and workmanship for the individual purchaser to buy.

I have no hesitation in stating that the Speedy Two-Seater Light Car with the following Specification: 8 h.p. Twin-Cylinder V-shaped engine, air cooled. Magneto of the first grade. Two-speed gear box and reverse. 9 inch leather-to-metal cone clutch. Chain drive from engine to gear-box, and chain from gear-box to countershaft. Two belts, one on either side, to back wheels. Chassis, 5 ft. 6 in. by 4 in. by 1½ in. Springing four quarter elliptic springs. Dome wings. Wheels, four disc and wired. Tyres, 650 by 65, or 26 by 2½. Carburettor of the first grade. One-joint wind screen. Body stream-lined. Steering, direct adjustable rake. Weight, under 6 cwt. Mileage, 60 per gallon.
is the very finest value to-day on the market, selling at one hundred and ten guineas each.

This has been proved by the trade having given us signed orders for over 10,000 of these cars, representing a sum of over £1,100,000 (one million, one hundred thousand pounds).

At the moment our policy is not to manufacture the whole of the various parts ourselves, but to contract (which we have done) with reputable firms to deliver the different parts required by us, assembling the same in mass production at our works.

The Premises we are negotiating are centrally situated for the delivery of our component parts, and are favourably situated for the supply of both skilled and unskilled labour, and have a clear floor space of over 2½ acres under one roof. They are unique for our purposes, and within two months of the Company going to Allotment I can assure the Company of a weekly output of one hundred cars, and within a further two months from then the Company can increase its output to 200 cars weekly.

After carefully taking into consideration the cost of labour at to-day's prices and the prices of the many parts necessary to make a complete car, together with a pro rata proportion of depreciation and upkeep charges on an output of 5,000 cars only the first year, I find that such output will show a minimum net profit of ten pounds per car or £50,000 net profit.

Both Pullinger and Co. and the Inwood Motor and Engineering Co., Ltd. have a paying clientele and contracts in hand (irrespective of the orders and contracts in connection with the Speedy Car) which should show additional and substantial net profits to this Company, but I understand you desire to specialise and concentrate on one thing, viz., the manufacture and sale of the Speedy Car, so that this can be to the masses what the Rolls-Royce is to the classes.

In conclusion, I beg to state that £40,000 will be necessary to completely equip the factory, so as to enable the minimum output of one hundred cars per week to be turned out, finished and complete for the road, on the terms and conditions I have mentioned in this Report.

I remain, Gentlemen,
Yours faithfully, A. H. J. PULLINGER.

ASSEMBLING WORKS.—Since the above report was made the Directors have successfully completed the negotiations for the immediate possession of suitable works and premises in London, situated in a most advantageous position for skilled and unskilled labour on highly satisfactory terms, thus enabling the Company to assemble the SPEEDY CAR in mass formation, and assuring a minimum output of 5,000 cars for the first year, which number should, however, be largely exceeded.

ESTIMATE PROFITS.—Based on the net profit of ten pounds per car, with the before mentioned minimum yearly output of 5,000 cars, a net profit of £50,000 per annum would accrue to the Company from this source alone, which is sufficient to enable the Company to pay 15 per cent. dividends on the 200,000 shares to be issued, equalling £30,000, leaving a balance of £20,000 for depreciation, reserve, directors' fees, etc.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.—The following additional information is given in accordance with the provisions of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908.

A copy of the Memorandum of Association, with the names, descriptions, and addresses of the signatories and the number of Shares subscribed for by them respectively, is printed in the fold of the Prospectus, and forms part thereof.

The qualification of a Director is the holding of Shares in the Company of the nominal value of £500.

The Articles of Association provide as follows with reference to Directors' remuneration and voting:—

The remuneration of the Directors shall be at the rate of £100 per annum each, but in respect of any year for which a dividend of 10 per cent. or over (irrespective of any deduction in respect of income tax) is paid, the rate of the Directors' remuneration shall be increased to £150 per annum each. The Directors shall also be entitled to such further sum or sums (if any) as shall from time to time be voted to them by the Company in General Meeting, and all such sums shall be divided amongst the Directors as they shall determine, or failing agreement, equally. The Directors shall also be paid their travelling and other expenses, properly and necessarily expended by them in and about the business of the Company, including (unless the Directors shall otherwise determine in special cases) their travelling and other expenses incurred in attending the Board Meetings or Committees of Directors of the Company. The Directors may from time to time appoint one or more of their body to be Managing Director or Managing Directors for such period at such remuneration and upon such terms as they think fit. The remuneration of a Managing Director may be by way of salary or commission or participation in profits or by any or all of those modes, and either in addition to his share of remuneration assigned to the Directors or in substitution therefor or otherwise as to the Directors shall seem fit. A Director may hold any other office or employment under the Company, except that of Auditor, and may act, either personally or as a member of a firm, as Solicitor, Accountant, Banker, Broker, or Surveyor to the Company, or render any other services to the Company, and may receive remuneration from the Company for holding such office or employment or for so acting or for rendering any such service, in addition to any remuneration payable to him as a Director.

Subject to any special terms as to voting upon which any Shares may be issued or may for the time being be held, every member personally present at a meeting shall have one vote on a show of hands, and every member shall upon a poll have one vote for every share held by him.

Mr. Hesketh is the holder of 1,500 £1 shares in the Inwood Motor and Engineering Company, Limited, and Mr. Rawlings is the holder of £5,000 of Debentures in the same Company. Mr. Pullinger and Lieut.-Col. Vaid are partners in the firm of Pullinger and Company, and the former is the holder of 3,700 £1 shares in the Inwood Motor and Engineering Company, Limited.

The minimum subscription on which the Company may proceed to Allotment is fixed by the Articles of Association at 7 Shares, but inasmuch as 100,000 of the £1 Shares have been underwritten, the Directors will proceed to allotment on the closing of the list.

The preliminary expenses of the Company, exclusive of underwriting and overriding commission, brokerage, brokers' fees, stamp duties, and advertising the "SPEEDY" CARS are estimated at £8,000, and are payable by the Company.

CONTRACTS.—The following Contracts have been entered into:—

1. Agreement dated the 30th day of October, 1919, made between Pullinger and Company, of 19-23 Latona road, Peckham, London, S.E., of the first part, the Inwood Motor and Engineering Company Limited, of Upper Richmond road, Putney, London, S.W., of the second part and the Company of the third part, whereby the parties of the first and second parts (who are the Vendors to the Company) agree to sell to the Company the businesses, property and assets above-mentioned under the heading "Objects of the Company," in consideration of the sum of £55,000 payable, at the option of the Directors, either by the allotment of 55,000 fully paid shares in the Company or in cash, or partly in such shares and partly in cash all liabilities of the Vendors being discharged by them. No part of the purchase money is in respect of goodwill.

2. Agreement dated the 30th day of October, 1919, made between the before-mentioned Vendors of the one part and the Vernon Promoting Syndicate, Limited, of the other part, whereby the Vendors agree to pay to the said Syndicate the sum of £15,000 in fully paid shares of the Company or in cash or partly in such shares and partly in cash as therein mentioned, in consideration of services rendered to the Syndicate in connection with the businesses of the Vendors and the sale to and promotion of the Company.

3. Contract dated the 30th day of October, 1919, entered into by the Vernon Promoting Syndicate, Limited, with the Company for the underwriting of 100,000 shares in the Company (being part of the shares now offered for subscription) for a cash commission of 5 per cent. and an overriding commission of a further 2½ per cent.

4. Agreement dated the 30th day of October, 1919, made between the Company of the one part and Alfred Henry John Pullinger of the other part, whereby the latter is appointed and agrees to act as Managing Director of the Company at a remuneration of £1,000 per annum.

Applications for Shares should be made on the accompanying forms and forwarded to the Company's Bankers or any of their Branches, with remittances for the amounts payable on application. Where no allotment is made the deposit will be returned in full, and, if the number of Shares allotted be less than that applied for, the balance will be credited towards the amount payable on allotment, and any surplus will be returned.

A Brokerage of 3d. per Share will be paid on all Shares allotted to the public on applications made on forms bearing the stamp of Bankers, Brokers, or recognised agents.

Application will in due course be made to the Committee of the Stock Exchange for a settlement and official quotation of the Shares now issued.

The Memorandum and Articles of Association and copies of the above-mentioned contracts can be inspected at the offices of the Solicitors in business hours on any day during which the list remains open. Copies of the Prospectus and Application Forms can be obtained at the Offices of the Company and also from the Company's Bankers, Brokers, and Solicitors.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company has been formed to acquire the Freehold Land and Works, Plant, Machinery, Patent Rights, and other assets referred to below, for the purpose of manufacturing the well-known "G.W.K." Light Car, and with the object of raising the necessary capital to enable the Company to execute the orders now in hand.

"G.W.K." CARS.—The "G.W.K." Car has been hitherto manufactured by G.W.K., Ltd., at Cordwallies Works, Maidenhead, Berks.

HISTORY AND DESCRIPTION OF CAR.—The "G.W.K." was first produced in the year 1911 in the form of a 2-cylinder 8 h.p. friction driven light car, and achieved many notable successes in competitions, details of which are fully set out on the accompanying list. This type has also stood the test of over six years' usage as a commercial vehicle, and the satisfactory results obtained have produced many repeat orders.

Extensive experimental work has resulted in the present model G.W.K. Light Car, which has been tested for many thousands of miles.

It has a 4-cylinder engine of 10.8 h.p. R.A.C. rating which develops over 22 h.p. at 2,300 r.p.m.

The re-arrangement of the proved friction transmission results in the employment of still fewer parts, and is therefore of even simpler design than was the original car.

The "dead" back axle provides immunity from road shocks, which it will be realised is a vital factor in view of the condition of our roads.

With a full load the car is extremely flexible and speedy, possessing even still more remarkable hill climbing ability than the old model, which feature is due to the fact that the friction drive provides the correct ratio for each and every hill.

The simplicity of the design is proved beyond question by the Company's ability to offer a really comfortable, specially finished and fully equipped high grade light car, 2 or 4-seater model, at £275. This is a price which places the G.W.K. Company in an unrivalled position for disposing of all they can reasonably produce.

Its efficiency is clearly demonstrated by the fact that the average petrol consumption is 35 miles per gallon (benzole 50 m.p.g.), and the tyre average is well over 7,000 miles.

Lubrication is practically confined to the engine, and this is unusually economical.

The "G.W.K." is undoubtedly a high grade light car which caters for the owner-driver of moderate means.

The following independent opinions have been expressed on the Car:—

"Friction drive has been proved in the case of the 'G.W.K.' to be reliable, and the details now incorporated in the chassis are good."—Extract from "Light Car and Cycle Car," dated 11th January, 1919.

"It will be another big step towards the evolution of a perfect motor car, and therefore I look to the 'G.W.K.' with extreme interest in the future light car movement."—Extract from a letter by Mr. S. F. Edge in the "Light Car and Cycle Car," dated 9th September, 1918.

OBJECTS AND PROSPECTS.—G.W.K., Ltd., is thus in the position of having solved the problem which enables a Car of first-class British Workmanship, style and finish to be sold at £275.

Orders are already in hand for the supply of over 5,000 Cars in this country alone, representing a retail value of more than £1,275,000. The orders are the subject of contracts with agents, many of them have had selling experience of "G.W.K." Cars during the past seven years, and many further orders have been refused owing to inability to produce more than a limited output. Deliveries of the new 1919 Model are now being made.

Part of the proceeds of this issue will be utilised to increase the works from their present capacity with a view to the production of 200 cars per week, in order to meet the large demand for "G.W.K." Cars from the Home and Colonial Markets.

LAND AND WORKS.—The freehold land, on part of which the existing works are erected, extends to over 13 acres, which is ample for the necessary extensions which are already in hand. The site of the works being in Maidenhead, is conveniently placed with regard to labour and housing. Excellent railway transport facilities exist. The Great Western Railway forms one of the boundaries of the property, and a siding will be laid into the works. The works are being so arranged that a maximum output can be obtained with a minimum expenditure of time and labour. This, together with the advantage of extreme simplicity of the design, enables the car to be placed on the market at the low price which has been fixed. G. and V. R., Ltd., was originally formed to finance G.W.K., Ltd., of which it holds or controls all the shares, and the two Companies between them own the freehold land and works, machinery and plant; under Contract No. 1, referred to hereinafter, the same will be transferred directly to G.W.K. (1919), Ltd.

PURCHASE.—The purchase consideration is £50,000 (consisting of £25,000 payable in fully-paid £1 Preference Shares in respect of the freehold land, works, plant and machinery and loose tools, and £25,000 in fully-paid 2/6 Ordinary Shares for the goodwill, contracts, patents and manufacturing rights for Great Britain and the Colonies whereof £15,000 is the proportion attributable to the goodwill). The freehold property, with fixtures, plant and machinery (exclusive of buildings then in course of erection and loose tools) were valued by Messrs. Weatherall and Green on 7th July, 1919, at £20,000. Large additions to loose tools have since been made, and the Directors estimate the value of the buildings and loose tools not covered by the above valuation at £8,500. The stocks will be taken over by the Company at a valuation for cash, which will be payable out of the proceeds of this issue. The undertaking of G.W.K., Ltd., and that of G. and V. R., Ltd., so far as regards the G.W.K. Car, will be taken over as a going concern.

In taking the above consideration in shares, the Vendors show their confidence in the future of the Company.

ESTIMATED PROFITS.—The annual profits estimated on the basis of an output of 200 cars per week would amount to £200,000

After making ample provision for depreciation, reserves, and Directors' remuneration, a large surplus should therefore remain for distribution amongst the Shareholders.

The sum required to pay a dividend of 6 per cent. on 275,000 Preference Shares inclusive of income tax at 6/- in the £, is approximately £23,600.

The following report of Messrs. Andrew W. Barr and Co., Chartered Accountants, confirms the above estimate of profits:—

1 Queen Victoria street, E.C.4. 17th September, 1919.

Dear Sirs,

We have attended at the Company's Works at Maidenhead and have had access to the Cost records, Labour, Supervision and Establishment Expenses. We have examined the details of the record sheets with invoices, quotations, and tenders for quantities and prices of parts supplied or agreed to be supplied, and have arrived at the conclusion that the Company, on an output of 200 cars per week, should make a profit per car that will justify the estimated profit of £200,000 per annum.

Yours faithfully,

To the Directors of G.W.K., Limited. (Sgd.) ANDW. W. BARR and CO.

FINANCE.—After providing an adequate sum to cover the cost of development and of the extensions to buildings and plant and the purchase price of the Stock (which is estimated at about £58,000, and includes Cars finished and in course of construction, also large quantities of materials and parts in various stages), the Company should have ample cash working capital for its business.

The following contracts have been entered into:—

(1). Dated 29th October, 1919, between G.W.K., Limited, of Cordwallies Works, Maidenhead, Berks, and G. and V. R., Limited, of the same address; Arthur George Grice, of the Bolan, Sandbanks, Dorset; John Talfourd Wood, of Kingswood, Maidenhead; Clifton MacNee Keiller, of the Elms, Maidenhead Thicket, Berks, of the one part, and the Company of the other part. (2). Dated 29th October, 1919, between Henry Newton Knights; Horace Ambrose Francis; George Edward Read Adair; Alfred Philip Cork; William Alban Richards and G.W.K., Limited, and G. and V. R., Limited. (3) Dated 29th October, 1919, between Henry Newton Knights; Horace Ambrose Francis; George Edward Read Adair; and Alfred Philip Cork and G.W.K. (1919), Limited. (4). Dated 29th October, 1919, between Henry Newton Knights; Horace Ambrose Francis; George Edward Read Adair; Alfred Philip Cork; and William Alban Richards.

Under Contract No. 1 the Company acquires from the parties of the first part the above-mentioned properties, goodwill, Patents, and assets in consideration of £50,000, payable in 25,000 fully-paid Preference Shares of £1 each, and 200,000 fully paid Ordinary Shares of the Company of 2/6 each, the Stocks being taken over for cash at a valuation as above stated. The said Shares are divisible as follows:—The Preference Shares will be allotted to G. and V. R., Limited, 100,000, of the Ordinary Shares to G.W.K., Limited, and 100,000 of the Ordinary Shares as provided under Contract No. 2.

Under Contract No. 2 Henry Newton Knights; Horace Ambrose Francis; George Edward Read Adair; Alfred Philip Cork, and William Alban Richards will receive as nominees of G.W.K., Limited, 100,000 of the above-mentioned Ordinary Shares, in consideration of services rendered by them in connection with the promotion of the Company, and of their agreeing to procure the immediate construction of the new Factory upon the basis of cost plus 10 per cent., with the addition of 5 per cent. for Surveyor's and Engineer's charges on the terms of a building contract intended to be entered into, after the Company has gone to allotment, between the Company and William Alban Richards and Co., Limited, of which William Alban Richards is a Director. The said Shares will be divided, under Contract No. 4 to William Alban Richards one-fourth, and the balance between Henry Newton Knights; Horace Ambrose Francis; George Edward Read Adair; and Alfred Philip Cork in equal proportions.

Under Contract No. 2, Messrs. Henry Newton Knights, Horace Ambrose Francis, George Edward Read Adair, and Alfred Philip Cork (hereinafter together referred to as the Underwriters), provisionally agree to enter into a Contract to underwrite the 250,000 Preference Shares now offered for subscription for a Commission of 5 per cent., with an overriding commission of 1¼ per cent., payable in cash by the Company. This Contract further provides that G.W.K., Limited, and G. and V. R., Limited, are to be entitled to appoint four of the first Directors of the Company, and the Underwriters the other four. The said William Alban Richards has agreed to sub-underwrite 10,000 of the said Shares at a commission of 1/- per Share, and to give the Underwriters the option to purchase at par 5,000 of the said Ordinary Shares.

By Contract No. 3, the underwriters jointly and severally agree with the new Company direct, to underwrite the shares now offered on the terms above stated, and by Contract No. 4, the underwriters agree to divide the underwriting amongst themselves in equal proportions.

The Articles of Association provide as follows:—The qualification of a Director shall be the holding of shares of the Company of the nominal amount of £500. The Directors shall be entitled to receive a fixed remuneration at the rate of £300 per annum for each Director other than the Chairman, and £500 per annum for the Chairman, and, in addition, 5 per cent. of the balance of the divisible net profits of the Company remaining in each year after the payment to the holders of the Preference Shares of their Cumulative Preferential dividend. Such additional remuneration shall be divided among the Directors in such proportions and manner as they shall from time to time agree, or in default of agreement equally. The Company in General Meeting may increase the amount of such remuneration, either permanently or for a year or longer term. In addition to the remuneration above mentioned the Directors shall be repaid such reasonable travelling, hotel and other expenses as they may incur in attending meetings of the Board or of Committees of the Board, or General Meetings, or which they may otherwise incur in or about the business of the Company. The Directors have power at any time (a) to appoint from time to time any one or more of their number to be Managing Director or Managing Directors, on such terms as to remuneration and with such powers and authorities, and for such period as they deem fit, and to revoke such appointment, (b) to grant to any Director required to go abroad or render any extraordinary service such special remuneration for the services rendered as they may think fit; (c) to appoint any one or more of their number or any other person or persons to be members of Local Boards, Local Managing or Consulting Committees, or Local Agencies in the United Kingdom or abroad, and to fix their remuneration; and (d) to appoint alternate Directors. On a show of hands every member is entitled to one vote and upon a poll to one vote for every share held. Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of the Company, Reports, and Contracts above mentioned, may be seen at the Offices of the Solicitors to the Company between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. on the days upon which the Subscription List is open. A copy of the Company's Memorandum of Association, with names, descriptions, and addresses of the signatories thereto, and the number of shares subscribed for by them respectively is printed in the fold of the Prospectus, and forms part thereof.

The preliminary expenses of the Company are estimated at £8,750 exclusive of underwriting commission and brokerage, and are payable by the Company. The minimum subscription is fixed by the Articles of Association at seven shares, but as the 250,000 Preference Shares now offered for subscription have been underwritten the Directors will proceed to allotment forthwith. The following Directors are interested in the promotion of the Company, being Shareholders in G. and V. R., Limited, which has an issued share capital of £91,773 in Ordinary Shares of £1 each to the extent shown herewith: A. G. Grice, 8,674; J. T. Wood, 8,956; C. M. Keiller, 9,217 Shares, and they also hold one share each in G.W.K., Limited. The following Directors are interested in the benefits of the underwriting of this issue in the proportions following:—Henry Newton Knights, one-fourth; Horace Ambrose Francis, one-fourth; George Edward Read Adair, one-fourth. The said William Alban Richards has advanced £15,000 to G.W.K., Limited.

The Company will pay a brokerage of 3d. per share on all shares allotted (except in respect of underwriting applications) on application forms bearing a broker's stamp.

Applications for shares should be made upon the forms accompanying the Prospectus, and sent to the Company's Bankers, together with a remittance for the amount payable on application.

Where no allotment is made such remittance will be returned in full, and where the number of shares allotted is less than the number applied for, the balance of such remittance will be applied towards the amount payable on allotment, and any excess returned to the applicant.

Failure to pay the amount payable on allotment, or any subsequent instalment when due on the shares allotted, will render the previous payments liable to forfeiture.

Prospectuses and Forms of Application can be obtained at the Office of the Company, or from the Bankers, Solicitors, and Brokers.

Application will be made in due course to the Committee of the Stock Exchange, London, for a quotation of the shares.

5th November, 1919.

THE POSITION OF MAIKOP.

Mr. Alexander Gourvitch, general manager in Russia of the Anglo-Maikop group of companies, speaking at a dinner given him a few days ago by the directors of the various Maikop companies prior to his return to Russia, stated that, despite the many changes in the local Governments, including seven months of Bolshevik rule, no serious interference had taken place in the work of production, pumping, and refining oil, nor any interruption in the important business of distributing the refined products, which had found a ready market locally. He emphasised the importance of the industry in the economic life of the Caucasus, and stated that the serious and prolonged efforts made to develop the rich petroleum deposits in the Kuban district, thanks to the energy and unshaken faith of their general managing director, Mr. G. Tweedy, in the work of their enterprise, and his policy with the workers, had won recognition from all the Government authorities and the whole community. Their group in this way had been brought to its present position as the most important British group working in the Upper Caucasus. Whilst it had been impossible, owing to the high rate of exchange, to remit to England the funds realised and available, it was, in his opinion, a blessing in disguise for the companies, because with these moneys it has been possible to purchase for export from the Caucasus local products required in England, which it is confidently believed can be sold here at prices sufficient to overcome the difficulties presented by the exchange.

MAISEL'S PETROLEUM TRUST, LIMITED.

The company's manager in Rumania reports under date 29th October that the Anglo-French Petroleum Commission, which has been investigating the damage suffered through the war by petroleum undertakings in Rumania belonging to the Allies, in order to report on claims submitted for compensation in respect thereof, was about to proceed to visit this company's properties for that purpose. A claim for £200,000 was submitted by the company in 1916, and a further revised claim is now being prepared by the company's representatives on the spot.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

Home industrial and produce markets present no important fresh features. Values remain on a dear level all round. With regard to cattle and sheep, however, prices have fallen very considerably and persistently over summer and autumn months. The Yorkshire prognostications anent cheaper wool between now and the opening of December prox. do not look like being fulfilled, but, of course, enormous quantities of Colonial fleece, especially Australian, await shipment. A further series of competitive sales for Irish grown wools is to take place in Dublin on 11th inst., price results of which should add fresh interest to the trade. English woollen textiles command a high level of prices, whilst cotton goods and cloths are causing a mark time disposition with merchants owing to the high prohibitive terms quoted. Public tea markets continue to persistently harden.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday.—Values of speculative products generally and live hogs were cabled dearer from Chicago, and moderate arrivals at this port entered, consisting mainly of Chinese. Conditions of trade in the BACON Market are in the same position, a dearth of best brands continuing, for which there is a good demand at the maximum rates, especially on Wiltshires, and the Chinese on offer, which is of fair quality, comes in for a ready offtake at 3/- to 6/- per cwt. under American prices. Low grades of American quiet, only the best conditioned lots attracting any attention, even at the liberal allowances in price obtainable. HAMS also meet a good demand for anything fair, but other sorts little wanted. DUBLIN FISH, Saturday.—Arrivals of fish this morning were on the small side. There was a good demand for everything, and the market cleared easily. Average rates ran:—Lobsters, of which there were but two chests, large softs, 20/- to 25/- per 13; seconds, 10/- to 15/-; smalls, 6/- to 10/-; large soles, 30/- to 40/- per 9 pairs; mediums, 15/- to 25/- and slips, 8/- to 10/- per 9 pairs; large plaice, 4/- to 6/- per 4; mediums, 6/- to 10/- per 8; turbot made 5/- to 20/- each; brill, 2/- to 10/- each; plaice, per half box, 20/- to 60/-; and ray, per ditto, 10/- to 15/-; herrings averaged 20/- per box. LIVERPOOL, Saturday.—COCOA steadily held, and suitable qualities in fair request and rather scarce. COFFEE—The demand is spasmodic, but prices steady, though somewhat irregular. RICE—No fresh releases recorded to-day. LINSEED quieter, £35 per ton quoted for new crop River Plate January-February shipment. COTTONSEED is well held, with not much offering in any description. HEMP steady but quiet, with values of Manila unchanged. SAGO FLOUR steady; spot arrived 28/6 c.i.f., store lots 31/-, and shipment 29/6 to 30/- per cwt. c.i.f. terms. JAPANESE FARINA well held, with spot scarce and not quoted, and forward shipment 39/6 per cwt. c.i.f. PEAS—Japanese in store quiet at 40/-, and forward lots afloat 37/6 per cwt. c.i.f. RANGOON BEANS in good request and £27 to £27 10/- per ton quoted for white handpicked in store. HONEY steady spot, 85/- pile 2 Chilian. COPRA continues with £56 10/- per ton value of sundried. GAMBIER unchanged, quiet; block on spot 50/-, and shipment parcels c.i.f. 46/- per cwt.; cubes are not quoted. CUTCH steadily held, and a moderate inquiry for spot lots. GUM scarce, and stock of Niger Arabic are not offered on spot. RUBBER—Para steady; spot hard fine Para 2/6½ per lb. CASTOR OIL attracts little notice, but English quotations are unchanged at £99 for Pharmaceutical, £96 for firsts and £94 per ton for seconds, ex mills, barrels free. SEED OILS—Liverpool Linseed steady and local-made cottonseed scarce, but crushers withhold their prices. ROSIN—Late rates asked for spot American grades, with only a moderate inquiry experienced. TURPENTINE steady; spot American steadier 128/6 per ton. PETROLEUM oils steady, with 1/4 to 1/5 per gallon quoted for refined American on spot, which is in fair request. NITRATE OF SODA firm, and £21 to £22 per ton asked on spot; buyers still show a fair amount of interest chiefly for export. RICE BRAN slow of sale, with £15 to £16 per ton quoted for arrival on ship terms.

OILCAKES AND FOODSTUFFS.—LONDON, November 7th.—LINSEED CAKES—Offers from crushers are limited, and, with imports in small compass, prices have a hardening tendency; home-made are quoted around £24 ex mill, and the expanding demand shows the eneral scarcity. COTTONCAKES—Supply are fairly ample, though home-makes are somewhat short for the time being, but Egyptian makes are plentiful at £18 10/- in bags ex dock. CERAMEAL sells well for mixing with straight foods and other meals. COCOANUT CAKES are in improved demand with the quotation now at £19 5/- ex dock, with the better qualities slightly higher. RICE BRAN is in limited supply at about £18 ex warehouse, whilst RICE BEAN CAKE offers at £17 ex dock. FEEDING TREACLE has a steady demand at £11 London and £10 10/- per ton Liverpool. SOYA CAKE £24 and RAPE CAKE £18 in bulk.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Saturday.—Market closed firm.

HAY AND STRAW.—LONDON, Saturday.—Supplies were on a fair scale, and encountered a brisk demand at full rates. Hay, clover, and mixtures quoted at about £13 10/-, and straw ranges from 100/- to 120/- as to quality, per ton, delivered.

WOOL.—LEICESTER, Saturday.—Considerable apprehension is caused by the all round advance in wools. The better qualities are fetching prices now which were unthought of a month ago. 5 to 10 p.c. advances have been followed by 10 to 15 p.c., and the result is that spinners are very chary about quoting prices for future deliveries of yarns. Lower grade wools, which have been somewhat neglected, are much more in the market than previously, and, while the English wool market locally is not very active, the small amount sold is moving sympathetically with other qualities, according to the particular demand for it.

LIVERPOOL MEAT IMPORTS.

The small arrivals of fresh meat into Liverpool continue. During the past week only four steamers arrived with meat consignments, three from Montreal and one from Boston. The vessels, with their freights, were as follow:—The Canada, from Montreal, with 70 boxes of veal and 6,411 boxes, bales, etc., of meat; the Betsy Bell, from Boston, with 360 boxes of meat; the Scandinavian, from Montreal, with 1,100 carcases of mutton and 5,670 boxes, etc., of meat; and the Rimouski, from Montreal, with 3,059 boxes, etc., of meat—making a total of 1,100 carcases of mutton, 70 boxes of veal, and 15,500 boxes, etc., of meat. The preceding week's imports amounted to only 2,804 boxes, etc., of meat.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY.

One of the most beneficent of the numerous organisations for dispensing relief to those in distress in Dublin and elsewhere is the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Its members voluntarily undertake the visiting of the poor in their own homes, making no distinction as to creed, the only test being real need. Help is given in money and kind as the case requires, and no one knows what his neighbour in distress receives. Hundreds of families are kept together by the charity of this Society until the crisis is tided over, and the bread-winner is once again in a position to provide for himself and those who are dependent upon him. The demands upon the Society this year are heavier than they were before, and to help their funds a "Flag Day" was organised. On Saturday and yesterday flag-sellers were distributed in the principle thoroughfares of the city. They collected a considerable sum of money, for the object appealed to all, and comparatively few refused to "help Dublin's poor."

PROSPECTUS.

A Prospectus has been filed with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, which states among other things that
No part of the proceeds of this issue is to be applied for Capital purposes outside the United Kingdom, or to replace money which has been so applied.
Application will be made to the Committee of the London Stock Exchange for permission to deal in the Shares of the Company.

THE SUBSCRIPTION LIST Opens to-day (Monday), the 10th November, 1919, and Closes on the Monday following.

PREMIER BRIQUETTE COMPANY, LTD.,

ROYAL FOREST OF DEAN, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

CAPITAL - - - £125,000.

DIVIDED INTO
120,000 Preferred Ordinary Shares of £1 each,
AND
100,000 Ordinary Shares of 1s. each.

Subscriptions are now invited at par for 100,000 Preferred Ordinary Shares, leaving 20,000 in reserve for future issue, if thought fit.

THE SHARES ARE PAYABLE:—
1/- per Share on Application. 4/- per Share on Allotment.
5/- per Share thirty days after Allotment, and the balance in Calls not exceeding 5/- per Share at intervals of not less than three months.
THE WHOLE OF THIS ISSUE HAS BEEN UNDERWRITTEN.

The Preferred Ordinary Shares are entitled to a Cumulative preferential dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum on the amount called and paid up thereon and to one-half of the remaining profits available for dividend. They are also preferential as regards Capital. The other half of the profits will belong to the holders of the Ordinary Shares. In a winding-up the surplus assets, after payment of Capital, are equally divisible between the two classes of Shares.

Mr. D. Baird Macdonald, F.C.S., Research and Technical Chemist, Leicester, states that on present selling prices, after paying all charges, a clear profit of 10s. per ton of Briquettes can be safely calculated upon, and he regards 7s. 6d. per ton as an "ultra conservative" estimate of profits. Messrs. Yeadon, Son and Co., Colliery Engineers and Contractors, Leeds, who are one of the oldest established and largest manufacturers of Briquette-making machinery in the United Kingdom, agree that 7s. 6d. can be safely regarded as the minimum net profit per ton. A profit of 7s. 6d. per ton would be sufficient wherewith to pay, in addition to the cumulative preferential dividend of 7½ per cent. per annum on the Preferred Ordinary Shares now offered for subscription, a further dividend of 7½ per cent. thereon (making in all 15 per cent.), and leave a balance over, after providing for the Ordinary Shares, of £15,000.

A strictly pro rata allotment will be made to every applicant for Shares.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

The Company is formed to acquire the Crown leases of certain partly worked and partly virgin coal lands in the Royal Forest of Dean, Gloucestershire, together forming a compact area of about 623 acres, containing, in addition to a first-rate quality coal, vast quantities of a highly bituminous, but hitherto waste colliery substance, known locally as "smut"; to exploit these materials; and to erect a factory, upon a well-chosen site, for the purpose of manufacturing from the coal and "smut" high-grade quality Briquettes.

The properties and the works site are exceedingly well situated as regards road, rail, and ocean transport—as is shown on the plan of the properties accompanying the Prospectus—and also as regards water and labour. An old level, which will be reopened and extended above drainage level, and which will then tap all the properties, leads out on to a main road bordering on the works site, which abuts on the Great Western Railway system. By means of this railway the works will be in direct communication with the important shipping port of Newport, Mon. As regards water, a brook runs within 100 yards of the site, and the mains of the Cinderford Water Supply are adjacent. The mining village of Ruardean, whence ample labour can be obtained, is in the immediate neighbourhood of the properties.

All mining and other titles in the Forest of Dean are derived direct from the Crown, and are subject to a nominal dead rent, merging into a royalty. In the case of the properties to be acquired by the Company, the dead rent is £140 per annum, and the royalty, in which the dead rent merges, is 3d. per ton of mineral raised, except in the case of one of the properties, in which it is 4d. per ton.

In the manufacture of Briquettes of varying grades, coal is scientifically utilised, and all waste avoided; and as elimination of waste is equivalent to increased production, their manufacture on a large scale would be a material contribution to the solution of the coal-shortage problem. Briquettes possess many advantages over other fuel, including coal, owing to the fact that in the process of manufacture all the valuable properties of the coal become sealed, conserved and protected from deterioration and disintegration for an indefinite period. Their composition may be so regulated, by blending the coal varieties, as to suit any type of boiler. They burn better and more evenly than coal, and owing to their regularity in size and shape occupy considerably less space in storing. The industry has reached enormous proportions on the Continent, whereas in England it is in its infancy.

"Smut" is a soft, laminated, bituminous material allied to coal, and probably represents the now scarce variety of other coal measures known as "cannel." It is not only peculiar to the Forest of Dean, but, so far as is known to those intimately acquainted with the Forest of Dean coal measures, only exists in any large quantity under the particular area to be acquired by the Company. It intrudes between the top coal and the true coal, and varies in thickness from two to three inches to five to six feet. It has been regarded hitherto as worthless, and consequently has been left in the mines as a "gob," or filling. As the result of recent scientific investigation, set on foot by the Vendor to the Company, its potential value has only now been ascertained.

In a report to the Company, dated October 17th, 1919, Messrs. Yeadon, Son and Co., state, inter alia, as follows, viz.:—

"With reference to the samples of your materials which you forwarded to us for testing purposes, we beg to inform you that we have now carried out these tests, and we are sending you per passenger train to-day samples of Briquettes made up in our own Briquette plant from the coal and 'smut' taken from your 'True Blue' property and sent to us by Mr. Cooper on your behalf.

"Mr. Cooper states that the material forwarded is not really a good representative sample, inasmuch as it has been exposed to the deleterious effects of the atmosphere for many months. This means, of course, that the calorific value of the Briquettes made from your samples is not so high as that which would be obtained from Briquettes when made from materials that have been freshly mined. Notwithstanding this disadvantage, the results we have obtained, as ascertained for us by Mr. W. McD. Mackey, F.I.C., Consulting Analyst, Victoria Chambers, Leeds, are, in our opinion, excellent, and they are as follows:—

Coal	75%	50%
'Smut'	25%	50%
	100%	100%
Ash	10.58%	11.71%
Sulphur	3.36%	3.79%
Volatile Matter other than Water	37.52%	37.12%
Water	5.13%	6.71%
Fixed Carbon	43.41%	40.67%
	100.00%	100.00%
Lbs. of water evaporated from 212 degrees Fahr. by 1lb. of the fuel	14.30	13.13
Equals British Thermal Units	13,830	12,690

"Sample No. 1 compares favourably with the best class of Briquette manufactured for export, marine, and locomotive purposes, and Sample No. 2 is quite equal to many grades of Briquettes sold for steam-raising, general industrial, and domestic purposes. As an indication of the value of this fuel we may say that at the present time the prices of patent fuel range from 45s. 6d. per ton up to 80s. per ton f.o.b. English port. It may be taken, moreover, as a general rule that the selling prices for Briquettes when made from satisfactory materials are higher than those obtained for the best large coal from the same seam from which they are produced.

"As a conservative estimate, therefore, we calculate that you should be able to obtain, without difficulty, for Briquettes made in the same proportion as No. 1 sample, at least 45s. 6d. per ton f.o.b. English port. When it is taken into account, moreover, that the Briquettes we have made from your materials were produced from stuff that had been long exposed to all unfavourable climatic conditions, we consider the results particularly good, and the calorific values of the fuel are high. You may take it for granted that both the calorific and evaporative power of Briquettes made from your coal and 'smut' when freshly mined and scientifically treated by washing and drying before being briquetted will be considerably better still. Our experiments with your materials have demonstrated to our satisfaction that by proper treatment in a suitably designed and well-laid-out installation, they can be converted into high-grade quality Briquettes which will be suitable for marine, locomotive, general industrial, and domestic requirements."

The Company will immediately proceed to develop the properties by reopening and extending an old level, as recommended by Mr. Charlie Cooper—one of the best-known Mine Managers in the Forest of Dean—in his report hereinafter referred to, and simultaneously, will erect on the chosen site a thoroughly up-to-date Briquette factory, designed and to be supplied by Messrs. Yeadon, Son, and Co.

The mining of the coal and "smut" presents no difficulties. The whole area can be worked and drained by levels, and the quantities, hereafter mentioned, won without pumping or shaft-sinking, lying as they do above the drainage level.

The properties have been examined and reported upon for quantities by Mr. Cooper and Mr. Macdonald. Mr. Cooper's estimate of tonnage of coal, "smut" and small, and top coal is 2,907,500 tons, and Mr. Macdonald's 3,586,070 tons.

In this connection Mr. Cooper states: "I have considerably under-estimated all the properties. I am positive there is more mineral in the properties than I have stated in this report"; and Mr. Macdonald states: "I am well satisfied that my estimate is still moderate."

On the basis of the output capacity of the plant to be erected, and taking the mean between these two estimates, the properties would last for about thirty years, apart from the other sources of supply of small coal referred to both by Mr. Macdonald and Messrs. Yeadon, Son and Co., which would considerably extend the life of the plant.

Messrs. Yeadon, Son and Co., of which firm the above-mentioned Mr. A. E. N. Yeadon is a member, estimate that the complete installation, including buildings, foundations, power, transmission, and all necessary machinery for the whole of the Briquette-making, coal-washing and screening plant, delivered and erected in full working order on the selected site, will cost (say) £39,500, and they are prepared (subject to the present usual clause as to rate of wages and materials) to undertake the work at that price. This plant, worked in two shifts of eight hours each, would, they state, be easily capable of producing 130,000 tons of Briquettes per annum, after making due allowance for ordinary stoppages, holidays, etc.

Mr. Macdonald estimates that the total cost to the Company of the best-class Briquette will not exceed 19s. 6d. per ton, and states, "Inasmuch as you can also purchase the small from other collieries at a low price, a good serviceable Briquette for domestic purposes should be made at a cost considerably lower even that that."

Mr. Macdonald's report concludes as follows, viz.:—

"You will observe that there is a very wide margin of profit between the estimated cost of manufacture and the present selling price. You can, therefore, safely calculate upon a profit of 10s. per ton on the whole output of a plant with a capacity of, say, 110,000 tons Briquettes per annum. This would show a clear profit, after paying all charges, of £55,000 per annum. An ultra conservative estimate of profit per ton of Briquettes, on rail at works, would be 7s. 6d., which on (say) only 100,000 tons equals £37,500 per annum."

On the basis of the last-mentioned calculation the profits would be sufficient wherewith to pay, in addition to the cumulative preferential dividend of 7½ per cent. per annum on the Preferred Ordinary Shares now offered for subscription, a further dividend of 7½ per cent. thereon (making in all 15 per cent.) and leave a balance over, after providing for the Ordinary Shares, of £15,000.

The price payable to the Vendor is £15,560, to be satisfied by the allotment of 100,000 Ordinary Shares of 1s. each, credited as fully paid, and the payment of £10,560 in cash. The benefit of the "short workings," estimated to amount to £1,200, is excluded from the sale. Out of a total area of 626 acres (including the works site of approximately 3 acres) the Vendor to the Company has completed the purchase of 327 acres, including the works site. He has also entered into agreements for the purchase of the remaining 299 acres at the price of £6,200 in cash, of which £1,760 has been paid by him on account, leaving a balance of £4,440 payable by the Company.

The said balance of £4,440 will be payable as follows:—£3,500 will be payable to B. H. Taylor in respect of the balance of the purchase price of £5,000 under Contract No. 2; £140 will be payable to G. H. Jones in respect of the balance of the purchase price of £200 under Contract No. 3; and the sum of £800 will be payable to Emma Latham and Marguerite Annie Latham in respect of the balance of the purchase price of £1,000 under the undermentioned Contract No. 4.

After providing for the cost of the erection of the works and buildings and of the plant, the payment of the purchase price and the promotion expenses, the proceeds of this issue will leave for working capital the sum of over £30,000. There are, in addition, 20,000 Preferred Ordinary Shares of £1 each available for future issue if thought fit. These Shares are not subject to any option agreement.

The minimum subscription upon which the Directors may proceed to allotment is seven Shares, but as the present issue has been underwritten, the Directors will proceed to allotment immediately on the closing of the subscription list.

The preliminary expenses up to and including the first allotment of Shares, excluding underwriting and brokerage, are estimated at £7,500, and such sum is payable by the Company.

A brokerage of 6d. per Share will be paid by the Company on Shares applied for and allotted upon applications (other than applications made by or on behalf of underwriters or sub-underwriters bearing brokers' or bankers' stamps.

The reports of Mr. D. Baird Macdonald, Mr. Charlie Cooper, and Messrs. Yeadon, Son and Co., referred to, together with a print of the Memorandum and Articles of Association, and copies of the contracts, may be inspected at the Offices of the Company.

Prospectuses and Forms of Application may be obtained from the Bankers, Brokers, Solicitors, and at the Offices of the Company.

On the terms of which above applications will be received.
